Which number will you want?it's said the order in which you post is the number choosen by you

It said "The order you chose your prize is determined by the order your number is called."

After two weeks, I will chose three winners. I will go to random.org and pick three numbers. The number random.org picks first will have the option to go first. The second number will go second and the third number will pick last.

So all of you have to pick a number. If you don't I will just assign you one.

Because no one picked a number, I just assigned you a number. If you want it changed, post here.
