Hi, Peter. That's a nice forum you have there, I have a question about your theme though. How do you make the container end before the logo and menu? Here's what I'm talking about:

See how your container ends and your logo and menu is on your body? How do you do that? Any info on this would be appreciated, thanks!

I'd appreciate you signing up and posting on my forum if you have any questions, but I just moved a  in the header template.
