Thread: Email spoofer - Auto smtp detection - No need to use your email credentials

dreamer66 - October 15, 2011, 11:25 pm

Hey all,

Im releasing an email spoofer i made a few months ago just out of boredom. This email spoofer doesn't require your email and password in order to send an email. Also auto detects valid smtp to use based on where you are sending the email.

The only bad thing about not using email credentials is that a lot of spam filters might pick up the email as junk depending on how good their systems are. Other than that it should work pretty good :)

Awaiting for your comments/feedback.

PM'ed you the pass, please keep in mind for future reference that people are not glued behind the screen 24/7. So if you send a PM to someone at least give the person some time to respond instead of sending another one 30 minutes later.
