Thread: So what's the deal with Deal Cool and Deali Cool?

Cig?r - November 30, 2011, 12:50 am

Has anybody confirmed which site is working to buy the headphones from?

I have heard talk saying that Dealicool is fake and I have heard talk saying that Dealicool was legit. I am utterly confused.

Also, which websites sell the perfect replicas in a box? (Not the Dealextreme Ones.) I want black like the original Deal Cool ones.

Can you please post the links in this thread? Thanks.

Dealicool is legit and deal cool is gone. Dealicool is their new website. I just purchased some stuff couple days ago from dealicool since payoal is back up. So yeah you can purchase from dealicool and they are legit

Please look out for Dealicool they copied our website! We're NOT Dealicool!

Dealicool is not in any way asosiated with our Dealcool. Please stay away from them.

I don't see what all this stuff about beats is, they are really over priced. You can get decent Bose or Sony headphones which perform just as well for a fraction of the price.

There's nothing wrong with them because they are pretty nice but it really annoys me when skids run around thinking they're cool with their big ass beats round their neck.

That's because they changed their Twitter to <http://twitter.com/dealicoool> and someone claimed @deal_cool. LOOK AT THEIR FOLLOWERS. @deal_cool has 11 now and @dealicoool has ~300; it was the exact same account as the old @deal_cool.

Ahhh, Okay that explains it

Thanks

I just like the look of them. I agree, bose and sony sound good too but you cant get that brain shocking bass with them as you could with the beats.

I think they changed names so they could register a different paypal company, for a new paypal account.

This is what I think though, not sure.
