

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Club-Hack | A Club for Enthusiasts

ANDO - August 14, 2011, 1:09 pm

[img]http://club-hack.com/images/Webvolution/logo.png[/img]

[img]http://img41.imageshack.us/img41/772/seperator0.png[/img]

Tell me what do you think of layout,structure etc...

I better not post stuff about the community,I am not trying to advertise just tell me your opinion!

Click Here to visit Club-Hack!

[img]http://img41.imageshack.us/img41/772/seperator0.png[/img]

- Need Partner/Staff!

Spectrus - August 14, 2011, 1:26 pm

To be very honest, the theme looks like it's either default or very, very old.

For a "hacker" forum, your sections are rather broad. It loads the "General" tab first. You have more sections in General than in Hacking. What connection is there between a "Bedroom section" and a "Sock/Proxy" section? It's a good start but needs work.

trentgeiss - August 14, 2011, 1:29 pm

i agree with spectrus, it looks dull and old. youve gotta put some "Bling" on there. goodluck making the site

ANDO - August 14, 2011, 1:31 pm

A community that has "Hack" in it's name does not entirely mean , It's hacking based.
It's a educational ,informational & entertaining forum.

In my experience ,Making new forums should have small sections ,too many sections,low members is a very bad idea.

Ofcourse once people post,more sections will be added. Thats what people tend to make mistakes at.

(Aug 14, 2011 01:29 PM)trentgeiss Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i agree with spectrus, it looks dull and old. youve gotta put some "Bling" on there. goodluck making the site

I agree but ,I tend to like simple designs, nothing blackhat and dark!

Don't be judging a forum when it's new ,Ofcourse it needs work...why you think I am looking for help?

But ofcourse that's why I posted this to hear your opinions so THANK YOU!

Spectrus - August 14, 2011, 1:43 pm

(Aug 14, 2011 01:31 PM)ANDO Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A community that has "Hack" in it's name does not entirely mean , It's hacking based.

It's a educational ,informational & entertaining forum.

Sure, if you want to have a misleading name and slogan ("A club for enthusiasts"). HackForums is hacking based, however they have expanded with other sections to allow users to discuss other things. The majority of their sections are related to hacking and it's sub-sections.

(Aug 14, 2011 01:31 PM)ANDO Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) In my experience ,Making new forums should have small sections ,too many sections,low members is a very bad idea.

I don't disagree, however when you have more sections in General than Hacking, and your forum is called Club-Hack, you should reconsider your subject matter and intended audience.

(Aug 14, 2011 01:31 PM)ANDO Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree but ,I tend to like simple designs, nothing blackhat and dark!

It doesn't have to be dark, but at least make it look good.

(Aug 14, 2011 01:31 PM)ANDO Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Don't be judging a forum when it's new ,Ofcourse it needs work...why you think I am looking for help?

Don't tell us not to judge it when the purpose of this thread is exactly that. It's misleading.

ANDO - August 14, 2011, 1:46 pm

I understand,but I added the basic categories in each section ,Ofcourse each section may have less/more than another section for example General has more than hacking, But over time I will be adding more to hacking! ,It's only the start....

I picked Club-Hack because Hack can also mean educational forum which I will be adding. I added the basic sections.

XxDarkXx - August 14, 2011, 1:50 pm

I think this site will grow to be wonderful :)

just wanna to see new themes for it.

Zokrin - August 14, 2011, 3:43 pm

Great forum. Will join up soon and post some threads.

ANDO - August 14, 2011, 4:08 pm

Thank's guys.

Will be working on extra features shortly.

Number 1 - August 15, 2011, 3:54 am

Nice forum man.

I like design & the unique sections!

Good luck.

ANDO - August 15, 2011, 8:34 am

Thanks SkullRider123.

Removed the General discussion section for now!

ANDO - August 18, 2011, 8:52 am

Added the upgrade pages and myawards.

What do you all think?