Application Name: Skies of Glory

Apple Store Link: <http://itunes.apple.com/gb/app/skies-of-glory/id340869155?mt=8>

Cost: FREE (option to buy planes, etc.)

Tags: 3D, Simulator, Dogfight, Planes, WWII, game, free.

Review: Skies of Glory can be described in 2 words; 'absolutely outstanding'. It combines innovative controls with brilliant graphics that brings this game to life. The single-player campaign is not overwhelmingly engaging, but it does really give you something to fight for. The dogfight option lets you quickly jump into an aircraft with however many allies/enemies you want and battle away in 3D. Then, there is the multi-player. Just browsing through the list of servers makes the mind wonder, there are numerous low latency servers with 8 players all the time which give you another pure awesome side to the game. So, whether you just like flying or you are a competitive gamer who wants to 'pwn' everyone online whilst travelling on the train to work, this is the game for you.

Application Name: Copter

Apple Store Link: <http://itunes.apple.com/gb/app/icopter-free/id306096689?mt=8>

Cost: FREE (option to upgrade to remove adverts)

Tags: classic, 2d, free, copter, simple.

Review: Copter is the old age classic, its simple. You have to fly your little 'Copter' (helicopter) along a tunnel in which blocks are suspended in the way. You can go two ways, up or down. You must avoid the blocks and go as far as you can - score is how far you have traveled. There isn't much to say about Copter, everyone has played it. Its highly addictive and a fun thing to have on your iPhone/iTouch to challenge your friends with.

Cost: £0.59

Review: Doodle Jump is one of my favourite applications for the iPhone/iTouch out of all of them. It is everything you could want in a game! When I was reading the reviews on the Apple Store pondering if I was going to purchase it, I came across a funny review. It simply said, 'You will not realise what the hype is about until you have played it ten times'. I was confused at the time, but after purchasing it and thinking to my self, really what is the hype about, I finally understood what the persons review meant - I just couldn't quit it. It is honestly that addictive. A must for everyone who likes a fun, cheap game they can play anywhere. I recommend you will enjoy it, no matter what your taste in gaming is.

Application Name: Zombieville

Apple Store Link: <http://itunes.apple.com/gb/app/zombieville-usa/id304871622?mt=8>

Cost: £1.19

Tags: 2D, zombie, shooter, side, fast, weapons, mayhem.

Review: Well, I bought Zombieville USA a few days ago for £1.19 which is coincidently one of the most expensive things I have bought from the appstore, but it has justified itself and lived up to its price tag. You play as a hill-billy trying to get across from level to level without dieing. There are around 7-10 houses as you go along that you can enter for protection from the zombies that spawn outside and you can also collect things from them such as ammo for your various guns and money. I was really impressed with the amount of guns on Zombieville USA but I think a Multi-player feature would work wonders if possible, and maybe more melee weapons. Alas, its definitely a recommendation from me.

Application Name: Scoop!

Apple Store Link: <http://itunes.apple.com/gb/app/scoop/id339620931?mt=8>

Cost: FREE

Tags: brain-trainer, clever, news, free, word-game.

Review: Scoop! brings a new era upon the Word-Game kingdom. Its a brilliant game which uses current, real news from a media company that you choose from a list (BBC, CNN etc.) and then downloads the headlines. Once ready, which doesn't take long, you are presented with a newspaper. There is part of a headline with one word missing, for instance 'Omniscient is a _____ guy'. You have a keyboard at the bottom in which you have to pick letters. Sometimes you will get it straight away but its not always easy. A great way to stay up-to-date and waste time. Another great addition to the world of free apps!

I absolutely understand your review about Doodle Jump. My sister has had her iPhone ever since it came out - and upgraded to an iPhone 3GS - and is absolutely addicted to that game. I thought she was nuts to play it over and over again, but she finally let me play the game when she had to take the dogs out, and lets say I loved the game.

Good reviews! Look forward to more.

You get these awesome features as well:

A void warranty

No support from Apple

An unstable system

Unreliable Applications

Sucks to be you? ?

Anyways, thanks for the feedback, glad you like it. Will write to more now.

Because your software or "firmware" is out of date. update it.

Like phpBB3 said, you have to update iTouch to the latest patch - 3.1.2.

lucy - December 31, 2009, 11:24 am errrrrr ok thanks but how do i do that?????

SIM-88725 - December 31, 2009, 11:42 am

BTW, for everyone that uses cracked apps. A lot of the newer apps have ways of not letting you play if you didn't buy it, I think they check your serial, idk.

Go here: <http://www.apple.com/iphone/softwareupdate/> and click the button on top right, 'How to update'.

Plug in your iTouch/iPod

Go to the Summary pane

Click 'Check for Updates' and download lucy - January 1, 2010, 2:52 am

ok i have found the software update for my itouch on itunes but its not FREE!!!! is there anyway to get it free???

Black Kat - January 1, 2010, 3:53 am

It sure as hell is free... lemme check...

Shit, its only $5 man. Get your parents to buy you it. No worries.
