Thread: Scammed by "C++Programmer" \$737 Liberty Reserve

Sikandar - February 20, 2012, 11:49 am

Yeah, he just scammed me 737LR. I sent him the money and then he went offline, the next thing I know is that he is banned because "his account just got compromised". How the hell did his account got compromise when I was talking with the real one a few minutes before even trading?! Just lost $737 for my laptop to get repaired.

I'm just updating this thread because he has a new account. (Unbanned)

<https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=598600>

This was already proven by Factor8 so I don't need to post proofs and I am currently talking with him regarding this issue. We are negotiating at the moment. If he will return the money, I will delete this thread.

April Fools. - February 20, 2012, 11:50 am

Holy sh*t man, why would you exchange that w/o a middleman? Either way, good luck getting it back, maybe he will go online?

Prince of Persia - February 20, 2012, 11:50 am

Is it the actual hard drive that is broken? If not just take out the hard drive and put it in another computer.

Nestle* - February 20, 2012, 11:52 am

Why did you sent the LR first dude?

Triple H - February 20, 2012, 11:52 am

1. Why did you send all of the money in one go?
2. Why did you trust JUSTICE so much?
3. Why not use factor8/xch4ng3 to MM?
4. Post proof

C??????? - February 20, 2012, 11:53 am

That's sucks and why did you have done exchange with him without any escrow when he don't even do exchanges etc.. He was selling his bot source not exchange... when i knew that he is not real justice i reported him to Factor8 immediately so that no one can get scammed.

Gwapo - February 20, 2012, 11:53 am

Exchange = Scam = Compromise = Bullshit . Its fucking bullshit, I am sorry for your lost.

Fluxie - February 20, 2012, 11:54 am holy shit, that's a lot of money, why didn't you use any escrow??

Sikandar - February 20, 2012, 12:00 pm

Bad decision making, was getting tired of this day, frustrated because of my laptop's hardware failed and I seemed to trust him because I rechecked his profile and it was good. I know its my fault but anyways, making up the bullshit story of his account getting compromised is not cool. This happens only after trading a big value of money?

VipShaggy - February 20, 2012, 12:04 pm

Hello Sikandar,

I have come to the attention that you have filed a case that you have been scammed. If you could do so, could you provide me with the following information regarding this issue:

Code [b][color=#32CD32]Link to the scammer's profile:[/b][color]

[b][color=#32CD32]Link to thread:[/b][color]

[b][color=#32CD32]Post any images/screenshots that you can provide for proof (PM's, MSN, Skype, Paypal etc.):[/color][b]

[b][color=#32CD32]Search for existing scam reports on this member (if any):[/color][b]

[b][color=#32CD32]Amount you have been scammed:[/b][color]

[b][color=#32CD32]Short story on what has happened:[/b][color]

When you have done the above please PM me regarding this. Myself and others will give you an unofficial judgement whether or not you have been scammed.

Kindest regards,

VipShaggy

Beehzy - February 20, 2012, 12:22 pm

This is the exact reason why I have never and will never do an exchange

Fluxie - February 20, 2012, 12:23 pm

You can still do exchange, just make sure that if you're not sure about the person you're doing it with that you use an vMM (escrow)

Christov - February 20, 2012, 12:25 pm

I would never send that much money in 1 go.

You live and learn I guess.. Try and get someone local to repair

VipShaggy - February 20, 2012, 1:16 pm

Has anyone actually seen proof that he has done this ?

Isaac Newton - February 20, 2012, 1:24 pm

And this is the third time I remember.

You went first in the last two and you got scammed.

I had some suspicious feeling when he asked you to go first, and then you said "sent everything to Justice".

I had a strong feeling that this is gonna happen again.

And here we go.

I logged off and then on in 2 hrs and his name is black. I said "wtf" irl.

Feel sorry for you, but you shouldn't have went first.

That's a huge amount to loose. (Feb 20, 2012 02:16 PM)VipShaggy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Has anyone actually seen proof that he has done this ?

Sikandar - February 21, 2012, 2:49 am

I dont need all the $700 to get my laptop fixed, normally if I withdraw from my accounts here in the internet, I withdraw them all to minimize charges during withdrawal. As for Justice, I'm sorry but I dont believe that your account has been compromised. Why? because less than an hour before I sent you the money, you were online and even replying to your threads like:

<https://hackforums.net/search.php?action=results&sid=b6dc62fa044bdb9540a08aa7085ebfdc>

Its just complete bullshit that after sending the money, you would get offline and then after coming back, "some other guy" sends me a pm from your account with a different format of typing.

Anyways, if that's for his uncle's health, then fine. I won't do any exchanges anymore except for Factor8, The Grim, Incredible and a few more guys that I know.

Here's the proof of payment:

Isaac Newton - February 21, 2012, 5:48 am

I feel sorry for the fact that how hard he might have worked to code his crypter and logger.
But instead of getting paid for it, he gets scammed and that too thrice in big amounts.

The "account got compromised" story is pure bullshit, also this does reveals a major flaw in HF marketplace security.

Though I agree that members are responsible for any of their deals.

Sikander, this is my honest advice that do exchanges in small amounts(at the most $100) and do them with trusted and known people (excahngers).

The risk can't be zeroed but it can be minimized that way.

That really doesn't prove anything other than if he was compromised and working for microsoft has done him no favors, if his account was Hacked.

F8 indeed made the right decision as his account made a high loss to the member of the community. But shit happens. This could be happening with any of us. I mean, a silent fud driveby maybe installing in your pc.

And the guy is willing to pay for it! But he hasn't got any money! Even the hacker got his pp limited due to ip verifications. Which is left with 7$.

Exactly.. Also Scam happened at 11:00 PM to 1:20 AM (Indian time zone)

It's like 1 to 3 PM in Usa/canada

*he works in a Company, If he was in office why he was installing Winamp there?

If he was in Home, what the fuck he was doing after 3 PM ?

Why didn't he formatted his Pc and recovered his pc earlier.

He recovered his account at 11:00 AM Indian Time (Which is around 1 AM USA)

*According to Him He is in USA/Canada from Last 1 Month and working in a company.

<http://paste2.org/p/1912411>

But in His post

"today morning when i logged my account i saw it got banned by saying "acc compromised"
i used contact form & now my acc is recovered."

Morning ?

He was in mumbai or what?

i dont think any1 will need any more proof that it was real justice only !

even supreme court will accept these evidence

BELLAGIO - February 22, 2012, 1:04 am

Yea justice is done. His days are cornered here. He had fail to realize that if he posed like if someone got on his account and scammed he was still responsible for it.. good that he is banned by F8.

I sent him the money and then he went offline, the next thing I know is that he is banned because "his account just got compromised". How the hell did his account got compromise when I was talking with the real one a few minutes before even trading?! Just lost Fucking $737 for my laptop to get repaired. I dont know what to do now, my laptop has all the files of my University Projects and some have there deadlines are by next week. Ill be thinking about stopping the sales soon and get into a real job. I feel you dude. I have never been scammed on this level, but I know its tough on any level. This is insane though.

I'm not one to be judging or giving advice, but on big sales as such, I always make sure to get the users Cell phone #, home address, and personal information all beforehand so incase they attempt to scam you, you have personal information to contact them with and can contact the authorities if need be.

damn bro.... sorry for this...quite big amount in INR.

Lets all just contribute 5-10 or more ? whatever we can and help him..

just think that you donated the money to a charity or a some poor child to eat food. wrong is wrong , weather on internet or real life. You have to suffer one day , for what you did bad to others. he wont beacome rich from that money ;) he'll suffer allot , cheer up and lets contribute for you.

Pmed you.

You have lost 700$, and he is trying to compensate it without really getting paid for his bot even.~((Justice)) clearly made a huge mistake by scamming Sikandar and he is still trying to... I don't understand what he is upto.

Moreover, what on this planet is he trying to compensate for? He got[stole] the money he needed. Even if he started selling his bot or whatever, he wouldn't have earned so much in quick time. I hereby advice you to stop supporting a scammer. In other case, you will have to lose a lot.

@C?????I - Thank you very much for the solid evidences.

Bakepres - February 23, 2012, 9:42 am

Oh the old "My account was compromised" bullshit again. People use this excuse all the time when in reality only the dumbest of members would have a chance in hell of getting their computer & accounts compromised. People on here know the methods hackers use to get into other peoples machines so shouldn't be getting hacked at all. What a load of crap.

I can't see why anyone in their right mind would exchange money in a forum full of thieves. There are countless threads with people being scammed. You can't trust ANYONE online with large amounts of money no matter how many vouches a person has or how many times they have done good exchanges in the past. People can get greedy at any point & $700 would be a nice amount to steal.

With $700 in my wallet I wouldn't be too bothered about a 6 month forum ban.

Actually it isn't about comparing a 6 months ban with $700 in your wallet.

It is something which is not much practical and they sometime call it as "Trust".
