Interested in the shared hosting plans. Got a few questions:

What's the uptime?

What's the server location?

Do you allow nulled scripts?

What do you do when you receive DMCA complaints?

How many sites are hosted on a single server?

Do you offer smaller custom packages?

I've had this hosting for a month now, and I can vouch for it's uptime and reliability.

The only problem I've had so far is that the cpanel is down once or twice a month, but a quick email and that gets fixed right away.

Vouch for these guys.

The nameservers are still

NS2.XTREMEHOST.CO

I just never switched the IP to the new servers IP so those nameservers point to the new server.

I did switch them though im just waiting on it to take affect!

You get cPanel with WHM to make the packages but you must purchase your own WHMCS License

WHM is different then WHMCS?

Create Unlimited Cpanel Accounts

Unlimited Space

Unlimited Bandwidth

Best way I can break it down is

You login cpanel then whm is an add on to cpanel where you make your accounts via whm

Then you buy WHMCS license as your billing system

VPS=Virtual Private Server.

1.Remote computer you mean like teamviewer? No its the worst shit I have ever heard of. I like to use commands to control my server not GUI.

2.Yeah install programs, Ex yum install php

3.No some have VCN but its useless.

4.Its not a vpn its a server...

5.Torrents? Whats the point of that? Just waste of bandwidth and disk space.

DirtyBit - April 8, 2012, 7:02 am

Someone is using up all the disk space. Fail.

My PayPal is trying to make me pay by eCheque even though I'm sure I have enough (I have £2.14, it wants £1.91), I assume it's the deductions though.

Is there any chance I can pay via eCheque and you can still activate my order? I can provide proof I've added funds with screenshots in a ticket or PM if you want. (When the money is added the money is automatically deducted and sent to you due to the eCheque.) I can understand if it's better for me to wait for the money to enter my PayPal though.

If you are paying via eCheck then you must wait until the funds are processed to our side. We have had multiple people do the same thing and then screw us over so if you order you must wait.

DirtyBit - April 21, 2012, 8:59 am

Honestly, avoid this host at all cost. The word shit comes to mind whenever I think of Xtremehost. I've had problems with them within a month of purchasing. First the disk space capacity was being all used up (thus making MyBB have a "1030 - Got error 28 from storage engine" problem). He couldn't solve this problem if his life depended on it.

Didn't keep me updated about the new server until I badgered him about what was going on (with the error). Great, I get compensated for it by pushing the due date till May 1st (originally...April 25 or something [Whoopie, 5 days for...almost 2 weeks worth of crap]) and he provides the new details for the server. Point my nameserver towards what he's given me. And what? The server isn't working! Frankly, not surprised. The expectation of Cunningham (even with so many vouches), has sunken so low.

Oh, I thought something was wrong with the new details so I repointed my nameserver to the old information, the issue still isn't resolved about the disk space.

Pathetic.

Hi, I have a ImageBoard website, I use the script TinyBoard. In my currently host, I have 350GB bandwidth and in 5 days I have used 22%, I think its a DoS of some random guy, because the web site have less than 50 unique visitors per days. If you want to see the website send me a PM

I have some questions before purchase another hosting:

- You have a problem about host jailbait pics?
- The site its like 4chan, but in spanish, with little traffic and disk space used
- Where is located the server of the shared hosting?
- What is or How works your DDoS Protection(If you have)
- You have LiteSpeed WebServer, CloudFlare, Cloudlinux or something?

I still have not had the chance to use my hosting. The nameservers you have given me haven't worked since I bought on 4/12/12. I have opened up support tickets and such, but you just give me the same ones. Obviously, there is something wrong if I tried dot.tk and namecheap to put the nameservers to yours. I'm pretty sure it is down right now too, I'm most likely switching hosts because of the poor support and service. I expected so much more...

Using nameservers with the following IPs: 37.221.160.61,37.221.160.61 Sorry, the domain is already pointed to an IP address that does not appear to use DNS servers associated with this server. Please transfer the domain to this servers nameservers or have your administrator add one of its nameservers to /etc/lps.remotedns and make the proper A entries on that remote nameserver.

I'm using these nameservers.

ns1.xtremehost.co

The reason why Xtreme Host went down last time was far more different then just leaving. I went on vacation and Delta took $ from me I gave him to invest with for Xtreme Inc and Full WHMCS Control, when I was gone he changed the WHMCS Info so all Payments would go to him and he didn't invest a penny. Then he sold the dedis for cheap and just ran. I had no funds, no servers and there was nothing I could do. It was just a fucked up situation.
