

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Sub-section or a splitted section

Shao - January 31, 2012, 7:55 am

Cheers

Currently we use the following section for all kind of cryptography:

Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption

I suggest to creat a small sub-section for "encrypted" passwords. The reason Im suggesting this is that there are too many people interested in crypters for their trojan, keylogger and so on. I simply can't keep track of the other posts. They are burried.. ? It would be easier if there would be a sub-section where everyone could post his hash (md5, sha1, des..) ?

Thanks ?

Vendor2 - January 31, 2012, 7:56 am

Agree, that section is only about 'cypters for viruses'.

??????! - February 1, 2012, 12:56 pm

I do agree with your suggestion. Lets see what the others have to say.

PedroDJ - February 5, 2012, 2:28 am

I agre for a sub section dedicated to decrypting password.

Regards

Nepal Cyber Army - February 7, 2012, 10:44 am i do agree with your suggestion dude..

Wires - February 7, 2012, 11:15 am

If their burried theirs the search tool. I completely disagree and I think Omni would too but I speak for myself when I say the category is named Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption. Which Encrypted passwords and hash's also come under, due to their a type of encryption on a file or program.

Shao - February 7, 2012, 1:54 pm

Don't get me wrong. ? I know it is similar but there is still a huge different. Crypters for trojans and password algorithms are different.

Go there: Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption

5 Sticky about crypters. 15 posts on each site where 12 posts are about the crypters for trojans. So I think it doesn't make sense to keep them together. If you ever tried to help some people with their encrypted passwords you will see what I mean. There are like 3x more posts about crypters for trojans and many threads with "help please" or "check this please". It would be way faster if they use an own section. The people who want to help could focus on the important posts and won't waste time with wrong threads.

(Feb 7, 2012 12:15 PM)??? P?βl????? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If their buried theirs the search tool. How would you search new posts? There are about 5 new sites today. You will have to go through 50 sites or something if you don't check this board every day. That's why I suggested a section for the crypters and a sub section for passwords hashes.

brack - February 9, 2012, 11:21 am i agree with Shao, be a good idea to keep them apart, would make it easier for crackers to find those who need our help :)

krhr_krhr - February 10, 2012, 6:40 pm

yes we need ..its very important..I agree with u bro

rAtoN - February 11, 2012, 9:14 am

I am agree ..

We this section is full of crypters ...

Really it dont help

Makaveli The Don - February 11, 2012, 10:18 am

I must say that I honestly agree, because it would clean the mess in that section. Let's just wait for a response.

JoinSeventh - February 13, 2012, 7:41 am

I support this idea.

I've noticed that when people want their hash decrypted they post it in "Website and Forum Hacking" because they know nobody will notice their threads in "Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption".

norboost - February 16, 2012, 11:19 am

Agreed, for those interested there's nothing wrong with all the crypter threads, but it's kind of a pain to browse through when you're looking for something related to "encrypted" passwords / hashes

knightdj - February 18, 2012, 7:25 pm

just came to the forum and discovered this exact issue,, looking for decoding an encryption and bit worried my post will be buried

Predator_Crack - February 19, 2012, 2:22 am

I have to agree. It will clear the subforum's mess and i will be glad apart of the members that will finally report any related thread for moving and making stuff's work easier. Let's see the responses.

Who wants LR? - February 19, 2012, 3:09 am

It's a good idea, although chances are that nothing will happen.

Shagtacular - February 20, 2012, 9:31 am

Totally agree with Shao. As someone who needs decrypting quite often, it's way to easy for my posts to get buried under all the other topics.

Xylon - February 20, 2012, 9:43 am

I totally agree with you! You have my vote to add a sub category!

Nullusia - February 24, 2012, 4:58 am

I agree with this. Crypters should have a different section totally and this should have its own as they're different in their own respects!

Jarwain - February 24, 2012, 6:00 am

(Feb 24, 2012 05:58 AM)Airy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree with this. Crypters should have a different section totally and this should have its own as they're different in their own respects!

Actually, I think it'd be more efficient to move Crypters to a subforum within the Encryption, than for actual encrypted things to be moved to a subforum within encryption. What would it be called? "Unlocking Passwords and Decoding messages"? Thats essentially what the message is for the forum overview.

Anyways, it would be more organized to have Crypters in their own subforum, similar to how the Marketplace now has a stress-testing forum for all the stress testers. Why move whats Supposed to be there, instead of what only Kinda belongs there

Shao - February 24, 2012, 8:51 am

I have to agree with you but I guess the problem is that the most people think "Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption" is all about crpyting their trojan, virus, keylogger and other malware. There are a few others who don't manage to encode or decode download links or download passwords which crypto.com ??? As you can see the most people don't know much about it. You can see so many posts that make no sense. People who are to lazy to read. I don't want to link those topics but they all start with "whats that???", "help plzz" or "need fud plzz".

I would just like to have an own forum for password cracking without the crpyters and without the crypto.com-guys. Just some forum far away from the crypters so they wont find us and don't start spamming there. ?

Massih - February 24, 2012, 5:04 pm

I agree with your suggestion!
Would be great

?Monkey ?D. ?Luffy - February 26, 2012, 11:48 am

This actually sounds like a pretty good idea. There are people who need hashes cracked fast.

/Signed

r3m1x - February 26, 2012, 2:10 pm

i like this sub section. appreciate the help btw! :)

mitpat - February 29, 2012, 12:43 pm

Sounds like a great idea, i'd vote to add it in

Filthy Rich - February 29, 2012, 1:09 pm

Yea i completely agree, ive been looking for crypters for my rat and over 50% of the threads are about passwords, this would make the search much easier =)

Jarwain - February 29, 2012, 3:28 pm

@filthyrich I think your sight is backwards... I've seen more crypters than I have actual encryption.

Shao - March 1, 2012, 11:01 am

(Feb 29, 2012 02:09 PM)filthyrich Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yea i completely agree, ive been looking for crypters for my rat and over 50% of the threads are about passwords, this would make the search much easier =)

This is not true. ? Nevertheless, if we split the section it will also fix your problems. win-win-situation ?

UnEntitled - March 2, 2012, 2:29 pm

(Jan 31, 2012 08:56 AM)Vendor Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Agree, that section is only about 'cypters for viruses'. No it's not. Passwords and program crypters both fall under a 'cryptography' section.

Odin the Wanderer - March 3, 2012, 12:01 pm

very helpful i would love to see a area on HF just for hash cracking and other related topics

-DicE- - March 4, 2012, 12:12 am

I agree, Sounds like a good idea honestly.

Æther - March 4, 2012, 12:10 pm

I agree. This would be really good. It would help people like me who are just looking for some help with Cracking Hashes.

Booble - March 4, 2012, 12:10 pm

Splitted? I think you mean split.

However, I agree.

Paranoid.I33t - March 5, 2012, 1:08 pm

I do agree with your suggestion!

Thanks so much!

zrammbo - March 10, 2012, 8:03 pm

A section exclusively for decrypting passwords would make it much easier to shuffle through the clutter. Perhaps it can also include tutorials divulging in the different techniques used and there efficiency because I'll be the first to admit I'm clueless when it comes to efficient password cracking.

Sysmatic - March 11, 2012, 8:45 am

I agree with Shao, it's actually a good suggestion.

Mr.Noodle - March 11, 2012, 8:10 pm

This is a great suggestion, tired of seeing all those crypter threads

n1kckft3es - March 12, 2012, 1:04 pm

i agree as well, could be usefull to have all those kind of things in one place...

faulty - March 12, 2012, 3:15 pm

Agree with Shao.

Search function BTW doesn't help the people that browse the section to help members with their un-cracked hashes.

teh_tetra - March 12, 2012, 5:41 pm

I agree a sub-section would be nice especially for us who are only interested in password hashes.

red-snake - March 13, 2012, 1:29 pm

yes, a sub section for pw-hashes are a very good idea!

Voxel - March 29, 2012, 8:56 pm

A mod really need to think about this, a section for crypters and viruses would help cut down on the burying of all other threads, right now the front page has 4 identical threads call need a free crypt, a new sub forum is not just wanted, it's needed to keep this forum alive.

bjm904 - April 8, 2012, 10:09 pm

Yes there has to be a sub section! I think it would make the entire cracking service process a lot quicker.

red-snake - April 9, 2012, 3:28 am

(Apr 8, 2012 10:09 PM)bjm904 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes there has to be a sub section! I think it would make the entire cracking service process a lot quicker.

Yeah thanks.... this is the right meaning ;)

greetz

mendax - April 22, 2012, 1:42 pm

Yes I am agreed I hope
Hackforums add it

Shao - May 12, 2012, 2:20 pm

I gave up the hope on this board. The crypters are flooding the whole section and there are too many kids who don't know what they are doing. There is barely a normal user with some knowledge. Good luck with them they are your problem now.

▣ Nick™ ▣ - May 25, 2012, 7:40 pm

I also agree with this suggestion. Instead of a subsection for passwords, I'd suggest a sub-forum for Crypters / Crypts (For Malware), that way anything else doesn't get buried.

adampelletgun - May 27, 2012, 10:41 am

I agree with this suggestion

Hope it gets added to the site :)

red-snake - May 28, 2012, 2:31 am

(May 12, 2012 02:20 PM)Shao Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I gave up the hope on this board. The crypters are flooding the whole section and there are too many kids who don't know what they are doing. There is barely a normal user with some knowledge. Good luck with them they are your problem now.
DITO

thanks and greetz at this sunny morning ;)

Paradoxum - May 29, 2012, 7:54 am

(Mar 29, 2012 08:56 PM)Voxel Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A mod really need to think about this, a section for crypters and viruses would help cut down on the burying of all other threads, right now the front page has 4 identical threads call need a free crypt, a new sub forum is not just wanted, it's needed to keep this forum alive.

Those threads aren't even supposed to be there to begin with...