Thread: [\[TUT\] Flying Dutchman - How I place my text. \[Photoshop\]](#)

Flying Dutchman - December 7, 2011, 11:46 am

This is my first graphical tutorial, so bare with me. I've had many (literally over 20) requests on an explanation for my text placing. I've made a simple tutorial on how to do this.

Right after posting, I can see loads of spelling mistakes. Writing in photoshop is different and sometimes letters are skipped. Forgive me for that.

Nice tut bro,

And the actual picture when it was finished looked dope.

Sweet tutorial man. I would love if you made one for the actual creation of the signature though! haha, looks great.

Well done tutorial for text placement. Others can put this knowledge to good use :D

Excellent tutorial! One of the biggest downfall of signatures is improperly placed text, the "thirds" method has helped me, and I know it will help many others.

The tutorial looks really well done and organized! Great work, and I might consider using it! :D

Explains lot of stuff very well. It makes sense. Maybe that's why your stuff is so amazing.

Thanks for this guide! The rule of thirds was something I learned later on and wished that I learned it when I first began working on graphics.

Thank you for sharing this !

Good method

keep it up

Flying Dutchman - December 26, 2011, 4:07 pm

No problem. I'm glad that it was usefull for all of the above.
