Thread: My first theme.

Svarteman - August 11, 2011, 4:31 am

Okay, I've just finished my first theme using Aeonhack's themebase.

To add it; Right click the project and import an Existing Item and select the .vb file. Build/Rebuild the application.

Is there any code I can optimize or so?

It's look really bad IMO, you should really change the colors.

Okay, I have now made it into black and gray. How does it look now?

Deceptive - August 11, 2011, 5:56 am

No it's look event worse, the lines are way to thick.

RiperFish - August 11, 2011, 6:04 am

You need to change everything , like the color of the corners, and the dark themes are a lot.

Doctor07 - August 11, 2011, 6:16 am

That is very ugly dude, you should change the colors and add something else as it looks to blank/plain.

?eumonic - August 11, 2011, 6:26 am

It isn't bad for your first theme. The only thing I can complain about is the fact that the user must write their own code to change the checkbox checkedState. I suggest you fix that. You can figure out how in my Thief3 theme. Link in my signature.

No, actually there is a "Checked" boolean under the Appearance category.

There aren't any corners on the theme? The theme is rounded.

Always! Nobody starts at the top, but given time, will create something amazing. I see a great potential in him and look forward to seeing more.

@OP: I see huge potential in you. Keep up the hard work and release something awesome later on.

I don't really like it tbh. I can't read the text in the window, nor in the button. You should change the colours. But it's fine for a first try.

The text in the theme is customizable and the button is 100% customizable (mouseNoneColor,mouseOverColor, mouseDownColor, Gradient Angle, Text, text color and so on...)

Okay, my theme is red now. This is the last time I'm changing my color theme.
