iCookiehost - September 1, 2011, 10:33 am

You say you can get 1000 Velocity but imo that just goes to show how fast this hack is. Would there be an option to possibly slow it down so you won't get caught out?

It isn't an instant velocity, you actually have to work up to it. I believe he has a video of it.

Would like to add in, that throw in a few manual jumps yourself, change it around some. Most people, when they spectate you and don't hear your jumps for awhile because they're so perfect, ban you if they can, or start screaming SCRIPTERZ OGMOMG SCRIPTZ. If you toss in some manual jumps at a logical rate, and actually use this in moderation.. you won't get caught out.

You can't cheat your way out of stupid.

Vouching for my man mike. Bought it today and I am loving it. Can easily get up to 1000+ velocity with bhop enabled, and 300 - 400 with bhop off.

Easy to use/install/inject and VAC Undetected (Which it will stay for quite some time)

PS: Sent Mike some demo's of me just bhoping around so he can make a video if he wants to.

Also don't really know if it is true but I feel that this bhop works up speed faster then the other ones out there. (Enhanced Aim's bhop etc)

flik4500 - September 23, 2011, 5:20 pm

Vouch for Spafic, His program works extremely efficiently and enables users to reach very high velocity. I was very impressed the way the program worked and how easily it was to setup. It's as simple as drag and drop. If you want a Vac UD bunny hop that is by far the fastest script/hack every created this is the program for you. Spafic is a very nice guy who has great support to his customers. I recommend this program to everybody who plays a Orange Box game.

I'm amazed ! Bravo Spafic!

Yes, it works for CS:S.

It does the jumping for you.

I have no way of controlling the way you gain momentum.

Yes, it does. You won't be able to get as much momentum as in the video, but you will still have an advantage.

Doing any simple strafing method (Mouse + A and D keys) will gain momentum when using this. You can fail at strafing and still gain a minimum amount of momentum.

Okay so I did buy this bhop tool and I do want to say, yes this tool is really great, but if you compare it to mine I am only on version 1 as were he has been working on his longer and released more versions. With that said I do want to say, his bhop tool compared to mine both do the general idea and that is to make it so you can hold space and bhop, and they do both do that, but his for being more worked on and out longer does a bit of a better job, and this is a honest review of what I think. I also want to say that he does provide great support and yes his tool is great as well as mine is to. But, he does also charge a little more, but for that bit more you're getting a tool thats been around for a while. So Spafic good luck with sales bro, and thats all I got to say.

I doubt its any different its not spamming space bar like you said and its checking if your onground then will jump.

I'll put it simply... Sendkeys is horrible... And reading an in-engine variable is far slower than this... :)

Its jumping up and down lol its the exact same as your bhop Imfao there is no speed difference its going up and down not that difficult if I where to compare it it would be exactly the same as yours.

So far, you've provided no valid arguments. Well, have fun with your shit code. <3

Hell, why not just do this?

Code keybd_event(VK_SPACE, 0x39, 0, 0);

Sleep(60);

keybd_event(VK_SPACE, 0x39, KEYEVENTF_KEYUP, 0);Or why not this:

Code PostMessageA(hl2wnd, WM_KEYDOWN, 0, lparam);

PostMessageA(hl2wnd, WM_CHAR, 0, lparam);

Sleep(10);

PostMessageA(hl2wnd, WM_KEYUP, 0, lparam);

If you're going to even try to challenge me, at least know this:

The following snippet is better than you're shit code. Why? It doesn't have to be processed by the engine like your damn send does.

Code engine->ClientCmd( "+jump\n" );

Sleep(10);

engine->ClientCmd( "-jump\n" );

There's plenty of alternatives, but all rely on the engine to detect if you're on the ground, thus, causing it to be slower timing than mine.

Again, please provide valid arguments if you're going to try to put this down.

And you provided no proof on how that's my source.

See the problem?

And you failed to see the point behind me posting all of those different methods... Good job.

And it's not only OBhop that's bein affected by this, all other source engine products are affected in one way or another.

I'll try to get my laptop working again so I can fix everything.

Sales for OBhop are TEMPORARILY closed. Reason being, the source engine update, and all addresses are different than the stored ones. Please be patient while waiting for this update. I have to fix my laptop (Which has the project on it) in order to update this. If you are already a customer of OBhop, again, be patient. Everything will be fixed in time.

KEIS - November 21, 2012, 10:47 am

So I've been using this since release, and I must say it's good.

A little more convenient to use than most other bhop cheats. This one doesn't require you to login, it 'magically' knows who you are and if you should be using the cheat or not.

My only two gripes with it so far:
-No water detection
-Timing is poor on maps that change your gravity (ie. bhop_drop or space level of bhop_monsterjam)

I've talked to you on steam about the water detection, which you said is pointless since you can use a seperate button for that, but that's pretty inconvenient for the user and in some maps that require 'water bopping' there simply isn't enough time to switch bhop keys (bhop_badges_ausbhop)

As for the gravity issue, I've used another script that can be found on this forum which I bet you'd be able to guess which one it is that has no issues with gravity changes.

Overall, this is a fully functional bhop cheat as of right now. Has some missing features that would really help the user out. I'm sure that this is coded much better than the average copy paste bhop cheat, but as far as I can tell, the user will not notice the difference, and is currently paying for it when playing a complex map with water or gravity switches.

Bunny hopping on a map that changes gravity dynamically cannot be fixed. That's an issue with the map/server itself and nothing can really be done about it besides spamming the hell out of space (Which I won't do) due to how this works.

Right now, I don't see a point in having in water detection. I might come up with a different way, but as for right now, it's not going to be added.

Like I've always said, I'll think about it.

And if I do decide to implement it, don't expect it to be 100% functional right away. You have to remember this is completely different than any other cheat (In regards to how it's jumping/detecting if you're on ground).

Thank you for your feedback though.

Decided to go with the water detection. I'll add it soon. No ETA.

Awesome tool here, since I bought it (yesterday) couldn't stop playing in bhop servers, achieving huge amount of velocity in short period of time, and somehow the bhop feels a little bit different than the others.. I also noticed that it does not slip in hills :).. don't forget the cheap price and the other features... 10/10!

Jump Delay Tuning

Improved security

You can only bhop as much as the game itself lets you.

There are bhop servers in TF2, and bhopping does make a difference.

As a personal reference, about a year ago when I actually played TF2, I played scout very often and used a bhop program I made (Similar, but not as good as QuikHop), and bhopping actually did make a difference. Not a great difference, just a minor difference in the maximum velocity I was able to reach.

At the moment, I can't provide any proof of anything working. All videos are made by customers, not myself. I can ask someone to make a video of it working TF2, but can't guarantee that it will be what you expect.

Sorry for any misunderstandings.

ESEA and SMAC work completely different.

ESEA would detect the cheat itself. SMAC would detect what it does.

There's a simple bypass for SMAC, but I haven't pushed it out in an update yet.

Learn to strafe properly. You are getting perfectly timed jumps. If you hear a double jump sound, it's due to the map having an oddity in it (Occasionally happens, especially if you're on a bhop server).

Also, as a defense against you saying it's not faster:

Having no knowledge of the game or hacking the game, I assume Krolek is a free software, or has been cracked and released publicly.

Also, the velocity of this 'hopper' is only roughly 15% more effective than Krolek. I would definitely not pay $10 for a total of 15% more velocity.
