Thread: HF News - Interviewers

Praefectus - October 15, 2011, 9:11 pm

Introduction

The HF News is looking for two interviewers that have good grammar, are polite, high quality, and truly deserves the position. These positions won't be given to just anyone. The new interviewers will be chosen by Sir, Reported, and me and I'll review everyone's application and applicant thoroughly. We're currently looking for two interviewers to write two interviews weekly in the Main News editions by Sunday morning.

Interviewers

Reported - Head Interviewer

Requirements Above Average Grammar - Your interviews must look professional and not sloppy
High Quality - Making the group look low quality isn't allowed
Mature - You must be mature for obvious reasons, there are no exceptions
Professional - Professionalism is a must, For example, we don't stand for corruption
Skype or MSN - If your interview is needed or you need to be contacted you'll need Skype or MSN
Active - Activity is a must, we won't stand for an inactive interviewer
Creative - When you ask questions some of them should be creative
Writer - You have to be a good writer & willing to post two interviews weekly

Group Display Image

Rules Don't copy anyone's application.

Don't rush through making your application, if it looks like you did you'll be denied immediately.

Negative reputations are allowed, but up to an extent and they'll be reviewed.

Use the application you're given and only that. Don't add the HF News banner, Your own banner, Don't add your own section, etc.

If you choose not to follow these rules or requirements you'll be black listed or simply denied.

Application

Code [b][i]Name: [/i]/b]

[b][i]Age: [/i]/b]

[i][b]Why did you receive your warning level? [/b] (Only Answer this if you have warnings)[/i]

[b][i]How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? [/i]/b]

[b][i]How active are you on a daily basis? [/i]/b]

[b][i]Why do you want to become an interviewer? [/i]/b]

[b][i]Do you have Skype? [/i]/b]

[b][i]How are you professional? [/i]/b]

[b][i]Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? [/i]/b]

[b][i]Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? [/i]/b]

[b][i]Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? [/i]/b]Reminders:Take your time on your application.

Make your application look professional.

Don't apply just because you want the user bar or you want to be labeled as an interviewer.

Applications shall only be posted here.

I don't and won't give a reason why someone was denied.

This application form is one step and the next is initiation. You'll have to do one test interview and if you pass you'll be in probation and soon enough be a full fledged interviewer.

If you truly want to join this group and be an interviewer act like it, read all of the rules and requirements, be patient on your application, aim for perfection, etc.

Q&A

The "Q" stands for "Question" and the "A" stands for "Answer". Q - Will you accept me, because we're friends? A - No, that would fall under corruption, abuse of power, and it would be UN-professional. Under no circumstances will anyone be accepted, because of personal reasons. An acceptance or denial is strictly business and professional. Q - I like the writer's user bar. So can I apply, because I want it? A - No, that would be an idiotic reason to apply and you'd be denied instantly. Q - Cobalt+/Sir/Reported don't like me. Does that lessen my chances of being accepted? A - No, you'll be reviewed by three people so one no won't out rule you. This is kept strictly professional and in no way will personal dislikes interrupt recruitment. Q - Can I do interviews for the user news? A - Possibly if Reported chooses to write for the main news. Q - If something happens in my real life can I notify you I'll be inactive and not be removed from my position? A - Yes, you can apply for a leave of absence, but it can't last more than 2 weeks. Q - Can I interview my friend, because I owe him for something he did for me? A - Yes, we actually give interviewers one freebie giving them the opportunity to interview one person for personal reasons and they don't have to qualify all of the requirements. Although it matters on the time and if an interview is requested. Q - How can I become head interviewer? A - You'll have to contact Sir or me and really do your part and a head interviewer would have to be open. Q - What do head interviewers do that regular interviewers don't? A - Recruit, Nominate new interviews, Organize the interviewer section, Proof read interviews, Do the most work, Communicate & Mentor, etc.

I am Sir, and I approve this message.

We need some new ones.

Reported - October 15, 2011, 9:12 pm

Everyone read the rules and take your time on your applications. Cobalt+, Sir, and I will be reviewing these applications and applicants personally. Good Luck!

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings)

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 8.5

How active are you on a daily basis? I am online for atleast 5-7 hours a day and on weekends/holidays even more.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? Because I always think I have the capability to be a journalist. In real life, I am the head of my school's weekly magazine and I know how the cookie crumble's.

Do you have Skype? No, I only prefer MSN chat or HF pm.

How are you professional? I am not partial and corrupt like many members on HF.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? Because I know this job well and would be overwhelmed to get accepted!

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes, I do very much. I have had a few blogs which I used to write :

<http://htmlforbeginnerz.blogspot.com/>

<http://www.triond.com/users/crystal31>

<http://adobeandmicrosoft.blogspot.com/>

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, of course!

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 9. I received a perfect score on both the Writing part, and the Reading part of my college entrance exams. I don't give myself a 10 because I'm human, and occasionally make a mistake.

How active are you on a daily basis? As long as I'm not in school (only in class on Mondays and Wednesdays now), I am on for at least several hours of the day. It varies anywhere from 3 to 8 hours per day.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I feel like I qualify for the position. I'm not only doing this for the userbar, which can easily be proven by the fact that I just left all of the groups I was in: Red Lions, Black Knights, Eminence, RATs Crew, and Minecrafters. I was not kicked, I just didn't believe that I could keep up with all of the posts that were required of me at the time. However, I believe that limiting myself to this single group will be much more manageable.

Do you have Skype? Yes. My Skype username is: EatSleepCodeHF

How are you professional? Professionalism is incredibly important to me. I grew up watching my dad run a business, and have run a small software company of my own. I always handle every matter professionally, and never troll or act childish.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I meet all of the qualifications and requirements, if not exceed them. I take pride in my professionalism, and would love to be able to use that ability in a way that benefits this forum.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes. I read every night before bed, and have received an A on every assignment I have been given in my College Composition 2 course. I'm not going to lie, proof reading isn't necessarily enjoyable, but I can do it efficiently and accurately nonetheless.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Absolutely. At the time being, I am not enrolled as a full time student, and have plenty of time to interview members.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I would like to think my grammar is pretty good, so i'm going to say 8.

How active are you on a daily basis? I'm usually on the forum all day when not busy.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I think it'd be a great group to join, also it's not a "huge" group so the group i'm guessing is "close".

Do you have Skype? I do have Skype.

How are you professional? I can do anything you ask, also I'm very mature when the time comes to be.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? Well i'm honestly not going to write some "sob" story to try and "win" you over. But I just think this would be a great experience, and sounds like fun!

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I do actually enjoy it, I have my own blog I write in everyday. Also I wrote about a girl once for a whole month, I wrote over 60 full pages. So overall yeah I like to write and read.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes.

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings)

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? On a scale my grammar level is a 9.5.

How active are you on a daily basis? I am very active.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I would like to be an interviewer because I will soon be a writer for the school paper. I would like to be an interviewer because I would be honored to work with reported and learn more information about hackforums. I am very interested in the events that go on and can help with reviewing the members that you assign me Do you have Skype? Yes I do I am currently your friend.

How are you professional? I am professional because I am very attentive and always paying attention to events that happen. I am very helpful and always listen to anything that I am told.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I am High Quality and can be a great interviewer. I am friends with most people on the site.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes I need something to occupy my time and this intrigues me.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? I am more than willing.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 8.5 - 9

How active are you on a daily basis? I am online about 4-6 hours a day. Depending on work and school though, i could be on less. (Even though that is my average for when i work also.)

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I think it would give me a chance to get to know more people and make more friends here on HF. I fell as if i am quite nice and easy to get along with so i would think users wouldn't mind getting interviewed by me.

Do you have Skype? Yes I do.

How are you professional? I fell as if i am professional because i am always on topic and never spam. I try my best to be HQ so people will like me and not troll me (So far so good, haha.)

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I am nice, easy going, and mature. I think that is a tough combination to come across these days. So many people on here are just plain mean and i don't think they even realize it!

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I do. Sadly, outside of school, i do not have much free time to do things i like. That's why most of the time i'm on here, because i don't have to do anything but get on a computer.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, I could do as many interviews as needed as long as I have time to. I usually work on Saturday and Sunday though 12-5 and I am usually home around 6 PM EST.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 8-9

How active are you on a daily basis? Well, to be honest, i am mostly browsing through the forum, whether on the lounge, gamertag, or any other section.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I would like to become an interviewer because i am very good at grammar and have a 98 average in it. I would also like to become an interviewer because when i am an interviewer, i get the capability to find out more about other members and write news and so much more to come. I think it would be a great experience and would be very fun. I am very high quality and think i deserve to be in this position. Thank You.

Do you have Skype? Yes, either PM me for it or any other contact.

How are you professional? I am professional because i am very active and know whats going on on Hackforums and with the HF community. When being an interviewer, i can share what i learn with the rest of HF.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? Well i will be honest with this. I deserve to have this because i enjoy writing and would love to become part of this community. It would be great . I am high quality, and that's why i think i deserve this position.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes. Writing is my favorite thing to do. I read a lot, and also you have to proof read. If not and you publish a professional story or article, you can publish something with several grammar mistakes.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Sure, that would be perfectly fine.

Thanks for interviewing my thread. I hope i get accepted. This seems like a very interesting crew.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? If I were to rate my grammar, I would say it is about an eight.

How active are you on a daily basis? Pretty active, I tend to post about at least ten posts a day, more if it is on the weekends.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I would like the opportunity to become an interviewer for the news because I would like to speak to members, and ask them new questions that have not been asked before. I would ask open ended questions to get the most information out of the interviewee.

Do you have Skype? Yes, my Skype is mrwiiwifi.

How are you professional? Although most of the time I just like to chill and talk normally to people, if I am doing something professional such as interviewing someone I would act in a professional manner.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I don't deserve anything, but I do however think that choosing me to become an interviewer would not be a choice regretted.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I do enjoy reading and writing, however I am not good with proof reading but I can try my best.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, I will try my best to get one or more interviews a week.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 7.5/10

How active are you on a daily basis? I post on average 13 times a day and am in 2 groups that require strict activity.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I truly enjoy the HF News and read it weekly. It would be a fantastic opportunity to be a part of it, and especially to interview other Hack Forums members. I think it would be very interesting to interview different members to learn more about them and their motives and goals for Hack Forums.

Do you have Skype? Yes, contact me via PM for it.

How are you professional? I try to come across professionally in most cases. Acting level-headed, patiently, and efficiently all strike me as professional characteristics I possess. I act responsibly and take pride in my work. I will not deliver a sub-par assignment, no matter what. I'm the kind of person that will work all night on something if I have too. I think dedication and loyalty are 2 more necessary traits in one's professional life that I also possess.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I deserve to be an interviewer because I possess all of necessary traits of a good interviewer and team member. I have the ability to meet deadlines with quality work. I'm also a sociable person and can easily interview someone in a comfortable relaxed tone. I also have decent grammar and the ability to convey my thoughts accurately. I am a polite person and have submitted an article topic to the news before. I also apart of my school newspaper as a reporter/interviewer. I have conveyed my desire to be an interviewer to Sir before, and am excited for this chance. I am a dedicated and loyal person and member. I am in 2 groups that require constant activity to ensure dedication. I have been in each of these groups for quiet a while now. I have taken advanced English courses all 4 years of high school and have received A's and B's. I have also written any essay about a family member that won a contest in a state competition. I think I would be a great addition to the Writers and interviewers specifically because I will do everything in my power to not let someone down.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes, I took AP English because I enjoy it. Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Absolutely.

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings)

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I personally believe that my grammar is a solid 8 or 9.

How active are you on a daily basis? I am really active, and I am almost always on. I do have school, which ends at about 3:00 Pacific Standard Time.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? This is not only a fine opportunity, but this job will allow me to interview respected people(s) of Hack Forums, which will ultimately test my qualifications as a writer and proof reader. I feel as though this will help me with my future goals in life and if I successfully obtain this position, I know that I will always be on my toes, which would be exhilarating, and it would really encourage me to make entertaining and interesting interviews. This group is extremely high quality, respectable, entertaining, and professional; this is what has really intrigued me to apply for an Interviewer position. This position would definitely be a challenge to tackle, but I know that I am capable of such a grand group, and it would be an honor to participate in this group.

Do you have Skype? Yes I do have Skype, and I am almost always online.

How are you professional? I am really professional and I have evidence of this from a couple of websites I own and manage. I make sure to write with proper grammar and spelling, and I always make sure to stay high quality. I am a very active member in the Marketplace section, and this supports my claim of being professional. I often sell services, and buy a variety of things, and I always make sure to be professional. This includes the different things I write, the way I express my thoughts, how I work, and how I act in front of people. I make sure to keep everything around me clean and organized, which minimizes loss of time. Whenever, I am performing services for any one, I make sure to learn every aspect of the job given to me, so that I can perform more than expected. In conclusion, my personality, work habits, and previous work prove my professionalism.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I deserve to be an interviewer because of my past experiences, my love for writing, and my ability to conform interesting and entertaining questions. For the past couple of years in my school, I have been part of "Trident." Trident consists of a group of people who spend their time writing articles for their school newspaper, and this also includes interviews. Last year, I was given the role of interviewing teachers and students in my school, and I was also given the job of proof reading/editing articles in the school news paper. These experiences have really made me strong in interviewing and proof reading. I know that these skills will be very valuable for this group. Ever since I was young, I have been in love with writing. This will make me love my job as an interviewer, and fulfill it properly. I love media, and my love for media has made me listen to numerous interviews about different types of people, this gives me experience in asking questions to a variety of people. Also, I make sure to do accurate research on the people that I am going to interview, to make sure I can ask interesting questions, that relate to them. Lastly, I know that I can make this fantastic group even better through my interviews, and ideas.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I really enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading. My strong point is definitively proof reading, but I thoroughly enjoy writing and reading. This year I am in AP Com. Literature, and last year I was in AP Language. I really feel that I have experience, and can successfully fulfill my role.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? I am completely willing to send more than one interview by every Sunday.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I would say ten, but I do make occasional mistakes, so nine.

How active are you on a daily basis? Fairly active, I browse HF at least twice a day.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I used to be an editor for my school newspaper and I really enjoyed it. I love writing and I can provide examples if needed/wanted.

Do you have Skype? Yes, yes I do.

How are you professional?

I have a positive attitude.

I have an extremely high vocabulary.

I have good grammar.

I have a great work ethic

I'm easy going, but sincere when necessary.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? With my prior experience in this exact field, I could definitely benefit this group. I enjoy writing and communicating with others which shows in my work. I will give it my utmost attempt every time.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Greatly, I have samples of work that I enjoy lending out to people as reference. I have written quite a few papers for some members and have only received great responses (will provide vouches if needed). Many individuals have also asked me to read over their papers and make corrections wherever needed. I like the idea of being able to read over someone's work and only help to make it better.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yeah, that wouldn't be a problem. As I do have school work of my own, the amount of interviews would have to be reasonable, but one to three sound just fine.

As I said before, I have plenty of samples of work that I've written before; essays, news articles, editorials, etc. I would be happy to share these if necessary. Thank you for your consideration.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 10/ All A's In language Arts

How active are you on a daily basis? I'm on hack forums about 7-8 hours daily

Why do you want to become an interviewer? Hi my name is Tyler and i would like to become a hack forums Writer cause i have very nice grammar and my my effort is amazing as far as writing i love to write and i'm a great communicator and great with getting along with people i can say words easily and keep a steady motion in my interviews i don't skip or stop i would write my hole script out before the interview and have it all practiced and ask logical questions and stay on a steady topic for a good amount of time don't ask uncomfortable questions to the person that i'm interviewing.

Do you have Skype? Yes i have a Skype account

How are you professional? i Think i'm professional in a way because i don't mess around when i'm talking i give even plates to talk with people i don't randomly swear or say random things while i'm interviewing users or famous Hack forum users and using common sense in situations that need to have common sense and strict.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I Think i deserve to be a interviewer because it my hobby to read and write and talk and i would really like the honor of having the right to post and talk to people ask them questions and i'm very good with everything read,write,talk.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes i enjoy everything Reading and writing i'm a A+ Student in Language arts/English and i love to write long paragraphs and detailed sentences and having the satisfaction of looking at my paper or looking at my computer screen and saying i did that and it feels good to make a good accomplishment.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I would rate my grammer on a day to day basis, in normal post, a 7. In post that I am attempting to write correctly in, I would rate my grammer at about a 9.

How active are you on a daily basis? I am on every single day, unless there are very rare circumstances that convey themselves abruptly. (ie. Dog dying, grandmother having a stroke)

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I am looking for a place to broaden my spectrum of internet usage. I have explored many different paths, and this one looks interesting. I think I could express myself in fun new ways that would get people excited, and I would be able to express my creative side. The group looks very nice as a whole, which I know everyone sais in this section. Yet, I feel that each of you has your own important jobs, and you benefit the community. That is why I feel that way.

Do you have Skype? Yes, I do Sir.

How are you professional? I am in some ways, but not in others. I have a fun spin to my own charisma but I can be serious and lock down when the shit hits the floor.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? Yay, the section where everyone self promotes themselves, however I will not do so. I on the other hand will just state some facts. I am a internet enthusiast trying to learn more and achieve more on a day to day basis. I love writing, my dad is an editor and has taught me so much in the past 15 years of my life. I always try and put 100% of my effort into what I am doing, and that is about all I have to say. I think if you are willing to give me a shot, I will prove myself.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes, like I have stated above. My father is an editor. It is in my blood, so to speak.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? If this is what is required, I will certainly do so.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? Throughout my time spent on Hack Forums, my grammar & spelling has consistently been at the highest quality possible. No matter the section, even The Lounge, I make sure that my posts have no grammar errors in them whatsoever. Considering this, on a scale of 1-10, I would say that my grammar level is a high 9. Although my grammar is nearly impeccable, I do not think anyone should be a 10/10 because everyone can improve their language skills no matter what.

How active are you on a daily basis? On a daily basis, I am consistently active 10 or so hours a day. The reason for this is that I am always available via my iPhone when I am not on my computer in which I can be on HF, Skype, & MSN whenever needed.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? There are many reasons as to why I would like to become an interviewer for "HF News". The dominant reason that I would like to join the HF News Team is that I aspire to enter the journalism industry within the next year and I believe that working as an interviewer will be fantastic experience to reach my goal as a journalist in life. Another reason that I would like to be an interviewer is that in this time of change for how HF News works, I believe I can contribute an original & creative writing style towards the weekly HF News editions.

How are you professional? The most prominent way that I am professional towards my time in Hackforums is my quality of posts and most notably the guides I contribute. Most recently, I wrote 90% of a guide with Glassy which is now stickied. It can be found here

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=1793236>

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I deserve to be an interviewer because I have multiple assets that would be of good use towards the HF News team. One asset, which I have gone into detail above, is my skills in creative writing. I am an experienced writer whom can voice a strong opinionated tone in my literature. Another asset that I can contribute is my ability to think on the spot. As an interviewer, you need to fill those awkward moments where the interviewee is not saying anything and you don't have a question ready. Due to this, being able to think on the spot would be a fantastic asset to being an interviewer. My final asset that would be useful towards HF News would be my skill of the English language and specifically my grammar. As I also said above, my grammar is near impeccable and it is very rare that one finds an error in grammar, spelling, and/or syntax.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes I do. As a matter of fact, becoming a web-journalist is one of my major aspirations in life.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? I would be more than happy to. After reading and enjoying HF news for a number of months, the least I could do is give something back.

phybe? - October 15, 2011, 11:10 pm

I am not applying but I noticed and I am pretty sure that "The HF News is looking for two interviewers that has good grammar, is polite, high quality, and truly deserves the position."

is incorrect and instead should be "The HF News is looking for two interviewers that have good grammar, are polite, high quality, and truly deserve the position"

Correct me if I'm wrong but it's quite ironic if you ask me ;)

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 9

How active are you on a daily basis? Anywhere from 2 - 6 hours, depending on the type of day and homework load.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? Cause it's a respected position and there are only a few interviewers. It's also a great way to be more HQ in HackForums, and of course, I get to be in the news. I'm also very fluent in English and have superb grammar, sentence flow, and writing. And the user Reported is an interviewer, and he is my mate. I also love to meet new people, and the interviews would help with that.

Do you have Skype? Yes. Skype - Suhindur

How are you professional? No matter the circumstance, I always talk properly (Even in IMS). I'm usually available for anything that comes up and willing to help out.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I am HQ and create high quality tutorials. I would fit the position, rightfully. I'm also devoted to the forum. Every aspect of it, from helping, to donating, i'm always happy to help out on HF.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yeah I write every day. Whether it's homework, blogging, or just talking. I also love correcting people, not only for the personal gain of reminding myself of how to communicate properly, but to help others. I also love reading, even more. I read every day, mostly books. I'm one of the few people that like reading for academical purposes.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, more than glad to.

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings) N/A.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I'll go with a 9, for now. We all make mistakes, though.

How active are you on a daily basis? Very. I'm on for most of the day during the week.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I wish to be able to help out more. I enjoy reading interviews and I enjoy typing/writing. Put two and two together...

Do you have Skype? Yes, I do.

How are you professional? I am very professional. I go about things based on logic. I act based on my maturity, which, in my opinion, speaks for itself. I pay attention to my surroundings and act accordingly.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I deserve to be an interviewer because I enjoy writing/typing. I honestly enjoy reading the HF news; especially the interviews. Hey, maybe it will even get my name out there. Whilst I've been typing out my application I have been simulating interviews in my head and I feel like I'd do a good job.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes, I enjoy writing and reading. One of the reasons I partake in message boards is because I enjoy posting. I really enjoy reading - I mix up spending time on the internet with reading books. My favourite book would have to be Angels and Demons by Dan Brown.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, yes I am.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

About a nine over ten, I only commit grammar mistakes when I'm in a hurry.

How active are you on a daily basis?

I have a lot of free time, I am on Hackforums for about four to eight hours on a weekday. On the weekend I have about 12 hours of free time on both Saturday and Sunday.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

Well I want to become an interviewer because I have always had the passion and curiosity that any other interviewer has. I believe that being an interviewer would take me to another level, I have always liked being on the press. I am a hard worker and I'm always organized. I like talking and meeting other people and getting to know more about them which is something similar to interviewing though. I am a high quality and respected member of this community. I do not break any rules and always agree on them.

Do you have Skype?

Yes, I have both Skype and MSN.

How are you professional?

I am professional enough to become an interviewer, I have been interested in marketing and finance a lot, I am pretty friendly with others. I do not ask off topic questions, I am very polite with the person I am interviewing(Of course that applies to anyone I talk to). I try my best to be understandable and I learn from my mistakes. I am very good at writing and I sure listen to the person I am interviewing. I have a huge interest for global news, so I can know if the user is going through hard times or not. I try to keep my work at its finest and keep it clean and organized. I am really creative when asking questions. I do not like corruption.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

I have what it takes to be an interviewer, I am really passionate about it and giving me a chance to accomplish my goal would be something I will never forget. I believe I would represent the Writers with a great image and I would be a great addition to the group. I always liked group work so I can team up with anybody if you want me to. I may not be perfect but I believe in improvement and change.

I am dedicated to the groups I am in and I do not mind being dedicated to the Writers. I treat everyone with respect hoping I get the same, I do not flame or harass anyone in any way. I do not break the Hackforums.net Forum rules and I agree and respect them.

It would be an honor to work with other interviewers and being part of that team I look up to.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

Yes I do, in fact I read a lot. I have read about 200 books in real life. I am currently writing an ebook that will be on sale on HackForums earlier this month.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Yes of course, maybe a lot more than one because I really work hard.

Thanks for your time.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? About 7/10

How active are you on a daily basis? On Friday - Sunday I spend about 5 - 16 hours. Monday - Friday 4 - 7 hours.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I would like to become an interviewer because if I like it so much I will start interviewing people at school on the school radio (I run school radio). I would really love to talk to new people to see who they are and what they do on HF. I am good at following what people say. I can quickly type.

Do you have Skype? Yes and MSN

How are you professional? I am a professional because I am always willing to finish and do my job.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I deserve to be an interviewer because I try to always make HQ tutorials and I make my first ebook which I guess people liked. I always been trying to help out HF in some way possible. I do like writing on computers because I can do it pretty fast. I do think I would be very useful to some members and would be very nice to the people I might interview. I have not broke the HF rules yet because I read them over and over so I don't forget them.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I enjoy writing and reading the HF news.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes I promise.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I'd rate myself with an eight if I'm honest as English is my third language.

How active are you on a daily basis? I'm pretty active on a daily basis. I do spend around 4 hours a day minimum, but then again it really depends on the day of the week.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I'd like to become an interviewer because I've never been one in my entire life, and it would be a great accomplishment, especially because I would learn something new, and probably improve my grammar.

Do you have Skype? I do, but if I need to do 'live interviews' I would say no since my spelling isn't even good. I'm more of a text writer, but I do use MSN on a daily basis.

How are you professional? I've got patience, and I'm willing to spend my free time to the group in any way possible. I know how to be polite which is also one of the most important 'abilities' which you need as an interviewer.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I think that I deserve to be an interviewer because I spend my free time mostly on Hack Forums, and I'm always here for anyone who either needs my help or just want to have a conversation with me.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I do enjoy to write high quality posts or threads. I've always liked to organize my posts, and make them as entertaining as possible.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? I'm always online so this one shouldn't be a problem, I think I can fulfill my duties.

How active are you on a daily basis? Pretty much from the moment I wake up to the moment I go to bed.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? Because I have an awesome personality, this means NO MORE boring interviews. (I would ask intriguing questions.) I can bring more quality, interesting (yet serious when need be) interviews to HF News.

Do you have Skype? Yes.

How are you professional? I have a strong work ethic and pay great attention to the detail of my work.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I am humble yet a bubbly person. Easy to get along with and even easier to talk to.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I sure do.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I would say my grammar is a 8.5/10.

How active are you on a daily basis? I spend alot of time on HF, a lil' too much, about 3-7 hours.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I want to be a interviewer because I think I'd be an amazing at it. I'm very creative. I can keep a topic going, or close the topic and start a new one very easily. I'm a great writer, and usually polite. My grammar is above average, and I try my best to never make grammar errors. I know that I'd be an amazing addition to the HF writers.

Do you have Skype? No, I do not, but I can download if it's needed. EDIT: Made one, it's: paligamer561

How are you professional? I'm professional because, when it comes to bussiness I'm all about the work. I don't joke around and act stupid. I'd ask questions that the readers would want to hear, not some boring questions. In a nut shell, I'd say I'm professional because I'm 100% dedicated to my goals. I won't let friends or people get in my way. They won't distract me at all. I don't do drugs while doing work, and I don't procrastinate. I have a great vocab. too. Also, I never flame, and I always keep my cool.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I think I deserve to my a interviewer for the folling reasons: I'm professional.

I'm very active.

My grammar is above average.

I'm creative.

I put 110% into all things I do.

I could interview alot of people daily, and still remain HQ.

I'd be happy to interview people, even if we've had a bad past.

I'd be deicated 100% to the HF writers.

I'd be loyal 100% to the HF writers.

I wouldn't kid around.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I love writing, I always scored high scores on writing assignments in school. I love to write storys and poetry.

Reading is one of my hobbys, though my local library is closed so I havn't be reading much.

The only proof I'd be able to provide is a picture of my counter that is covered in books.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, I'd be more then happy too.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I don't have the best grammar, but I would give it an 8.

How active are you on a daily basis? I have lost a little activity in this past week, but the work I was doing is done. I am fairly active online.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? There are many reasons, some are things that I won't say. The most important is that I want to be a part of something. It may not seem like something worth mentioning, but I feel like applying is the right step in achieving other goals. Like a stepping stone that is not forgotten.

Do you have Skype? I have Skype, but my microphone is not available for use. (It's broken)

How are you professional? Gloating is something I don't do. In most cases, you're only as good as what you fail to mention about yourself.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? Deserve compared to what, the other people applying? I can't say, because there is no answer. If I meet the mold of your standards more than someone else here, so be it. If I don't, so be it. You know what you want better than I do.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? My love of literature stems from the past.

Philosophy, Greek epics, and tragedies top the list of random entertainment, in my mind. Writing is not my favorite thing to do, but it follows close behind curiosity.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, I would be willing to do one, or more, interview(s) a week.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 9/10.

How active are you on a daily basis?

I am extremely active to be precise around 7+ a day.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

I would like to become an interviewer because of my dedication towards HF, I feel I can work in some way and get to know people, asking questions, getting their background etc..

I can contribute my ideas to improve the HF News, I can gather up a lot of drama on the website, and I know what people deserve to be interviewed, this is a good chance to show yourself in the community and I just want to be a part of such an amazing project with amazing people, I already know 2 of the HF News Team Members, which means I'm no a stranger and I can get on with them.

Do you have Skype?

Yes.

How are you professional?

Well I have learned to become professional in the past, I have worked for several business online using live support and being professional is a REQUIREMENT.

Well I have worked for a review site, and interviewed 3 professional call of duty and these are high profile gamers such as, FeaR MoHo, MLGBreeZy, and the owner of RevolutionFactor, and these are gamers who get money by media, and they get paid to do interviews.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

I deserve to be an interviewer because of the help I can offer, I will always be there offering help, I also have experience in this field which many applicants don't. With my experience I can show the utter most professional service to the user being interviewed, and I can get on with almost everyone in the community , I have never done a bad deed on HF like scamming or anything.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

To be honest, I have never enjoyed books but I love reading articles, and interviews there fun and interesting and I love to get to know people.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Of course.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?: If I'm talking casually, probably an 8, but when I'm engaged in something like this that obviously entails proper grammar, I'd be sure to make it a 10/10.

How active are you on a daily basis? I get on Hackforums before I head to school each morning, and after school I get on and off a few times each hour. I don't miss much.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I'd really like to take part in something slightly bigger than just being a member on HF, and I would undoubtedly be a worthy contribution to the team. I love creative writing and journalism.

Do you have Skype? I do.

How are you professional? I come from a military family, built solely upon high standards and expectations. I'm one of those "He's mature for his age," kind of guys. I take pride in looking professional in whatever I do. Why wouldn't I?

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? : I deserve to be an interviewer because I'm qualified for the position and I'm active enough in the community to do the job better than most, with all due respect to those who deserve it. For what it is worth, I have taken a college prep composition class, as well as journalism. Amongst many other things, writing is a passion of mine and I can think of fewer greater things than being recognized by others for pursuing something that you love to do.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?: I do! I write very often and Reading/proofreading are amongst things we did most in the classes I took specializing in composition and journalism.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 9 and a half.

How active are you on a daily basis? Over 6 hours per day.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I have always felt I have what it takes to do interviews. I've did some test interviews in the past. Never really made it to the real life interview scene, or own my own show, but I would like to know where I make in the interwebs.

Do you have Skype? Yes.

How are you professional? On a scale of 1 to 10, I would say 10.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? Because I'm on a high professional level and I think that you should at least give me a chance to prove myself.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes. Checking for grammar and spelling mistakes is just a cause.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

I'm going to say my grammatical skills would be rated 6 to 8. I find it impossible to rate myself.
Everyone makes mistakes, it's impossible not to.

How active are you on a daily basis?

I'm quite active. I usually spend between two to six hours on Hack Forums daily.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

Since I first started reading the interviews between members I've always had the curiosity of what it would be like actually interviewing them. The interviews give me an insight in to how much the interviewees are valued by our community and it's interesting to get to know more about them.

That is probably a main factor on why I would actually like to become an interviewer. I'd love to be the one asking those interviewees questions, getting to know them better and then sending the interview in on time. Not to mention it would be a great opportunity to make new friends, both on and off the news team. Mainly though, a great pleasure just being part of the team.

I also believe that if given the opportunity to become a member of the news team that both my grammatical, and spelling skills would improve considerably.

Do you have Skype?

Yes, I do.

How are you professional?

When a job needs to be completed I get straight to the work. I'm currently partaking in Young Enterprise Wales (<http://www.young-enterprise.org.uk/wales>) which should show my will and dedication I have succeed my goals.

I believe though, the question should have been 'How are you professionally?'

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

I'm very passionate about my ambitions, and as previously mentioned I have always had the curiosity of what it would be like interviewing members of the community.

I'm dedicated in all of my groups, I work hard and would be active daily as an interviewer. Whenever wanted I'd be available no matter what.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

Creative writing always brings enjoyment to me. It clears my mind of any problems I have, and lets my imagination run freely.

I do like to read a few books every once in a while. My favourite book series would be Cherub. I read every Hack Forums News edition.

When reading though, I always find myself looking for any spelling or grammatical errors. Even with my own work. For example, if I write something one day and then read over it the next day, there are always mistakes clearly visible to me.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Yes, I'll be able to do that easily. I have enough free time on the weekends to interview members and then send them in.

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings)

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?: Ten.

How active are you on a daily basis?: I am always on my computer, other than school. So if I said six hours a day, and twelve on weekends, I wouldn't be exaggerating.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?: Well I am actually an interviewer at my school! I love doing, and I enjoy seeing what people's "uncut" thoughts are about whatever the situation may be. I think this would be a fun (yet serious) thing for me to do. Also, I am mainly in the Social Engineering section, so meeting members is somewhat hard for me. I feel like interviewing people could greatly increase the number of my friends here on Hackforums!

Do you have Skype?: Of course.

How are you professional?: As I stated above, I am an interviewer at my school. I know how these work, I know what to say, and I know how to say it. I can tell when people may not be telling what they really think, and I know how to treat people with respect. In other words, I've been in this game before. I know how to do it, and I know how to efficiently do it within the limited amount of time I'll be given.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?: I've always strived to be the best. Even when I wasn't upgraded, I was holding give aways and making whatever I could for the community. As I got upgraded, I continued to help others, and with all the help I asked for, I gave back more! The balance of what I give to what I take is never equal, for I am always giving. Nevertheless, I support the newer members, and treat everyone with respect, regardless of others' opinions.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?: Yes, I do. That's why I have my job at my school. I like sitting at home, reading over a typed of essay, looking for mistakes because I love writing! I mostly write creatively, as in, fiction stories. The only times I write non-fiction is when I write my weekly interviews.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?: Seeing as though today is Sunday, and I like to take my time for each interview, yes. Although it wouldn't be specifically made for my interviewee, which I normally make it. I could still be reliable though, and I could still get an interview in!

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

-Sometimes I'm still having some grammatical errors. I'll rate my own grammar to 9.

How active are you on a daily basis?

-Most of the time I'm here on Hack Forums, so you don't need to worry about activity.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

-I want to become an interviewer because it's a great pleasure to interview someone which is willing to answer all the questions you're asking. You know, getting more involved into a person's life is hard. So, being an interviewer is really a great experience.

Do you have Skype?

-Sad to say but I don't use Skype, only MSN.

How are you professional?

-I believe I'm professional due to the fact that I'm always helping and assisting members here on Hack Forums. I'm always aware on the things that I'm doing the consequences that'll happen are always on my mind. And, I always stay focus on what I'm doing.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

-I believe that I deserve to be an Interviewer because I have made major contributions and helped numerous members that were in need of my assistance. I am always willing to help new members that want to be apart of this community. I understand that my grammar isn't always up to par but it is who I am and I am proud of being myself and not trying to portray someone just to please other members. I plan to continue to do great deeds for fellow members of Hack Forums and I wish to further my assistance to the members of the HF Wiki Team, which is an outstanding group.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

-Yes, I enjoy writing and reading. Most of the time I usually read J.K Rowling's Harry Potter which is one of my favourite. Reading is really great, you can learn many things by reading and really helps you a lot with your everyday life.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

-Indeed, because it's my job. So, I will do it properly.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

I would say about a 8-9. I have pretty good grammar on a daily basis, but no one is perfect.

How active are you on a daily basis?

Very, very active. 30+ posts a day.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

I have wanted to be on the news for quite a while, and this would actually be my preferred job out of all of them. Being a part of the news would be a great honor for me, and interacting with people almost daily and getting to learn about them isn't bad either.

Do you have Skype?

Yes, voiceakarobbie

How are you professional?

I am professional because I stick to what needs to be done and I, nine times out of ten, will get the job done in time.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

I deserve to be an interviewer because I am a timely person, and I think I could do a great deal helping out with the news. I will make good decisions and make sure to follow the rules of the news. I think overall I would be great for this position. I could honestly care less about the actual userbar, I just want to be a part of the news team. I tried to join the news twice before the "Writ3rs" even came into existence.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

On the computer, I do. I don't enjoy doing it in real life, but I like typing and reading on the computer because it helps me hone those skills. Proof reading would help me out in my reading subjects so I would enjoy it.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Yes, I'm willing to send in as many as need be.

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings)

Because I was reselling for someone, he told me to put an autobuy link in the post,, then he edited the page to look like Witza and Omniscient thought I owned it. He then gave me my first, and only warning, then repfucked me.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

9.5

How active are you on a daily basis?

Weekdays: 3:10 PM - 10:00 PM (Central) Weekends: 11:00 PM - 12:00 MD (Central)

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

I feel I'd make a great interviewer because I love to ask people questions, I have close to perfect grammar, I'm a fast typist, I got a lot of free time on my hands, I feel participating in this group would do me, and the community most good.

Do you have Skype?

Yes, HF.Deceive is my username. And yes, I do have a mic.

How are you professional?

Yes, I am very good at making high quality posts, I'm actually not trying to go into detail with this application though mainly because I sometimes catch myself repeating the same thing about 3 times when I do apply for stuff.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

Because I feel like it could help many out. I get at least 30 PMs daily asking me questions and asking for assistance and I am very kind to each of my learners.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

I hate writing, I love typing. Reading is a hard thing to ask if I like, it really depends. However I have seen some of the HF New threads and I do say they are quite fascinating.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Yes, all it does it take a few PMs and there, you got an interview, not very hard IMO. I will keep gaining more and more people to participate.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

There are many reasons why I would like to become an interviewer. Being an interviewer is one of my goals. Ever since I saw the first HF news being here at Hack Forums I thought to myself, "Wouldn't that be the coolest job?" I enjoy writing, proof reading, and especially interviewing people.

Do you have Skype?

Yes, I do have Skype. I also have MSN.

How are you professional?

I am professional because I love what I do. Being on Hack Forums is like a job; I take it seriously when I need to just like right now. I am professional with the quality of my posts, threads, and even Instant Messaging. Being professional also means being mature; I am very mature especially when it comes to threads, posts, and Instant Messaging just like I said.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

I deserve to be an interviewer because I am responsible, and I will get the job done whenever it is needed. Any job is at the palm of my hands, and I will work my hardest to make not only Hack Forums happy; but the Writers as well. I am very active and I wouldn't mess around. I would be completely mature about being a Writer and my job. I'm professional and I put 100% into anything and everything I do. My dedication to Hack Forums is phenomenal.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

I enjoy writing and proof reading all the time. At my school we have a little News group, where we have to put out news every Monday. I usually go in after the group writes it all up and fix all the grammatical errors, and add anything needed. I also fix up the News to make it look more organized, and professional.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Yes, I am willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday. I'll have all interviews needed prepared and ready by Sunday.

Thanks for taking the time to read my application. Best luck to myself and other applicants!

Why do you want to become an interviewer? It sounds like fun, and I can meet/interview people I've never talked to before.

Do you have Skype? Yes, I do.

How are you professional? I am literate and high quality. I'm not an immature 14 year old like most of HF.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I probably don't, but I am high quality. I've wanted to help in the news for a while.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I love to read, write, and edit.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, I am.

P.S. I know Reported doesn't like me, and I'm sure he will be extremely biased on my application. I hope you can look past your personal opinions and make a good executive decision.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 10/ All A's In language Arts

How active are you on a daily basis? I'm on hack forums about 7-8 hours daily

Why do you want to become an interviewer? Hi my name is Tyler and i would like to become a hack forums Writer cause i have very nice grammar and my my effort is amazing as far as writing i love to write and i'm a great communicator and great with getting along with people i can say words easily and keep a steady motion in my interviews i don't skip or stop i would write my hole script out before the interview and have it all practiced and ask logical questions and stay on a steady topic for a good amount of time don't ask uncomfortable questions to the person that i'm interviewing.

Do you have Skype? Yes i have a Skype account

How are you professional? i Think i'm professional in a way because i don't mess around when i'm talking i give even plates to talk with people i don't randomly swear or say random things while i'm interviewing users or famous Hack forum users and using common sense in situations that need to have common sense and strict.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I Think i deserve to be a interviewer because it my hobby to read and write and talk and i would really like the honor of having the right to post and talk to people ask them questions and i'm very good with everything read,write,talk.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes i enjoy everything Reading and writing i'm a A+ Student in Language arts/English and i love to write long paragraphs and detailed sentences and having the satisfaction of looking at my paper or looking at my computer screen and saying i did that and it feels good to make a good accomplishment.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Yes i wouldn't mind to do help grow the Writing forum by posting every Sunday.

Having A's in Language Arts, doesn't mean anything.

I know people who are straight A* students but actualy doesnt have a fucking clue.

Also 7-8 hours daily is really bad, very bad. You seriously need to consider changing your life if you are serious.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I don't have the best grammar, but I would give it an 8.

How active are you on a daily basis? I have lost a little activity in this past week, but the work I was doing is done. I am fairly active online.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? There are many reasons, some are things that I won't say. The most important is that I want to be a part of something. It may not seem like something worth mentioning, but I feel like applying is the right step in achieving other goals. Like a stepping stone that is not forgotten.

Do you have Skype? I have Skype, but my microphone is not available for use. (It's broken)

How are you professional? Gloating is something I don't do. In most cases, you're only as good as what you fail to mention about yourself.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? Deserve compared to what, the other people applying? I can't say, because there is no answer. If I meet the mold of your standards more than someone else here, so be it. If I don't, so be it. You know what you want better than I do.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? My love of literature stems from the past. Philosophy, Greek epics, and tragedies top the list of random entertainment, in my mind. Writing is not my favorite thing to do, but it follows close behind curiosity.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes, I would be willing to do one, or more, interview(s) a week.

I vouch Daniel. Daniel is a very HQ member I hold him in very high regard, Daniel is polite, smart and most definitely worth looking at. I only know Daniel with in the forum and to date is the member I was most proud of upgrading.

Best of luck Daniel, I really hope you are considered for this position, you very much deserve it.?

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

I won't lie, my grammar is NOT perfect. If I had to rate myself it would be a seven or a seven and a half out of ten.

How active are you on a daily basis?

I am online for about three to five hours everyday. Though I am flexible, if required I can be on for more than five hours.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

Being an interviewer seems like it would be such an interesting experience, as I've always loved anything that involves writing and having people express themselves. I am also real flexible with suggestions or critiques, that may improve my performance as an interviewer.

Do you have Skype?

Yes I do have Skype.

How are you professional?

I am professional because I can stay focused on the job and get it done without being incessantly distracted. I'm always ready to work, and my enthusiasm and attitude towards being an interviewer will never change.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

I would be so grateful if I were to get the position. It would be a wonderful chance to experience something new while contributing to the cyber community that I am a part of.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I'd say that my grammar is exceptional. I make mistakes at times as any human does, though. HF has actually assisted in me in improving my grammar, which I find funny because Grade School did not aid me much. As far as posting is concerned, I almost always double check to make sure the grammar is alright. It's almost as if I can't make a post without first inspecting the darn thing for vocabulary or grammar issues. Sadly, I will likely read this application 5-10 times before I hit "Post Reply".

How active are you on a daily basis? From the time I get home (3:30PM PST) I'm on and off of my computer till about 11PM or 1AM. In between those times I usually am only doing one of the following; Homework, cleaning or working out. Other then that, I'm quite addicted to my lovely computer.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? Interviewing, writing, communicating. These are all things that I excel in and would be more than happy to dedicate my time to. I also enjoy contributing what I can to HF. I read every HF news edition and I'm very well acquainted with the interviewing process, although in my honest opinion it needs a bit of a 'tune up'. Which I would gladly attempt to improve upon acceptance. I aspire to help the HF news system and hopefully bring something new to it that everyone will enjoy. Making things more enjoyable is a specialty of mine!

Do you have Skype? I do have skype. I use it more msn at this point, although I do have both. (MSN and Skype). I'm fine to talk over the microphone, too.

How are you professional? I'm a fun guy but profession is no issue for me. I have gained leadership experience several different times throughout my life and have had former employers state that specifically in a recommendation. I pursue my interests, many of which require professionalism. Without it, I would be nowhere in my life today.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I honestly believe I'd be an asset. I'm creative, humorous and love to conversate with whoever is in the mood to do so. I have no doubt in my mind that I'd make an excellent, enthusiastic and fun interviewer!

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? As an ex Reviewer I'm proud to say that I love all of these things. I am strong in writing and several aspects of writing styles pertain to my interest. I consider myself to be a fountain of potential with writing. While it is not my passion, I've been told by many that I should be an author or some form of writer when I grow older. And who knows, perhaps it will be a part of my career someday.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? That's easy, I used to do a good 3 ebook reviews a week. I can and will commit to this, sounds like fun! Oddly enough, weekdays are my most 'free days'. I am more so busy on the weekends rather than the weekday. Strange! But, point being, completing an interview before Sunday is an easy task for me and one I would be fit for.

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings) I have never received a warning level.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 9/10

How active are you on a daily basis? I am active when I am needed, recently my purpose on HF wasn't defined and I really was here on a more casual basis. I want to be able to work for something, the writers seems like a positive, intellectual way to express myself.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I want to become an interviewer because I am deeply passionate when it comes to writing and journalism. It is something you can do no matter how you feel, where you are, or who you are. I love Hack Forums and being able to represent it through interviews and articles would be a dream come true. I know there are a lot of people who are qualified for the position but I feel like I have matured as a writer in the last few months, and this position would motivate me to further give back to HF.

It's not just that either. I want to be apart of something amazing. I have a passion that I cannot explain when I write it is like the my mind takes control and the outcome is something totally different then what I expected. I want to be an interviewer because I care. Unlike most people, I actually think before I speak, I take time to ponder each and every word because words hold power. We have the ability to be literate, some people don't choose to be. I for one will pledge my entire being to this position because that is how much it means to me!

Do you have Skype? I do have Skype, I am also willing to chat via microphone.

How are you professional? How am I professional, well that is a question that can be answered in multiple ways. First of all, I am very organized and put the job at hand as my first priority. I also have a great work-ethic, and open schedule so I can work on projects when needed. I can be serious, and always put everything I possibly can into each and every piece of writing I create. I am creative and will bring fresh ideas into brainstorm and will innovate when possible.

Along with this I put the topic first, if I promise to do something it will get done, no questions asked. I want to be the person people turn to when they want the job done right. I write maturely and intelligently, because no one takes an unintelligent man or woman seriously. It may be sad but it is true.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I deserve to be an interviewer because I have a passion, and a commitment to everything I put my mind to. In this case it is helping out HF, and writing for a forum that has been so dear to me. I know I have not been the most socially active person on this forum, but that does not mean I have not contributed. This is something that will add to that list of accomplishments, helping the community for a change. I want to become a better writer, practice does make perfect and with each piece I write I plan on getting better. There isn't a lot I can say, I could go on and on about how much this means to me, but the truth is this: I will work as hard as I can, day after day. I will put forth pure determination and drive, and will make it my goal to make myself and every other member of the team realize the importance of literacy in our daily lives.

I can only describe this job in one way, a dream. The reason I am writing this application is to tell you I am want to do this with all of my being, I want to be up late on a Friday watching my fingers press down each key, knowing that what I write will be seen by the rest of HF. I want to see the thoughts prance throughout my mind as I think about what I will say next or what question I may ask. Creativity cannot be taught, only preached and practiced. Being practical is not always what is best, being original and witty is something that almost every writer strides for. I pray for a chance like this, and now that it has arisen I will do everything in my power to make it mine. Dedication has no end.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I love to read, write, and proofread. I am very literate, and spend most of my time browsing around HF reading multiple threads and creating my own writings in my free time.

Writing is a passion, I will sit and just think about what I could possibly write next, what idea may I claim my own. If anyone else has thought of this or that. This is important, reading over your own work and realizing that someone could say the same thing, if something is lacking passion, super glue it to your story for god's sake. People are afraid to fail, we all need to realize that being perfect only makes us worse. We need to realize our faults and move on. I proof read my work to understand why I may have done that. Answering your own questions makes you wiser, and that is a trait we all should possess.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? I am willing to send the interviews whenever they are needed, any day of the week, holidays. I am applying because I want to be a valuable member of this team, and a member of a team sacrifices in order for the group to grow stronger.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? Nine

How active are you on a daily basis? As of today; i was re-instated to dedication to HF, So today on; 5-6 hours a day.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? It would very well please me for the opportunity to become a Hack Forum's Interviewer because i feel i can make a positive difference within the community. As an individual i enjoy writing and proof-reading sections of Wiki Answers, i have been nominated for my excellence in Grammar and Spelling in numerous School-related Events. I have a passion for/and a willing to continue my Career as a Journalist (In-Real-Life) and i feel that this could be an extraordinary place to excel.

Do you have Skype? Yes, i do.

How are you professional? I am professional in the means of Maturity and Integrity, i believe in instilling Integrity into us as individuals. I have very strong morals when it comes to doing what is right; given if anyone is watching, or is aware of what you are doing.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I don't think i (quite frankly) "Deserve" to become an Interviewer, because i have not yet given back to the community what i have been provided with. But, i do wish for the opportunity to fill this position.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? Yes, i do enjoy Writing, Reading and Proof Reading.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? I will be willing to do Interviews when-ever the chance to Interview is presented to me. If that includes having sent in one or more interviews by the re-occurring Sunday, then yes.

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings)They are long gone, but I have gotten 1 for a foolish marketplace violation that I was unaware of.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 8. I have been in Honors English all of my life if that means anything.

How active are you on a daily basis? I am on everyday for at least 2 hours.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I would like to be part of a group of educated people on hf, and I believe that this group fits the bill perfectly.

Do you have Skype? Of course.

How are you professional? I work in my Uncle's warehouse and I am responsible for meeting with clients and talking about payment plans/prices.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I am HQ, and I think I would be a good asset to the team.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I enjoy reading and writing, not a big fan of proof reading though.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Of course.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I think that my grammar is about a 9. I occasionally make a mistake, but i usually remain a high standard.

How active are you on a daily basis? I am on for at LEAST 2 and a half hours on week days, and about 5 hours on weekends. I have more than 10 posts per day, so i am fairly active on the forums.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I want to become an interviewer so that i am able to tell the members of HackForums about what is happening, and keep them up-to-date with the events that are occurring. I want to be helpful to people, and i want to increase my knowledge of the different aspects and views of different members.

Do you have Skype? I do not currently have a Skype, but i can make one.

How are you professional? I maintain a high degree of grammar and sophistication, i always find out the whole story before reaching a conclusion, i do not usually let my own feeling get involved in things in which they could influence my decision unfairly and i do not hold judgment over people for their past actions; unless it was a severe action.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I deserve to be an interviewer because i do not only take one side of a story; i will find out both sides from both parties; and also try to get other people who were involved to tell me what they saw happening. I think that is what people should know; as then there would be the least amount of bias as possible.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? If it is a topic that i am interested in, then yes. I go over my work personally, and read it word-for word, so even if the spelling is right, the word may be wrong.

On that topic of proof-reading..Spoiler (Click to View)Recuitment Page 1 Wrote:Don't add the HF News banner, Your own banner, Don't add your own section, etc. There shouldn't be a capital for "Your" and "Don't"

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Yes i am willing to send in the interview(s).

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? Well I would rate my grammar at a 7-8. I do make grammar errors here and there, but I will edit them out. I try my best to have good grammar, because I need it being in in TR and all. It also makes me look smart.

How active are you on a daily basis? I visit HF everyday. Some days I post more than others, but I will always visit the site to see what is going on and make sure nothing majorly bad has happened. I also like to participate in site things when I can.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I want to become a interviewer to help out the news, as well as meet people. I am a very social person and get along with most people. I feel it would be a good place for me to be and help out.

Do you have Skype? Yes I do.

How are you professional? I am professional because I know how to not overreact in situations, and keep a clam, cool mood. I will never rage on someone when they get me angry. I would rather outsmart them. ;)

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I deserve to be an interviewer because I want to find another way I can give back to the site. I really enjoy helping the site being a Reviewer, and this would be another way I can give back to the site that I love.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? If it is others work, yes. I like to help others to make it look better. I do not enjoy reading my own things at times because I see all the mistakes I had and could have easily avoided. But overall I can say yes, I do enjoy it.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes I would be. I am usually not all that busy on Sunday, and it would be a good way to keep me busy instead of sitting around doing nothing.

Thanks for reading!

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 7 - 8

How active are you on a daily basis? About everyday for about 4 - 5 hours.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? There are a few reasons why I would like to join Writer's I like typing, Writing and I feel confident talking to anyone to interview them. In the college course I am doing right now is basically what this group is doing and I think this group will help me through out my college course.

Do you have Skype? Yes I do kev94owned

How are you professional? Well I like to think I am a little bit professional I don't like being big headed but I can write out things very good.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I think I deserve a chance in the Interviewer's because I have awesome potential to get into good High Quality Groups such as this one.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? If I'm 100% honest yeah I love writing, I love writing little story's on telling people what to do, how things works, Same with Reading I Could read people's work for hours but the bad thing is I hate reading books. Proof reading we do that every single day in my College Course because it is a Business Admin & I.T so I need to proof read other people's work.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Of course I will love to do this, Think this would help me.

Thanks for Taking time to Read my Application.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? 10

How active are you on a daily basis? With regards to HackForums, I enjoy making frequent stops throughout the day to read up on the latest stories and headlines, and, if I find a particular topic appealing, I will usually toss in a thoughtful comment or helpful tip.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? Interviewing is a niche that I enjoy. As a former distinguished writer and publisher at a High School level, I have grown accustomed to the process of developing and recording interviews in a professional and journalistic manner. I know what questions to ask and I know how to write a sensational story, even if the topic is at the most mundane of levels. More importantly, I know what it means to make a deadline and how to manage a schedule.

Do you have Skype? Yes, I have the program.

How are you professional? I hold the experience and skills necessary in order to, without bias, illustrate a thoughtful story, and I have extensive experience covering a variety of topics. I further demonstrate my professionalism through my use of vocabulary, thoughtful insight and criticism of poor grammatical structure. More importantly, as I have stated above, I handle schedules and meet deadlines consistently, and my experience as a writer is replete with countless creative stories.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I justify this position as an experienced and devoted journalistic writer who is able to meet deadlines.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? My love for writing is unquestionable. Whether the stationary be physical or digital, I enjoy producing a medium that everyone can enjoy and find interesting. I have a deep reading comprehension for college material; however, if I am reading for enjoyment, I prefer a novel that is filled with uncertainty, suspense, deduction and, sometimes, violence. As a student, I have suffered from the merciless grading of my English professors; however, I have improved significantly since then. I carefully proofread my papers to ensure that they are free of grammar mistakes and small errors. As for my typography, I am willing to work with whatever parameters I am given.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? As a person who is already familiar and adept at making deadlines, submitting several interviews on a specified date is not a challenge for me.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

I would rate myself a 9.5/10. Don't want to be over confident but my grammar is definitely up to par.

How active are you on a daily basis?

Pretty active, Faced some inactivity because of school but now since I have a 3G phone it allows me to stay available around the clock.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

I want to become an interviewer because of my over skills and personality. If you ask anyone in Eminence I am quite the character. I am funny, smart, and know how to have a good time. But more importantly I'm a spokesperson. I love to conduct verbal interviews and am pretty quick with questions. I always make sure I know what I am talking about and know when and when not to jump off topic. I know a lot of good people to conduct interviews with as well, who are well known around HackForums. I think this is important because if you don't have anyone to interview you can't conduct an interview.

Do you have Skype?

Yes I do.

How are you professional?

I am professional because of my acquired skills. Currently enrolled in Marketing courses, I must always conduct myself in a professional manner. Besides that I run the biggest crypting service on HF. I got there because of my professionalism. I treated my customers right and was able to grow my business.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

Well I believe this was already asked but I think I DESERVE to be a interviewer because I am hard working, determined, and never the less fun to converse with.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

Well I enjoy writing and reading. I am not going to lie on an application so to tell the truth I don't care for proof reading to much. Although it is very important it's like picking fly shit out of a pepper.. In other words very tedious work.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

Of coarse, I wouldn't of invested my time into this application unless I was fully committed to doing these interviews.

If accepted I will set a goal of 2-3. That way I don't do too many and have hard times finding people to interview and at the same time having too many people to interview.

I see a lot of good applications here. I can only vouch for a few people. I can vouch for WiFi. as someone who can get something done, but further than that, I won't sat. It wouldn't be fair for me.

Although a lot fo these apps look like they were only 10 minutes long.
I think people should be spending more time on them.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

10, I was born and raised in United Kingdom, England. I'm currently in college and have very good grammar and English skills. During my GCSE's I received the following grades which are related to grammar;

-A in English,

-A in English literature

-B in media studies(studied under English).

How active are you on a daily basis?

College normally takes up my morning and after noon but after 4PM I'm usually on from 4pm - 10 pm taking odd breaks to eat or do chores.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

I would like to become an interviewer for the following reasons;

-I want to be someone who has done something positive for the forums, this forum has done so much for me as it is. So I would like this "job" as a way to give my bit back to HackForums.

-I would like to essentially "test"/"improve" myself and become a better person.

-I was a mentor and senior prefect during my time at secondary school and being a senior prefect involved me writing articles for our school "gazette". I can provide images through PM on request if I still have the articles.

Do you have Skype?

I do not have Skype at the moment, I have used Skype and I am fond with it and I can very quickly download it and use it when ever needed.

How are you professional?

When an idea is brought up, I first carefully listen to everyone and then input my ideas without putting any one else's down. I am confident in myself and my work. My attitude and punctuality towards a job is always 110%, I always work my hardest.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

I often do give-aways (normally very small but helpful to people) and release stories (example). Through this I've made quite a few good friends who I speak with daily/weekly. I want to make myself more known, maybe interview some important people on HF. I enjoy speaking to people whether it be over the internet or face to face.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

I very much do enjoy doing the above. I remember during my time in primary school I used to love to do comprehension, which is reading a mass of text then answering questions about the text, seems odd but I just loved reading and then answering questions about what I had read. I do always proof-read documents, work and information to verify I have made no mistakes.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

I'd happily send in one or more interview(s) every Sunday.

Thank you for reading my application.

My grammar is British English so my spelling may be different to the US English

(Only Answer this if you have warnings) " Flaming, Threatening, or Harassing (+15 points) " I don't remember what post I " Threatened, Flamed, Or harassed on " but the thread was junked and I don't do that stuff anymore. I usually get warnings for Wrong Forum posting cause I post TinyChat things in the lounge which is stupid but it's to get more people in.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? I think my grammar is literally at a 9.5. I have grammatical errors every once in a while. I'm from the US thus making my first language English. I'm good at writing essay's and more so I do believe I have great grammar.

How active are you on a daily basis? I get on when I get home, this is usually 4:00 PM Central Time, I'm on until around 7:00 PM because I have to go to my Soccer Practice and don't get home until 9:00 PM and then I have to do homework and etc. So I'm on for about 3 hours in the weekdays and usually all day Sunday and on Saturday it depends when my soccer game is so around 8 hours.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I want to be a interviewer because I'm always interested in people's opinions and I have fun asking people questions. I guess you can say I'm a bit " nosy " so I'm always glad to ask people stuff.

Do you have Skype? Yes.

How are you professional? Of course.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I think I deserve to be a interviewer because first you're looking for professional, smart, people to fill the position in. I think I deserve it because I believe I'm VERY qualified for the position.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I do enjoy doing it, I like critiquing others on how they write their work and I enjoy writing things myself.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? I'll do as many as possible.

Thank you for reading my application, I hope I am accepted.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

I believe my grammar is at a scale of 8 - 9. I generally make the odd error or two, but what can I say, I am human after all. :P

How active are you on a daily basis?

I classify myself as an active member of this community, I visit HackForums for about 3 or more hours every day.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

I've always had a passion for writing, ever since my grade 6 teacher congratulated me after writing a 10 page long novel that was at a grade 11 standard. Recently, I've been feeding this passion via writing eBooks, however, my passion keeps getting stronger. I believe this would be a great experience for both the HF News team and I.

Do you have Skype?

Yes I do, my skype is: blic.rules

How are you professional?

Depends what you mean by professional. If you interpret it as earning money from writing, then yes, I consider myself to be quite professional (earning here on HF). On the other hand, if you mean professional as in well-mannered, following conduct, etc. then I would say I'm pretty professional.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

I don't believe I deserve to be a reviewer, however it would be a privilege to become one. :)

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

Yes, I find writing, reading and anything to do with literature quite fun as it allows me to take my mind off what is happening in the real world.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday?

I'm more than willing to as my weeks are generally free.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? On a scale from one to ten, my grammar usage would probably be around a nine. In school I take Honors English 2. In case you don't know what "Honors" is, its a advanced class.

How active are you on a daily basis? I log on a daily basis but don't post much. I'm usually on from around 6PM Eastern to 10PM Eastern.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I would like to become an interviewer because I think it would be an interesting job with a lot of responsibility. I do not care for my "fame" on the Internet. If I did I would be posting on HF more often. I am just here to help where the held is needed.

Do you have Skype? Yes. If you would like to contact me my username is "I.ITunes".

How are you professional? I am not like the average 16 year old, I own my own business and have worked in many places. If you treat me with respect I will treat you back with respect.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I use proper grammar, enjoy writing, I'm professional, and I have no warnings on HF.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I enjoy writing anything from non-fiction to fiction. I read an abundance of books monthly at school and at home. I am what you call a "Grammar Nazi", I enjoy fixing peoples spelling a grammar mistakes.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes. That really shouldn't be a problem seeing that I am on daily for hours.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? It is quite difficult to judge. However, I do try my best to use a complex vocabulary, and proper punctuations. I would say, eight.

How active are you on a daily basis? Three to four hours. I am mostly active in group sub-forums.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I enjoy having to accomplish tasks, and I love groups with a sophisticated leadership system. I also enjoy contributing to such a large community!

Do you have Skype? I do.

How are you professional? I will complete all tasks before the given due date. My schedule is not 'packed', meaning that I have a lot of free time.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I do not consider 'interviewing' as work, I consider it as a pass-time. I will put much enthusiasm into my work, if accepted.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? In all honesty, proofreading other members' work can be irritating at times, but sometimes in life, we should have to accomplish things we dislike. I do however enjoy writing, and reading.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Indeed.

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten?

9/10. I still have some learning to do and like everyone I'm not perfect. I still feel my grammar is better than most though

How active are you on a daily basis?

3 hours every night at the least. Weekends I can do a good 10 hours.

Why do you want to become an interviewer?

I've always wanted to join the team and help. I've shown my interest here and there but to no avail. Most likely because the team was full, but I'm still pursuing my goal. I also enjoy interviewing people and asking the questions that want answering. I can also add a touch of humor into my questions to make sure the audience is enjoying the interview.

Do you have Skype?

Yes I do. As well as MSN and AIM.

How are you professional?

I am dedicated and enjoy what I do. If a deadline is set, I will make sure to hand in the work the day before or on the deadline. I try to make sure the work is complete a few days before so I may proof-read and add/remove anything. I have revived an "A" on my English Languages course and am very proud of it. I have now moved into A Level Media and think this would be a great opportunity to give me an advantage over everyone in my class. Infact to this day, I thank the Reviewers on my A in English. Without them correcting and helping, I would of never achieved that grade.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer?

Dedication, commitment and enjoyment. I love doing interviews and just general media. If you choose me you won't get a half-hearted attempt, you will get my all. I always make sure to put 100% in everything; if it's writing an interview or walking the dog. I'll make sure it's the best dam walk ever. Oh, and it's a good interview.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading?

Of course. Otherwise I wouldn't be applying. Writing and reading is one of my favourite things to do. Whether it's a comic, or a novel. I'll read it. If it's a interview for the news, or a story for a gossip magazine, I'll write it. I just have that love for literature and hope to be able to express that with the interviews.

Why did you receive your warning level? (Only Answer this if you have warnings)

How good is your grammar on a scale from one to ten? On a scale from one to ten, my grammar usage would probably be around a nine. In school I take Honors English 2. In case you don't know what "Honors" is, its a advanced class.

How active are you on a daily basis? I log on a daily basis but don't post much. I'm usually on from around 6PM Eastern to 10PM Eastern.

Why do you want to become an interviewer? I would like to become an interviewer because I think it would be an interesting job with a lot of responsibility. I do not care for my "fame" on the Internet. If I did I would be posting on HF more often. I am just here to help where the held is needed.

Do you have Skype? Yes. If you would like to contact me my username is "I.ITunes".

How are you professional? I am not like the average 16 year old, I own my own business and have worked in many places. If you treat me with respect I will treat you back with respect.

Why do you deserve to be an interviewer? I use proper grammar, enjoy writing, I'm professional, and I have no warnings on HF.

Do you enjoy writing, reading, and proof reading? I enjoy writing anything from non-fiction to fiction. I read an abundance of books monthly at school and at home. I am what you call a "Grammar Nazi", I enjoy fixing peoples spelling a grammar mistakes.

Are you willing to send in one or more interviews by every Sunday? Yes. That really shouldn't be a problem seeing that I am on daily for hours.

Just in case... This is me, my account got merged and banned but I sorted it out with omni. I can provide any proof you need.

UPDATE:

I'm currently reviewing all of the applications and I'm making a list of who I think should be an interview or I'm considering. So cross your fingers ?.

[IMG]<http://gfx.net/di-EHV5.png>[/IMG] We are no longer taking applications.

All submitted applications will be reviewed in detail by Reported, Sir, and me.

We have added a twist to acceptance. We will be posting a top five list within 24 hours.

The top five will be required to do an interview with a given member. The top two interviews will be the two new interviewers to our team.

Be on the lookout,
HF News Team

The time has come for the top five applicants.

I must say, personally, we had a lot of great applications, but we had to narrow it down to five people.

The five applicants are as follows:Michael Westen

Prominent

Daniel Faraday

Cymraeg

Infected Coding

The candidates must complete one interview each. I will announce the two members with the best interviews after we have reviewed them. These members will be the newest addition to the HF News Team.
