Favorite Anime(s): Clannad, Kanon, Midori no Hibi, Itazura na Kiss.

Favorite Manga(s): Chobits, Death Note.

Favorite Anime Movie(s): 5 Centimeters per Second

How can you help/contribute to animeFAN!?

I am online almost every day and I am active in the AA section.

I always post with high quality spelling and grammar and I can also help people that are new to the AA section.

I'm also planning to do a contest in the near future.

A little bit about yourself:

I like Anime/Manga a lot since last year and I also like to learn new things every day.

I love to travel and go on an adventure with people that are close to me.

I am a nice and outgoing person and I love to help people in need.

A little bit about yourself:

I've liked anime ever since I was young, and I got all crazy when there were new episodes of Naruto back then. I steer away from mainstream anime nowadays though as I find the storylines of lesser known anime much more memorable. Aside from anime, I like playing the guitar and programming.

I'm also not wasting my time flaming random members.

However I'm very busy if my username doesn't trigger anything you should consider taking me in.

I'll leave MAL here: <http://myanimelist.net/animelist/Void-Wishes>

A little about yourself:

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

I was curious abt how the world works since my first memory science, human behaviour, religions, cultures, nature, medicine, engineering...

Now I'm not an expert in any of these, that was never my goal either.

I have a picture abt how for example cells work, but don't ask me abt the names given to various parts of it.

I started watching anime a year ago because I saw human desire reflected in it.

Ended up liking it.

It was this new fresh thing, so I spent hours marathoning anime...just love fresh input :) ;This however has normalized, and I doubt I'll be active more then another year.

I joined HF for the SSRP&AA section, I lurk and wait, read posts.

Having a botnet, ddossing, spreading, gaming, iStealing and selling accounts, rating, aren't any of my interests.

Done it few times.

SSRP is also rechewing the same lame questions again.

Guess AA is the section I use the most.

However I thought I might like coding; so I started slowly learning it, might take a few years.

Live alone do what I want drive a fast car like potatochips have a good bmi and love elfenlied (the song).

See if it's worth it, as said my time is limited, it's cool anyways.

PS I'm not loli, I thought you should know this since it might affect...

Favorite manga(s): None, I'm not too fond of manga atm.

Favorite anime movie(s): 5cm Per Second, Akira, and Howl's Moving Castle

How can you help/contribute to AnimeFAN: Been with AnimeFan from the start of my HF life and at the beginning I've always tried to help people find an anime they will enjoy. I tend to be very friendly so I don't start anything up.

A little about yourself: Like I said above, I've been in AnimeFan and the AA section from the start of my joining HF so I'm constantly looking in there. Although my post activity has fallen tremendously I am still there, just most of the threads I have no interest in because they are about things I have no clue about.

I like old school anime, something about it just seems better than newer stuff. So if you are in the mood for any of that just ask.

I like to think of myself as a pretty decent person, shy irl but online I tend to open up more. I'm on the IRC constantly as well as skype so you can talk to me there.

I was curious abt how the world works since my first memory science, human behaviour, religions, cultures, nature, medicine, engineering...

Now I'm not an expert in any of these, that was never my goal either.

I have a picture abt how for example cells work, but don't ask me abt the names given to various parts of it.

I started watching anime a year ago because I saw human desire reflected in it.

Ended up liking it.

It was this new fresh thing, so I spent hours marathoning anime...just love fresh input :) ;This however has normalized, and I doubt I'll be active more then another year.

I joined HF for the SSRP&AA section, I lurk and wait, read posts.

Having a botnet, ddossing, spreading, gaming, iStealing and selling accounts, rating, aren't any of my interests.

Done it few times.

SSRP is also rechewing the same lame questions again.

Guess AA is the section I use the most.

However I thought I might like coding; so I started slowly learning it, might take a few years.

Live alone do what I want drive a fast car like potatochips have a good bmi and love elfenlied (the song).

See if it's worth it, as said my time is limited, it's cool anyways.

PS I'm not loli, I thought you should know this since it might affect...

Accepted. I see you post actively in AA often.

A little about yourself:

I am a misanthrope, I love loud music, I like horror movies, and I laugh easily at night, but during the day I find it hard to laugh.

Confused with your application. You have no favorites and you watch anime as a contribution to AF. I cant accept this whether i want to or not.

How can you help/contribute to AnimeFAN: Been with AnimeFan from the start of my HF life and at the beginning I've always tried to help people find an anime they will enjoy. I tend to be very friendly so I don't start anything up.

A little about yourself: Like I said above, I've been in AnimeFan and the AA section from the start of my joining HF so I'm constantly looking in there. Although my post activity has fallen tremendously I am still there, just most of the threads I have no interest in because they are about things I have no clue about.

I like old school anime, something about it just seems better than newer stuff. So if you are in the mood for any of that just ask.

I like to think of myself as a pretty decent person, shy irl but online I tend to open up more. I'm on the IRC constantly as well as skype so you can talk to me there.

How can you help/contribute to AnimeFAN: At the moment I don't think I can, but as I watch, read and learn more, I may be able to.

A little about yourself: I discovered manga and anime a few months ago and fell in love with it straight away. The first anime I watched would be Death Note, then I read the mangas. Later on I borrowed some of my sister's manga, Rosario + Vampire. Read a few of them, watched Fullmetal Alchemist Brotherhood right now.

When I'm older I'd love to move to Japan. The country's beauty is outstanding and the language seems like a challenge to learn, but also very beneficial when it comes to anime and manga. I want to join to learn more and discuss things with other members.

Increase your activity in AA and i would be happy to accept you.

Favorite manga(s): Bleach (I sadly don't really read mangas. I can't afford them and I don't like reading off the internet.)

Favorite anime movie(s): Castle in the Sky, Spirited Away, and 10 Centimeters Per Second.

How can you help/contribute to AnimeFAN:

I can help people find good animes to watch.

I will more than likely host contests of some kind.

I will stay active in the AA section in hopes it will help bring more members.

A little about yourself: I am still in Middle-School (8th grade to be precise.). I like to write and draw though honestly I am not to good. I play clarinet for my school's band (I'm the only male now sadly D:). I started really watching anime during summer break before going to 8th grade. How can you be helpful/contribute:

I am very active on HF so you can expect a lot of activity from me on the Anime sub forum. I think that I can add to the discussion in a mature way.

A little bit about yourself:

I've been into anime even before I knew what anime was. Like many other kids, I was really into watching Pokemon. I took a break from anime in my preteen years but I soon discovered anime that could be interesting to teens/adults. I got the recommendation from my sister to watch Yu Yu Hakusho. After that, I was hooked! Soon after, I watched the Death Note series. Then I went on to Inuyasha. I have found that there are more Anime series to watch than the ones featured on Adult Swim. I really want to broaden the types of anime that I watch. I know a lot of people hate on Naruto but that's currently the anime that I'm watching. I don't care how mainstream or not mainstream an anime is; I just want something that will keep my attention. My favorite anime series tend to be the fighting kind. I prefer watching subbed.

My love for anime recently came back when I discovered that I pretty much have an unlimited supply on Netflix! I also enjoy playing anime type video games, and I want to get back into reading Manga.
