Thread: [\[TuT\] An Alternative Spreading Method \[TuT\]](#)

Raykoid666 - December 15, 2009, 10:01 am

Okay, I have done a new spreading method lately, and it works pretty well for me so I decided to share it

You will need:

Atleast some form of a botnet (from as little to as big as you want)

A keylogger/password stealer/rat (basically anything that will get you msn/facebook/... passwords)

A small bit of time and patience

Some social engineering skills (you need to be able to convince others you are someone else atleast the slightest bit)

So basically, the steps are as such:

Upload your stealer/rat/keylogger server to any host that allows you to direct link (Spam.com is a good free one)

Infect your bots with the server you just uploaded through the download function in your bots

You should soon be getting passwords to facebook/msn or other kinds of social networking site

Upload your bot server somewhere with icon changed, name changed, ... to make people think it's something else (online radio client, keygen, ...)

Get into someone's facebook/msn/... and start talking to people and spread the bot

Thanks for reading all and I hope it helped you out a bit or atleast gave you some inspiration

Thats nice of you trying to help out :P

Ima try this lol,nice thread umami smokes shisha - December 15, 2009, 11:12 am good but instead of talking to people, you can also post a bulletin =]

Neroxan - December 15, 2009, 11:16 am wow, thats like the easiest tut ever. Why not spread it from your own account and just have an error message come up?

King Kong - December 15, 2009, 11:31 am

I actually tried this recently, but I just used metus and got some peoples facebooks and update status' I also got a youtube account with about 600 subscribers. I got almost 480 bots that one night. Sometimes it works, but not a lot of people downloaded off facebook. I should have talked to people on facebook chat. Oh well, I can do it again whenever. Nice short tutorial. ?

You reach more people with other accounts, and if you get a facebook with lots of friends, or a youtube with a lot of subscribers, you already have an audience and you can hijack that profile and upload your own stuff to it and so on. So it's faster than building your own audience

True true :-)

Or just go to chat rooms with a bunch of horny guys pretending to be a girl and tell them they are nudes lmao. Works pretty good. :]

kinda depends, i used to do this on 4chan, but since i tend to upload keyloggers to my bots afterwards, i found that the quality of the logs was really bad since most of those people do nothing all day but watch porn...

Now, if you manage to find a person with a lot of gaming friends/downloaders/.... you get steam, #, ... == $$$

You could easily make a little Perl script to assist in any of this, with LWP it would hardly take any real work, unless you needed to use regexp's, although I don't think you'd need spend much time on them

Yeah making a script to do it came to my mind but unfortunately, my perl goes only as far as sending basic commands to a server yea i got this chicks myspace once and she had like 12,000 friends. she was some kind of model. and i posted a bulletin encouraging her friends to download the video of her drunk and half naked at a party. worked VERY well. but that was a long time ago. before i gave away my net to a friend when i went to bootcamp.

Yeah, myspace works too :-)

hmm didn't check myspace out yet gonna check in my logs right now who i have there...

Kink - December 16, 2009, 7:11 am this is Old and Is very hard to do if you have Sucky ass Social Engineering Skills.

HsiX - December 16, 2009, 7:15 am phish one myspace account mail friends turn one into many start spreading

i guess in this way it will even go faster.

and wenn your out of accounts, get some from your logs

Da Loser - December 16, 2009, 7:31 am sorry to sound like an asshole, but your saying log into facebook / msn and convince everyone to download your bot? /fail the whole idea of botnets was to upload your bot somwere and have it spread with little input as possible: worms, drive by exploits, binding to popular apps and so on. i would not recomend wasting your time doing this shit.

P.S anyone reading this thinking ahh what a great idea i never thought of this... im guessing my cup of tea has a higer IQ than you. you realy not to think for yourself / use common sense.

bump for some more people to see :-)

[B]iishop - December 22, 2009, 2:59 am

I did this as one of my methods...didnt work as well as I thought. I sent every one of there friends a message saying "is this you in this pic?" with the download link. And only got about 30-50 bots. I did this with friend blaster pro, and all the other Blaster Pro's...its a OK method i guess.

Syren - December 22, 2009, 3:06 am

Not so difficult, if you're good in social engineering off course.

Nice tut!

Frag_Bag - December 22, 2009, 6:55 am

I've thought of this before but never had the resources to do it, thanks for the share.

wtfu - December 22, 2009, 8:46 am library's, are the best and the easiest.

Hano - December 22, 2009, 5:09 pm

Another similar way I have used is to just email everyone in their contact list a attachment making it look like a chain letter and saying "lol funny" or something like that. It doesn't gather many bots though and I think the OPs way would have the same problem. Been thinking of doing the facebook thing for a while but it takes so long to do loads and with facebook don't replys all get put into the same message so would look suspect.
