[img]http://i1178.photobucket.com/albums/x363/vsinger1/Tech.gif[/img]

Thanks to McFlurry for the header.

About the group

Sorry for this short introduction. It is really early in the morning, and I am really wanting to just get this up. Well, as we are implementing new changes into the group and making things easier, we need to recruit.

This recruitment is going to be very different. The group is a bunch of dedicated members working together under one leader, to bundle up information that has been gathered and post it for the forum to see. That way the forum members gain more knowledge in Technology then normal.

This group is not all about technology though, it is about whatever you want to write your tutorials on. As long as you run your own group.

New Changes

- No more recruiting via thread. All done by usercontrol panel now.
- No more factions, espada and confusing words. All groups and leaders now.
- Each group helper will pick there group title. Not given one.
- Everything can be done by there own now, not me having to always give new projects.
- More activity will come through the group now, hopefully when we hit more than a 100+ members again.
- Projects from the Techsperts will be all over the main sections soon, so the name will once be out again.

Requirements

Only because I will look over each individual profile, and if it does not meet the expectations that I have, you will not make it.

The rule of 30% warning level or higher is still in effect. That is the only requirement.

How to do so

Click this link.

Then go down until you reach the Techsperts section.

Click "Join Group"

In the "Reason" box.... enter your application.

Application

No, there is not a set application, just make one up.

This is so we don't ask the questions, you just give us the information you think we would want and that will determine if you make it in or not.

When accepted

*Please review the following threads so you know what is going on!

- New Changes! - Must read.
- [\[Official\] - Handbook](#)
- The rest you will see when you arrive in the subforum.

Post then apply.

Read this post.

The rule of 30% warning level or higher is still in effect. That is the only requirement.

I think you should reword that as it may cause some confusion.

-Dartz - January 14, 2012, 11:01 am

Sorry, applied then posted.

But yeah, I posted. You may want to fix your requirements, though. It makes it sound like you need 30% warning level or higher to get in.

jlive88 - January 14, 2012, 11:02 am i just applied to the group, good luck to everyone else who has also :?:

NieR - January 14, 2012, 11:03 am

K?ala - January 14, 2012, 11:10 am

I applied. I wish the best of luck to everyone.

Cronus- - January 14, 2012, 11:10 am

I will be applying. This was the first group I ever wanted to join, however, I didn't meet the requirements before.

Positive - January 14, 2012, 11:20 am

I looked over the 200+ applications that came in.

If it was left blank or said only one or two things, it was denied. Also, things like "I love techsperts" and "I would love to join" do not get you in.

I expected well over 30+ people. Be happy.

This will not be going on forever, this is just to boost members and activity. Enjoy.

Sports. - January 14, 2012, 11:23 am applying now, really hope I am accepted

Ok i am gunna join this awesome group good luck to all members :)

Positive - January 14, 2012, 11:34 am

I have looked over again all the recent 23 applications.

Only 5 were accepted, due to people putting "I am a boss, let me in" and shit close to that.

Just because your a boss, doesn't mean you have knowledge.

Sounds great Numb.

And Koala, I have PMed you explaining why.

I am not going to tell everyone why they were denied. I do not pick and choose favorites, I simply review your profile and application.

Again, to all who say I am accepting everyone.... that is not true.

I have denied over 600+ people. I am not picking favorites and all that shit. Just simply profile and application review.

Legacy. - January 14, 2012, 12:09 pm

Thanks for accepting me too Positive. I'm really grateful for the opportunity.

'Tis not true.

I removed most of the old members, all of them were unactive.

Some of them are still here, and active, but they are helpers and leaders now.

(Jan 15, 2012 03:15 PM)irc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) When can we re-apply to join the Techsperts if we got declined?

Whenever you would like. I do not control that.

If I see the application more than once, I could care less.

I am reviewing each profile and application.

Big Baller Shot Caller - January 15, 2012, 3:07 pm

Glad to be accepted, that is all and I will check out the TS section, I hope to find some cools stuff.

You can reapply instantly, I don't care.

After so many times, I will put you on my ignore list but still... if you can't get in this group, then you must not know how to live life. The thing I am looking for in applications is so easy.

I am not giving explanations as to why I am declining people.

I will never decline someone because I hate them. I hate a few people with everything, are in. I review your profile and application. I am looking for a few simple things. No one knows what they are.
