RBH - October 25, 2009, 7:10 am

could you tell me what Microsoft's BizSpark Program is?

PyroFR - October 25, 2009, 7:14 am

Background Information Wrote:Microsoft BizSpark is a program which allows small companies to access free software from Microsoft to "launch" their company if you will.

It is a program that is entirely free upon entry. You only need to pay a 100$ expiration fee after 3 years of first subscription. Renewed subscription for each following year is 100$ annually, and if you want premium subscriptions for advanced programs, it will cost around 5,047$ a year for the basic Premium Plan.

The Basic Plan gives you access to all of Microsoft's Public Software, with serial/keys for each program. You may claim up to a limit of 10 for each program, depending on the program in question.

RBH - October 25, 2009, 7:17 am

Ok thanks!

Maybe a money loophole! lets try it out

PyroFR - October 25, 2009, 7:44 am

I sold 2 this morning, one Ultimate, one home premium. Ultimate went for 50$, Home premium for 39$

O_O

I'm kinda scared. lol.

RBH - October 25, 2009, 7:45 am

you are accepted for the program?

iCrackz - October 25, 2009, 7:47 am

Microsoft are starting to ban fraudulent accounts now though, if your BizSpark gets banned all the MSDN accounts and keys will be banned too.

RBH - October 25, 2009, 7:53 am ow that is shit :(

i has recently asked for a account hope i get accepted

SlaYoRz - October 25, 2009, 7:58 am

Would you have to give everyone their money back on ebay if their key gets banned?

Yeah but think about it, the executives pay themselves millions of bonuses a year, and they overprice their OS WAY too much.

We, the taxpayers, should be able to do something about it.

Lulz.

I like how you put that lol. But I bet all of the keys get banned if your account gets banned, so I doubt this would work.

PyroFR - October 25, 2009, 1:40 pm

How would they know though? How would they know if you put legitimate details?

I'm getting half scared, half excited. Paypal balance went from 0.00 to 215.00~ in a single day from selling outside of ebay alone.

SlaYoRz - October 25, 2009, 1:41 pm

Ok, heres something interesting. Im in the UK

And I put a legit windows 7 ultimate key on ebay, and MICROSHITE contacted ebay and told us all off and removed the listings

Spoiler (Click to View)Quote:Dear xxxxxx,

Thank you for your recent listing on eBay. Unfortunately, your item(s) breached one or more of our policies and had to be removed from the site. Any associated fees have been credited to your account and any bidders on this item have been notified.

180425002571 - Windows 7 Ultimate Key Genuine and brand New because Microsoft Ltd (UK) reported it to us for violating their intellectual property rights. When eBay is notified by a rights owner of an intellectual property rights infringement, eBay must remove the item in order to meet certain legal requirements.

Why did we remove your listing?

You may not list unauthorised copies of media on our site because selling them is both illegal and against eBay policy. Unauthorised copies include (but are not limited to) backup, pirated, duplicated, or bootlegged copies of software, video games, music, films, television programs, photographs and books, both published and unpublished.

Copyright owners possess the exclusive right to reproduce their copyrighted work, to distribute copies of their copyrighted work, and to perform or display their copyrighted work publicly.

Guideline: If the product you are selling is a copy of another work that you aren't authorised to copy, don't list the item. You may not list software on eBay that is in breach of the manufacturer's copyright license. Some common types of software with license agreement restrictions include:

- Academic software

Software sold at discounted prices to students, faculty members, and educational institutions.

- Beta software

Early copies of software that are distributed by software developers for evaluation and troubleshooting purposes.

- Original Equipment Manufacturer (OEM) software

Software that is included with the purchase of new equipment.

You may need to obtain the manufacturer's consent to sell this software.

For more information copy this link into a new browser window:

You may need to take a tutorial. The next time you sell, you may be asked to take the tutorial, if it's required. Once you've completed the tutorial successfully, please review your account status for any other possible concerns. If there are no other issues, you should be able to sell again.

Questions about the specific violation should be addressed to Microsoft Ltd (UK)

Although there may be similar items currently listed on eBay, please be assured that your listings have not been targeted in any way. We review all listings that are reported to us by eBay members and participants in the VeRO (Verified Rights Owner) Programme, and we rely on these reports to help keep eBay a safe and reputable place to buy and sell.

We appreciate your membership of our community, so please keep in mind that repeatedly listing items that breach our policies may lead to the suspension of your account.

Here's what to do if you have further questions:

1) To find out more about our intellectual property policies and VeRO take eBay's brief tutorial by copying this link into a new browser window:

<http://pages.ebay.ie/help/tutorial/verotutorial/intro.html>

2) You may also find it useful to read the "Why eBay May Remove Your Listing" Help page by copying this link into a new browser window:

<http://pages.ebay.ie/help/confidence/listing-ended.html>

3) If your item was ended by the VeRO programme, and you think the listing was removed in error have a look at the rights owner's About Me page to review their infringement policies. Then, if you still think that your listing was removed in error, please contact the rights owner and let them know.

The rights owner has created an About Me page that contains information to help you understand why removal of your listing was requested. For more information about the rights owner, please go to:

Chris

I to, am wondering if this "gray-area" as you people would call it is between "legal-illegal". I've readied the ToS on the official Mic Bizspark website; and they clearly state the following:

WITHOUT LIMITING THE FOREGOING, COPYING OR REPRODUCTION OF THE SOFTWARE TO ANY

OTHER SERVER OR LOCATION FOR FURTHER REPRODUCTION OR REDISTRIBUTION IS EXPRESSLY PROHIBITED, UNLESS SUCH

REPRODUCTION OR REDISTRIBUTION IS EXPRESSLY PERMITTED BY THE LICENSE AGREEMENT ACCOMPANYING SUCH SOFTWARE.

I don't think they will agree that you put their own product for allot less money on an auction website.

Which means, you just cant put it on E bay without facing the consequences some day.

To sad I'm so curious that I surely wish to try this out for once.

So I thank you PyroFR for making this tutorial!

Oh SHIT guys, if you've sold licences I hope your hoping on paying the fee afterwards.

After three years the keys expire, and if you want them to keep on functioning you have to start paying a bill, kinda glad mine wern't sold now...

Chris? what? LOL

let the people suck ballz, after three years they are not gonna remember where they bought their Win 7 Key. Also if false info was used you shouldn't give shit about it.

Keys don't expire - but you have to pay a flat fee of 100$ to exit UNLESS Microsoft kicks you out, then you don't pay squat.

I am going to try this now , i will post back to let you all know how it goes.

EDIT : I just have applied using no website and get approved by microsoft, hope it works xD

SlaYoRz - November 1, 2009, 1:02 pm

Someone wants to buy 5 Windows 7 Ultimate keys from me. I told him I would sell 5 to him for 110$. Does that sound reasonable to any of you?

BI?ckHat - November 1, 2009, 2:18 pm

sounds a bit underpriced, if you take a second look at ebay the prices for win 7 key can reach up to 80$, so 5 keys would go for minimum of 250$ with no problems, if you want to give him a discount give him for 175$ and he should feel lucky

Opaque - November 2, 2009, 11:58 am

LOL $110 is a bit low, but then I bought 5 off someone for $30....
Chris

SlaYoRz - November 2, 2009, 12:02 pm

Ehh I am not to greedy and 110 is a lot to me so I think I am going to sell them to him for 100 just cause I'm a nice person lol :)

Opaque - November 2, 2009, 12:04 pm

If 100 is a lot to you, methinks that perhaps you are 12yo on pc?
LOL
Chris

PyroFR - November 2, 2009, 12:20 pm

I underpriced mine because I wanted to get rid of them fast. :P

SlaYoRz - November 2, 2009, 12:22 pm

Close, I'm 15, bout to turn 16 next month. I just am not looking to make tons of cash. Just enough to buy a few things I want.

Why did you want to get rid of them so fast pyro?

PyroFR - November 2, 2009, 12:24 pm

Before the market got flooded and everyone started using this method?

I'm using that new Etsy method which is fairly nice.

SlaYoRz - November 2, 2009, 12:41 pm

Can you post the Etsy method or pm it to me please? I don't think the person that was going to buy my keys is going to anymore :/...

Ch4rL13 - November 2, 2009, 4:24 pm

Finally got an email back from them and I just had to confirm I am me and a real person and I should recieve a confirmation email soon :)

jasonf - November 2, 2009, 8:45 pm

What the heck is Etsy?

jasonf - November 2, 2009, 10:18 pm

Ok so I just got accepted and made like 30 keys. I posted on eBay and craigslist and within 10 minutes they get taken down. This is ridiculous. My eBay acct got suspended.

How am I supposed to sell these little bastards?

z†cq? - November 3, 2009, 2:02 am fck, i got declined, i got declined by my country's microsoft department, next time i'm going to use proxy, someone's business and no website

i jus put i have no site and applied to one of the affialites the OP posted about i think it started with a Mooblo or someshit.. i got accepted last night XD.!i posted my ebay ad but i havent recieved any offers yet.

SPZ - November 3, 2009, 11:46 am

Sunday I just signed up with fake info and I put at website "We are still working on to get a website" and today they did accepted it! :-D

I'm kinda confused wich keys and from wich software I should get?

Like, for Windows 7 there's like 4 different Windows 7 items, can I just claim the keys on every of them or not?

AfterDeath - November 3, 2009, 12:22 pm

lol, i doubt this will keep on working... these things get patched by the big compaignies liek microsoft...

SlaYoRz - November 3, 2009, 12:27 pm

That's why you want to abuse this as much as possible until it gets patched =p.

honda - November 3, 2009, 12:44 pm

evilalex - November 3, 2009, 1:05 pm

http://cgi.ebay.com/ws/eBayISAPI.dll?ViewItem&item=250523513455&_trkparms=tab%3DSelling

that's mine

but hey, if I can make $20 from free shit, why not

SlaYoRz - November 3, 2009, 1:21 pm

Right now I have 2 people who want to purchase keys. One person wants 5 and another wants 6.

PyroFR - November 3, 2009, 3:51 pm

GG? Lol, when I did it, there was like 1 or two listings, now there are entire pages. XD

honda - November 3, 2009, 5:28 pm

hmm... I have admin access to msdnaa for a large university. I can get unlimited keys pretty much. Does this really include office keys? School one doesn't.

SlaYoRz - November 3, 2009, 6:11 pm

Aww... My Key on Ebay has been deleted for violating the TOS. I guess I have to find a new way to sell them. I'll start looking on Friday prob.

FtK Shadow - November 3, 2009, 8:05 pm

jasonf - November 3, 2009, 8:29 pm

I suppose if your bizspark account get closed the keys are deactivated?

Don't think so, I bought an MSDN account from someone a while back and just checked to see that's been cancelled, yet my Windows 7 and Office is working fine, I even tried checking my activation status and it said fine XD

On another note, I applied using TheFunded.com and am still waiting 4 business days later. I read on their site just now that you need to sign up on their site - could that be true or do they just want more members? ;)

Xpath - November 4, 2009, 11:00 am in the box where it asks about your startup what would be convincing to type there?

AnonymouS12 - November 4, 2009, 12:34 pm

I crossed my fingers for me to get accepted.

PyroFR - November 4, 2009, 5:02 pm

Find your own path through this, it's the best possible way. I can't remember what I used but I got accepted on the next day.

I'm not certain whether microsoft blacklists keys or not, but I am 100% sure that keys that were activated will not expire.

honda - November 4, 2009, 5:54 pm

Your welcome for the +Rep Pyro.

SlaYoRz - November 4, 2009, 6:29 pm

I successfully sold my first keys :). Someone bought 20 from me. I sold them cheap for only 20$ each though. Here is a screenshot.

Yin - November 4, 2009, 6:43 pm

Nice. Yeah. Trust me. Windows 7 is HUGE. I've been doing this for the past 2 months or so, way before anyone even started selling it or anything. I made a total of $4,300 or so off W7, and $500 off Vista, and $600 off other products (such as Microsoft Word 2007.)

Yeah. They do get blacklisted, but if the people had already entered the keys, it won't erase it or anything. But the keys that aren't used, you won't be able to use.

SlaYoRz - November 5, 2009, 12:04 pm

I'm probably not going to spend any money until I am positive all the keys I sent the guy work incase he needs a refund. Just playing it safe :)

PyroFR - November 5, 2009, 12:22 pm

Good choice. :) Out of all the people who I sold to, only 1 person wasn't able to get it to work because he had the wrong version. XD

SlaYoRz - November 5, 2009, 12:24 pm

The person I sold the keys to repairs labtops and he also installs windows 7 onto them I guess. That is what he is using the keys I sold him for.

As soon as I start spending the money I received I am going to buy gold on Neobux XD scheme - November 5, 2009, 1:54 pm

damn man it's been nearly a week since I've applied. Should I contact them again or just wait it out??..

if they rejected me, aren't they supposed to let me know? or do they just ignore me..:(

SlaYoRz - November 5, 2009, 2:04 pm

You should get an email that says you have been denied if you get rejected. I'm not sure why you are not receiving one :(

scheme - November 5, 2009, 2:21 pm

:(..maybe it'll surprise me tomorrow or today at night. thanks for the info though

Etheryte - November 5, 2009, 2:39 pm

This will be overused in no time considering just the popularity of this very topic. If I were you, Pyro, I'd remove the tutorial.

PyroFR - November 5, 2009, 4:02 pm
