I have amassed a great deal of emails (mostly hotmail) and I am wondering how I could use this great deal/amount of emails to my advantage.

How many do you consider a "Great Deal"?

iZZarD - October 12, 2011, 2:18 pm

1000 or so...

some gmails and yahoos are thrown in there.

I don't think someone would deal in emails. Just check pastebin, you'll find bunches of emails with passwords there...

best of luck

Besides, any other advantage, you can use them for making youtube, or facebook accounts and sell the accounts. this is the best i know

Well I am sure you can sell them somewhere or something like that if you want.

Can someone point me in the direction of the thread about using md5 hashes to crack hotmail passwords.

And yes i have used search,
