You don't even have to agree to your Terms of service before you use the product, thus making it useless.

You don't even explain if you're selling a script, a PuTTY booter, or both.

Your thread is very unclear.

If it's just a script then why do you care what they attack?

Why is there a 10 minute attack limit?

Makes no sense.

"If it's just a script then why do you care what they attack?"

Fear of suspension.

"Why is there a 10 minute attack limit?"

Overuse.

"Makes no sense."

Yes it does.
