Thread: Sending multiple song requests via text to a radio station

Big Kaz - September 8, 2011, 5:47 pm

Was wondering if anybody had any Ideas on this. There is this song I want to hear really bad on the radio (obviously I could use grooveshark) but I also want to see if it can be done :). I know there are users on here who are far more experienced than me with ideas like this. Is there Any way you all could think of I could get my computer to send hundreds of text messages to this station without them knowing its coming from the same place?

Sending 100's would be ridiculous that would just tirgger some protection of sorts. There are some online services to send text messages I can't remember any now I'll return if I come across them again.
