Thread: [\[Suggestion\] Pop up for new users](#)

kingpin69 - December 10, 2009, 11:32 am

I think it would be beneficial for other members on this forum if new users when they sign up and try to view a thread a message will come up saying the forum administrator or whoever would like you to view a message b4 you continue telling them that if they insist on using an online virus scanner to use novirusthanks.org and also advising that they can also download and run files n sandbox rather than any online scanners or along with novirusthanks. they have something like this on another forum that i shall not mention and its very effective. you have to wait like 15 seconds before you can click the continue button. i don't know how viable it is to integrate on this forum but its just a suggestion to try and make programs FUD for longer. ?

That's same as supporting malware spreading and protecting, which is illegal. My guess is NO.

If people don't have the common sense and decency to use novirusthanks to scan people's hard work, then they don't deserve it. I just had to say that, I hate it when fag's use VT etc to scan crypters and such. People just don't pull FUD working code out of their asses. They are lucky to have it in the first place.

Anyway, if that was done it just makes the site/Omni too involved. People must use common sense.

how about a popup like he said but forcing them to read through the rules before they can post?

tbh that is probably the single most stupid comment i have read since joining here. do u even know how many people who are signed up here are under sixteen? and how many people do you "know" on this forum personally? i would have thought the answer to be none. and i'm sure you've downloaded programs from here. I personally sort of agree on the age thing though, most of these kids should be concentratin on school and not hacking.

13 is the minimum age to join, 16 is the advised maturity level.

On Topic: keeping a file infected for longer is a bad idea since HF is white hat forum.

I had a PM message on signup before. I have to set that up again. It was disabled after our site was exploited. Anything thing on my todo list. OMG so fucked.

Sweet. Looks like Omni is experiencing some bad grammar. Lol.

OP: Maybe PM to the rules. Lol.

All he suggested was to scan files on NVT.. thats not a black hat method in its own right...

There you go.

Okay I added the PM on registration message. It points to the help files and gives some other info. Hopefully it will help but in general people ignore this type of thing imho.

Yea, well, if people weren't retarded and read shit, this wouldn't be needed.

theboner - January 11, 2010, 10:06 am

Well IMHO this is a "whitehat" site so there is no need to have anything fud as the people who are supposed to be downloading this are not supposed to do this blindly. Yes I do admit when the fags scan at VT it pisses me off especially if I have that program but in all reality there are alot of dumb people out there.
