Thread: What happened to Aryan Bot?

[R]eaper - October 20, 2011, 9:28 pm

Hey, I was just wondering what happened with the major update of arian? I have been waiting for my bin for ages as I have paid good kesh for this bot.

I'm Gone - October 20, 2011, 9:42 pm

The builder is public, so you got scammed in some way, Atthackers left HF.

The cracked builder is public - however I am talking about the updated version which supposedly cure's cancer by the way atthackers described it.

It is obvious that the bin got cracked. However, supposedly there is a new bot in the process of being coded. If you already purchased the new bot then I think you made a mistake OP. I recommend waiting till a project is complete before purchase.

To me that just sound's like a way to make profit but I am unaware of the situation myself and don't follow it.

[R]eaper - October 20, 2011, 10:05 pm

I have paid for the old bin, which I do have - however I have not heard anything about the update which was apparently around the corner and it has been a few months since then.

Oh in that case dont expect too much. Honestly, Atteckers is really not concerned if you receive your bin or not. If he does release it. It will still not guarantee you a bin. Who knows it might come back with a new name in that case you are not entitled to a new bin becuae you paid for Aryan. That is how HF works. Good luck though mate.

Priv9 Asper Mods - October 21, 2011, 2:43 am

If you want to get your update go download asper then C+P n00bk1t into it, then you will have the new AryaN release long before skiddium finishes it.

American Apathy - October 21, 2011, 2:45 am

If I'm correct ATTHackers produced AryaN, look at all his other projects he's done and forgotten about.

Xp3 - October 21, 2011, 2:46 am

Every bot attheckers was to release was threatened to be cracked and released public, I think he gave up ?

deadaccount01 - October 21, 2011, 3:01 am

It disappeared into the mist of failure...attempted to rise again but was sadly slapped by that bitch named Karma. ?

abcderek - October 21, 2011, 3:26 am

I talked to the coder of this bot daily... I can ensure you the project is not done and just to let you know, he is just adding the finishing touches to the source... I have done test with the new aryan and can ensure you it will be sick and better then any other bot on HF

Ohh goodie, I can't wait to crack that skiddies failbot. ?

_char/atthackers isn't gone, he is back on fresh accounts. (one of them even has l33t already) ?

Sadly not, I wish he would just leave already. The forum doesn't need anymore fat american script kiddies pretending to be Russian.

CRT - October 21, 2011, 6:38 am

_char aka Attheckers got banned so I wouldn't expect the update anytime soon.

As if I would at all make it easy for you to crack i can insure you that the amount of anti-cracking measures that I have implemented will only making any attempts to crack aryan a waste of your life. Throughout the development of aryan's next update we have already had numerous people attempt to crack the bin, sadly all attempts so far have failed horribly. I never make the same mistake twice, I can insure you that if you attempt to crack it you will fail simple as that. But I do however wish you good luck if you choose to try cracking it, if you were to succeed I would be amazed.

The new update is in the works and is coming along smoothly along with plenty of new features that have yet to be announced, these features will be fully implemented and ready for its upcoming release.

As for all the talk about atthackers being related to this project... He is no longer part of the aryan bot project. He has left hackforums and everything involving it, in fact I haven't even spoken to him in over a month so I am presuming he just quit everything involving the hacking scene.

I am doing the best to finish this update for all of my customers, even without atthacker's around I have a list of all my customers I can insure you that you will receive your updates when they are released. I am close to completing the new update however it is hard to find time to work on it now that I am in college and already overwhelmed in school work. Just be patient and know that the AryaN project has not been abandoned and is still and will be in development even after this upcoming update.

Expect an AryaN bot builder within a week of the new versions release. ?

Along with the fact that although the bin itself is very secure and measures have been put in place to prevent cracking that's only the backup method for preventing it from being cracked. The primary method would be to keep it out of anyone's hands who would have intentions of cracking it. Of course you will eventually obtain a bin of the new aryan its just that much more time that its gonna take for you to even begin to attempt cracking it. So its completely stupid for me to do so. As we all know nothings impossible so im sure there is a way to crack it but by taking my time and further implementing even more measures to prevent it from happening, I will just be increasing the odds that you will fail in your attempts. Also don't say us as if you would even play a part in trying to crack the bin unless you are icarus which I doubt you would be doing nothing more then being the middle man for delivering the bin to him. Only 2 people to the extent of my knowledge have cracked aryan, the 1st being drizzle but after figuring out that he knew me from way back with a different alias he decided not to release it, the second person was icarus who was paid by xNull aka AdR Untied to crack aryan.

you are a useless xbox live script kiddie, i highly doubt anything that you have coded will be a challenge to crack. ?

Sorry but you cant even code, the last aryan bin was a failure. Are we going to believe your bot is super secure.

Also many more people have cracked aryan. I believe blair was the first, then mastejippo but both never made builders or didn't release. One of aadsters friends then cracked it and showed a working builder but never released it because he said it wasn't worth releasing (too true). In fact I'm pretty sure countless people cracked aryan before someone decided to release a public builder so the malware scene can become overrun with faggots using your epic fail of a bot.

P.S nu11 and xNull are completely different people.

You have no idea how many people you probably know that have originated from xbox live, most of them don't tell anyone that they did though. Also be in mind that the origins of where I started from has no impact on my coding skills, I have programming classes in college as well as everything I have learned on my own from bots. I have quite a bit of knowledge when it comes to coding weather you would like to believe it or not its your choice.

Hello, I allocate heaps for static 3byte variables and use HEAP_ZERO_MEMORY as a HeapFree flag, I am master hackforums bot coder.

then why waste your time coding irc bots (and shitty malware). ? why not put your skills towards something usefull? ?

Can't even code isn't even a probable statement, surely I can code so try being more specific with your next accusation.

Also good for anyone else who crack the previous arian it had little to no security and could have easily been cracked from day one if anyone peices together that it used an almost identical builder method that was used in xLoader. I didn't even contemplate taking any attempts towards securing it because I had no reason to believe people would have a need to crack a simple $100 bot.

Then please explain the difference between nu11 and xNull because I am getting very confused with everyone who now uses a Null alias.

I have 2 bots which is why the update is taking so long I have one that I privately use to myself and don't sell. As well as an IRC bot which I develop to sell on hackforums.
