Thread: A little java popup reminder.

Riverthief - December 14, 2009, 5:12 am

I reckon that a little java message box appearing when you go to /subscribe.php that says "HFL337 is not instant. They have to be reviewed manually. Please be patient." would be a great idea. It would stop the 5-6 threads a day saying "HFL337 WTF??? WHERE IS IT????", and would save mod's time. Even though it's not that much of a bother.

Discuss ?

I agree. This would somehow lessen the "HFL337 WTF???" threads in this section. ?

?agicSpeed™ - December 14, 2009, 5:20 am

A good idea indeed.

Madafaka - December 14, 2009, 5:21 am

I like it cause I'm sick of those threads lol.

Riverthief - December 14, 2009, 5:57 am

Glad you all like it :)

Hopefully this or something similar gets put into effect

iBruteforce - December 14, 2009, 7:42 am

Or perhaps it can be written on /subscribe.php in bold lettering.

lol, people wont read it, even a popup, people will just click away without reading. Remember Internet Rule #1 : 99% of people are idiots.

Maybe both, or plus a whole page for it. Im sure ppl will notice it

Omniscient - December 14, 2009, 9:24 am

I don't entirely mind since it probably brings more exposure to upgrading in general.

Code the javascript to not allow anyone to perss the "Okay" button for 5 seconds or so. Also, make the message short, simple and sweet. No moer than two sentences.

It'll get the point across.

Make it like a compulsory 5 second wait, then a lot of people would read it instead of clicking through :)

Nima304 - December 24, 2009, 3:33 pm

If you think people won't notice it, just make it a rule that you can't post those kinds of threads. Then, it doesn't matter whether they notice it or not. They'll be warned. Everyone reads warnings.

I really do think this is a good idea. It would probably stop the incessant threads about it.
