Hammerfall (formerly known as Thief5) is a custom VB.net theme coded using GDI, meaning the GUI seen above is created using only code. At the moment, Hammerfall is the only theme available to offer this much customization. All buttons have the options for icons (never before heard of for sale), as does the theme form. Custom text-boxes, and tab-controls, are both included with full purchase, and are both never seen before in a custom theme. Every aspect of the theme is customizable, save for the shape. Every color, font, and image is changeable and exchangeable to give the end-user the best experience possible.

Next theme is actually coming soon! Assuming I get enough sales here, I will probably release it in the same fashion. I just hope this one gets enough sales.

I suppose that later on, I can start accepting AlertPay. It is just that right now, everything is set up for PayPal. My next release, Fission, is going to be purchasable via AlertPay and PayPal.

Hopefully it goes well.
