Thread: How to transfer cracked apps from you iDevice to iTunes\(For after updates\)

I needed this really bad and I was looking around, it's very simple.

It's basically for whenever there's an update (like recently) your Installous apps get deleted, you gotta re-download them all.

1. Download iExplorer - <http://www.macroplant.com/iexplorer/download-pc.php>
2. iDevice must be connected.
3. var>mobile>documents>installous>downloads
4. Highlight them all (Click one, hold shift, then click the last one)
5. Create a "Cracked Apps" folder then drag them all in there.
6. Open iTunes
7. Highlight the apps, then drag them into iTunes!

I needed this because many apps are not there in Installous and my friend says that all apps are available.

I don't know but I can't find some of them so I will use this method for moving the apps to my iPod touch. Thanks a lot for tutorial.

Your welcome but the apps you move must still be downloaded ON installous I had the same problem lol isn't there an extension on cydia that allows you to sync cracked apps in iTunes?

Døn - December 22, 2011, 10:48 pm

Remember when you unjailbreak, iTunes will not let you sync them back.

G?dly - December 22, 2011, 10:49 pm

Why would you unjailbreak?

and when you do that it just makes it so iTunes doesn't delete it I think.

Some things might go wrong and you would need to restore. Also even if iTunes does not delete them; you can't sync them because App Sync is not there

G?dly - December 22, 2011, 11:23 pm

Yeah it is? If you need a unjailbreak do it, leave them on iTunes re-jailbreak get appsync, and all.

Ya I said if your still unjailbroken. Shit man read!

G?dly - December 23, 2011, 12:01 pm

I did read.. :(Y U B hurtin MI feelings? All you have to do is rejailbreak it though.

This is assuming that you didn't delete your installous downloads.
