Did you test it locally to be sure it was ran?

Roytoy - December 25, 2009, 2:33 pm

no . i live in Syria and i tested it on someone from the UK and it didnt work.

does the victim has to be from the same country or something?

(in case you mean by locally that i tested it on myself then no xD)

Dude you have to test it on your self first, to make sure it's working.

It could be that your ftp settings aren't correct, which is probably the most likely reason, or you don't have any passwords stored on your computer.

Yeah maybe. But i just discovered that the virus is being named .jpg instead of .exe in the end . So thats probably why it wasnt working xD Sorry wrong quote.....
