Thread: [This Monetizing Section is BullShit \[READ\]](#)

NeoX12-hacked - August 15, 2011, 9:45 am

Guys day by day, this Monetizing section is going down the drain. People post methods and then, others copy/paste and make other threads.

I know there's been previous threads on topics like mine.

But tell me smth, if 50 people try the same method of money making using 1 technique, 15 of them might actually succeed.

HOWEVER, if there's 500+ members going for 50 different money making methods, using the same technique, NONE of those motherfuckers will succeed. WHY?

Because ruthless motherfucker thread-creators are making the method saturated!!

I agree, some methods cant be saturated e.g Freelancing, Affiliate marketing[?] etc

But ALL of us try doing the same shit over and over again along with several others, NONE of us will be able to anything..

True Story

/thread ?

Yeah, that's true !! I guess you are having a very hard time making money using a saturated niche right? :D

Thats where creativity kicks in.

I make around $500 a month on ?hareCash with only ten minutes of work every week. And that method is all mine and no one else is using it.

Just think of your own shit and you will succeed.

From what I see around here, everybody wants quick and easy cash, nobody wants to work for it. Everybody just expects there to be easy methods that will 100% make them money. If it were that easy, EVERYONE would be doing it.. everyone.

That's why most of the ebooks here are bullshit and not worth the money. If you seriously have a method that makes you that much bank, why would you share that method with anybody? If you did share it, the first thing you should do would be to use the hell out of it and make as much money as you can. Nobody sells themselves that short just to make $20-50 per sale, it's just stupid.

The monetizing section isn't bullshit, you can make some money with things here, but it takes a lot of time and effort.

Those are not "methods". Those are monetizing categories. They are like a tree with many branches of methods. Indeed some methods can not be saturated, but most of the methods spread on this forum anyway are black hat/fraud committing/money stealing methods that should be saturated and fixed anyway.

So I say, let them spread the knowledge. Education should be free.
