Thread: Uploading Video Game And Computer Videos to my Youtube Channel

madskillz2216 - October 4, 2011, 4:40 pm

If you have a good video game or computer based video you would like to promote i will upload it to my channel. It can be anything from a gameplay to a tutorial. All i ask in return is for you to sub and to put me in your sub box. I will give you credit for the video. Just post the link to the video and a download link in the description.

My channel has 1.1K subs and I have turned it into a channel to sponsor other gamers.

No offense, but 1.1k subs is not alot. 3k+ would be the minimum you would need to change it into a sponsor channel.

The channel looks bottd, upload some videos of your own to prove otherwise. What benefit does the uploader have when uploading to your channel? You are not popular as such and simply are one of those dodgy channels which try and act like machinima, how does it benefit me, does content uploaded have to be copyright free?
