

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Usagi Drop

Happeh - December 17, 2011, 1:39 pm

Anyone seen this? If you haven't I really recommend it. Soooo cute and such a feel good anime. ^^

Here's a little more information on it: <http://www.anime-planet.com/anime/usagi-drop>

Ranked #9 on Anime-Planet, so it can't be that bad right? :D

FOR THOSE WHO'VE WATCHED IT \(Click to View\) I hope they do a second season, I want to know whether Rin will meet her mother or not, and if she'll grow into a beautiful young lady. :)

Marshmellow - December 17, 2011, 2:49 pm

I've seen it.

It's not for everyone though, as it's slightly different from the regular animes that most people would watch. Both animation-wise, and feeling-wise.

You should definitely check it out though.

Happeh - December 17, 2011, 3:08 pm

(Dec 17, 2011 03:49 PM)Marshmellow Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've seen it.

It's not for everyone though, as it's slightly different from the regular animes that most people would watch. Both animation-wise, and feeling-wise.

You should definitely check it out though.

Animation isn't that different. The only difference is the small 1 minute beginnings are animated with a hand painted style. It is different though, but to me, I feel appeals to everyone.

-DownFall - December 17, 2011, 3:11 pm

Never seen it, I'm gonna bookmark this for tonight (almost done watching the last season of DTB), and start watching it.

I need a break from action/horror anime, and I like the description of this one.

Thanks!

[animeFAN!] Shana - December 17, 2011, 3:13 pm

Don't know why I've stalled it. It's a really good anime from the episodes that I have seen and it's very heart warming. Recommend to anyone that hasn't watched it or is thinking about watching it.

Marshmellow - December 17, 2011, 4:09 pm

(Dec 17, 2011 04:08 PM)Happeh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Animation isn't that different. The only difference is the small 1 minute beginnings are animated with a hand painted style. It is different though, but to me, I feel appeals to everyone.

I know for a fact that it doesn't appeal to everyone though.

Rakshasa - December 17, 2011, 4:29 pm

(Dec 17, 2011 05:09 PM)Marshmellow Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I know for a fact that it doesn't appeal to everyone though.

Nothing will ever appeal to everyone, that's self explanatory..

Marshmellow - December 17, 2011, 4:47 pm

(Dec 17, 2011 05:29 PM)LmfaoADoing Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nothing will ever appeal to everyone, that's self explanatory..

But of course. I am just saying that it doesn't always appeal to the general anime audience.

Reki - December 18, 2011, 6:33 am

I haven't watched the anime, but I've read the manga. I love the concept of the whole thing, especially Daikichi taking up the stand to take care of Rin. I really have to watch the anime though, it looks like it follows the manga quite closely.