Who said that he actually SE'ed it ?? ?

I had one of these, but then my brother spilled shit all over it. I sold the screen for 500$ on ebay.

So if you ever break the computer, you can do that to make some money back from it, I also read somewhere that the hard drives that come with them have a high failure rate.

It appears that since my post the thread content has been revised.

How do you people do it?! The best thing I've ever tried to get free is an iphone, and that failed. even with a legit credit card...

You did something wrong lol. Remember you are too young you don't own a credit card. You have to think outside the box. That has never happened to me before. PM me and tell me what you did.
