Thread: [\[TUT\]How to get passwords from google chrome.\[TUT\] Noob friendly.](#)

BreezyP - September 8, 2011, 5:38 am

Ok i'm not sure if this has been posted or not, it probably has. Still this is for the people who don't know. Lets say you think/know your girlfriend is cheating on you but you need proof. Well first go hangout with her at her house or where ever she uses the computer. When she's distracted with something else here's what you do. First click the wrench at the top of the page. (Pictures are in spoilers.)

Don't listen to BS it might be basic but it's pretty useful.You don't have to make HQ tuts here to become a real hacker.

I would think that, if your gf was dumb enough to cheat on you, she wouldn't be smart enough to use Chrome lol!!

Thanks for the tut :^)

Chrome is actually very common now for most people now. In my opinion it is the best browser.

it's even easier using firefox ,
just go to Tools/options/security/saved passwords and thx for the tut , keep up man ;)
