Thread: Graphic Requests and Graphic Services in Marketplace?

P?radox - September 8, 2011, 6:19 pm

Considering many threads in the graphic request section are for a trade (a graphic for money) shouldn't it be in the marketplace?

The graphic request guideline thread by panDa. even implies that people usually pay for the requests.

Also the Graphic Services section (though many of the services are free) seems like a marketplace section.

It could be a subsection in service offerings.

I don't see any reason why not.

Nope this is a bad idea, can't just the members who are selling look trough the Graphic Services? They aren't that lazy you know.

This suggestion would work well with:

I don't think your will happen though because we have a graphics tab and in the description of GFX services it says "Offer free or paid graphic services to members here." So, it stays.

I do agree, HOWEVER the new marketplace restrictions should apply to it.
