

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Possible Foreign Characters glitch?

Hexicidal - March 15, 2012, 2:30 pm

I was viewing another members reputation when I see this:

[img]http://kre8acap.info/i/e4129e.png[/img]

Reputation before name and backwards?

You can click it for yourself. It takes you to the right location but is the ALT Code messing with the way the reputation and name is ordered or is it a glitch?

<https://hackforums.net/reputation.php?uid=738508>

Douchebag # 145 - March 15, 2012, 2:30 pm

The user is just using special characters, no big deal.

Hexicidal - March 15, 2012, 2:31 pm

(Mar 15, 2012 02:30 PM)Gink Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#)

The user is just using special characters, no big deal.

Does that still cause the reputation to go before the name...?

Keif - March 15, 2012, 2:32 pm

Thats some Russian text and a few ALT codes and that guy who gave that rep is a scammer and changed his name lol.

Douchebag # 145 - March 15, 2012, 2:32 pm

(Mar 15, 2012 02:31 PM)Hexicidal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Does that still cause the reputation to go before the name...?

Not all special characters, but in this case yes.

Guess Who Is Back - March 15, 2012, 2:34 pm

Member is using special characters in his name. It's not an big deal. Just wait a few days when he will open a new thread in rule section telling he can't login in his account because of his username.

Hexicidal - March 15, 2012, 2:35 pm

Thanks for the answers guys. I will just close this now. ?