Here's guide + links of the direct links to win7:

First: The links

Windows 7 64-Bit (x64):

<http://msft-dnl.digitalrivercontent.net/msvista/pub/X15-79946/Win7-P-Retail-en-us-x64.exe>

<http://msft-dnl.digitalrivercontent.net/msvista/pub/X15-79946/setup1.box>

<http://msft-dnl.digitalrivercontent.net/msvista/pub/X15-79946/setup2.box>

Windows 7 32-Bit (x86):

<http://msft-dnl.digitalrivercontent.net/msvista/pub/X15-79643/Win7-P-Retail-en-us-x86.exe>

<http://msft-dnl.digitalrivercontent.net/msvista/pub/X15-79643/setup1.box>

<http://msft-dnl.digitalrivercontent.net/msvista/pub/X15-79643/setup2.box>

Notice how its in 3 separate files? The exe unpacks the .box files into a folder called "extended setup".

Make sure all 3 files are in the C:\, and double click the EXE.

Wait.

Some idiots seem to have a problem with the next part -.'

Now, browse to extendedsetup/sources/ and delete "ei.cfg"

Run the setup.exe to install and over write your current OS or burn to CD ROM.

thanks alot realy appreciate this, also can i ask why i have to delete that file because im litteraly only sending these links to a windows 7 ultimate customer. thanks again

You have to delete that file so that it can install any version you want. It will let you install the version you like in the setup.

You have to pay for it.

Sonix provided the OP with professional links, not ultimate.

Here you are..

32 bit -

<https://fp-pr1.ds.microsoft.com/TransferFile/FileTransfer.dll?Cmd=1&MN=2049464948&Dir=1&Mode=0&Off=0&TS=FE2A7617-6280-439F-8505-8F98E61BE866&CVN=5,0,0,32>

64 bit -

<https://fp-pr1.ds.microsoft.com/TransferFile/FileTransfer.dll?Cmd=1&MN=415748855&Dir=1&Mode=0&Off=0&TS=CD40738C-926D-4263-B466-313561FEC8D2&CVN=5,0,0,32>

Actually, I said delete "ei.cfg"

Then when you install, it gives you the option to install any version of Win7.
