Thread: [Google Chrome constantly freezing. Adobe Shockwave crashing? \[Fixed\]](#)

Rippin™ - January 29, 2012, 7:32 pm

It's fuckin annoying and keeps on happening. Anyone know how to fix it?

Edit: Think I fixed it. Go here.

yep i get this shit every single fucking day it gets on my nerves im about to uninstall this shit and go back to firefox..

Mike Ross - January 29, 2012, 7:40 pm

I am having this problem also, I normally have like 5 videos loading on youtube then I finish watching one, close the tab and boom Flash crashes and I have to close chrome.

I honestly have no idea why but for both our sakes I hope someone does.

mrwhich - January 29, 2012, 7:41 pm

I have this happen a lot when trying to upload files in hotmail... restarting the browser seems to fix it for a while but eh it shouldn't be happening. Also happens from having multiple videos open and trying to close one sometimes as others said.

Mob Zombi - January 29, 2012, 7:42 pm

Just uninstall and reinstall the programs you are speaking of and that should fix your problem.

Exactly the problem that I'm having. It's annoying. It started happening maybe a week ago for me. Possibly after I did Windows Update's.

Yeah, I am also getting it. It is really starting too piss me off too. Thought it was just me, until now.

R3lentlessly - January 29, 2012, 7:46 pm

OMFG I have been having the same problem lately. Everytime I close a window on a youtube video my chrome crashes! Also when I close other tabs too

It's when I do the same thing, I was stupid enough too keep clicking restore, then I finally got smart.

Try disabling the OS flash install instead of the one built into chrome. Maybe that will work?

bytez - January 29, 2012, 8:04 pm

happening for me too.

When closing youtube videos, it crashes :(

Thanks but no luck with that either. Seems to have started a month or two ago.
