Thread: [How would I obtain someones IP address from twitch.tv? \[First Post\]](#)

haxorintraining - March 15, 2012, 2:41 pm

Hey everyone, this is my first post!

I was wondering how "someone" would go about obtaining another persons IP address from a twitch.tv live stream?

This includes the people in chat, as well as the "host", who is live streaming.

Thank you very much in advanced!

tux1 - March 15, 2012, 2:43 pm

You probably can't because everyone connects to the host as opposed to directly connecting to someones ip.

There must be a way? Perhaps putting in a very subtle link? Any ideas?

Do you know how, by any chance??

Nyonic - November 3, 2012, 5:46 pm

If they are posting their Skype you can resolve their IP and get it from there

master0538 - November 10, 2012, 12:10 pm

I am also wondering how to get someone's IP from twitch.tv

Max™ - November 10, 2012, 12:12 pm

No way although the best method i do is make a new account and say i want to donate can we speak over skype once you have there skype ip , ip resolve it :) if you do not have a skype to ip just message me.

amus3d - November 10, 2012, 12:41 pm

You can't do it using packet sniffers, but you could ask them for their Skype name, then resolve at <http://#.net/resolver.php>

Empire--dumps - November 10, 2012, 4:49 pm

I love to watch Twitch.tv. I wouldn't try to dos anyone. But I have looked into it, I'd say the site(s) are pretty secure.

There is an XSS on /directory/all on Justin. Maybe you can manage something there.

Given whats been suggested. Seems the best bet is to go somewhere else.

h4k0r - September 24, 2013, 6:59 pm

The Xss in Justin is actually a honeypot , so I wouldn't try anything their if I where you.

SIM-574702 - September 25, 2013, 1:55 am

You can't obtain IP directly from twitch.tv but you can SE him to obtain it. The safest way is to do skype resolving like suggested because you don't leave any trace if you're smart.

borisganji1 - October 23, 2014, 7:08 am

As I see it 95% of all streamers being DDOSed is due to them showing their skype name in one way or another.

Most streamers don't have a clue about the inner workings, so they leak information now and then. Even Kripparrian had "PornHub" in his suggested google sites - so noone is perfect.

Every once in a while you will see a donation link, which connects to paypal, which uses email as an address - and sometimes they also use the same email for skype. Facebook API also allows you to extract emails from contacts, whomever is either a friend or a fan in your facebook group.

There's many ways, it's all about using what you see and know.

Regards me

Aur3xis - October 23, 2014, 9:33 am

SE his/her skype or send him/her link to your sniffer with a 2$ donation.

_iiDaxter - December 24, 2014, 11:28 pm

I just got banned from twitch Imfao.

Your account at www . twitch . / iidaxter was the subject of a Terms of Service suspension for violating the following category: ddos. As a result, we have given you a 24-hour restriction from using the site.

0phucksgiv3n - December 29, 2014, 10:02 pm

I may be incorrect but does the Chat not run on an IRC channel?

there has to be a connection to the streamer name somewhere?

But then I am not a coder so what would I know anyway..just thinking out loud

Yes, Twitch chat is all IRC based, which means you (and everyone else) are connecting to Twitch's IRC server. Also, they mask IP's from whois. So basically, it's not possible to get someone's IP from Twitch stream (IRC) chat.

You're mostly correct, however if the website defaults to the local domain settings, then sub-domains do not share the same cookies due the Same-Origin-Policy.

Lizard. - August 8, 2015, 4:04 pm

You get it from their skypes.

i know this is old, however, try to see if they use the same username for skype, if not it's okay.. most of the time they have youtube, twitter, facebook, instagram, linked, okay now you should have more usernames, if not it's fine.. if they have their youtube channel.. now go to their about on their youtube channel.. you should see "Details

For business inquiries View email address" okay now you got the email.. go to a website like skypegrab.net/email2skype.php type in the email, get the skype, skype resolve them, boom.. i hope this help some.. ?

Tythiene - December 20, 2015, 6:08 am

I'm sure that there is a way to get someones IP who wrote in the Twitch chat. I know someone who used a script (he said skript but i'm not sure if this is right) to find out the IP of an Troll. After that he gave them a ddos attack. I'm pretty sure, that it worked, because it was my own stream. The problem is: he won't tell me what script/programm he used.

So yeah there is a way, but don't ask me how :/ I would be glad if someone has more informations about how to solve this question. I spend a lot of time in google and co but i can't find something...

and sry for my bad english ^^

.Cherry - December 20, 2015, 6:10 am

You could try to donate and then use PayPal then watch your transaction you should have their email and you could use email to Skype

Tythiene - December 20, 2015, 6:17 am

No there must be a way that only uses the twitch chat. The Troll i had hacked my Twitch Acc while i was streaming but my own stream was still live. So the hacker only wrote with my account in my own twitch chat. And my buddy only used a script/programm whatever which said him with what IP this post in chat was send dglass900 - August 17, 2016, 2:29 pm

I could do it through wireshark sniffing there ip. but its hard af to find it you need to end every task and only have that twitch open on your computer and most of the ips that pop up will be twitch servers ip. but if you do it for a long time youll prob find there ip

First of all I'm gonna call you out on this wild bullshit.

You can find the Twitch server's IP, but that's about as easy as typing "ping twitch.tv" into your CMD because that's all your browser is doing. The twitch chat server is completely different and your browser makes a request to send a message by going through the site first. So there's no way to actually get everyone connected to the server/see where the server is getting requests from, unless you somehow hacked the twitch servers and connected to the chat servers to see all the logs.

That's just for Chat, now for the actual Live Stream, AKA the host. They connect to a different server as well when streaming that handles the channel data. That server just processes the request and send it to the web server, where you can see it. Again, no direct connection involved.

Now that I'm done clearing it up, gonna have to call you out on gravedigging. The thread's last reply was last december, many of the poster's accounts are closed. There is no reason to revive the thread.

Please don't spread false information here.

1. OP is gone, no point in replying anymore.
2. OP has no idea how Twitch works

r421x0 - August 19, 2016, 8:28 am

Cmd -> Ping -> Twitch servers

Twitch servers != Users IP.

OP is closed, literally no point replying.

Popes. - August 19, 2016, 10:01 pm

I'd suggest putting an IP grabber link that people can click on, but I do not know if you're allowed to post links in chat on Twitch within a livestream.

Even the host actually connects to a specific server that is owned by Twitch, so unless you can Social Engineer the dude to click an IP Logger, you're dead in the water.

Dae Kim - March 14, 2018, 10:13 am

Send him $ 5 on paypal and ask him to add you because you are a fan of him.

Plankalkul - March 15, 2018, 2:27 am

It's running through so many servers it's not possible.

Your best option is social engineering and making them to go to a IP grabber link.

Wireshark is definitely not going to work. A streamer connects to a Streaming Server (Which is owned and maintained by Twitch), so even though you'd be getting an outbound connection, this would not lead you to the actual streamers IP Address. Whoever said they can get it via Wireshark is bullshitting you.

You could, however, send the streamer an IP Grabber link a bit hidden with URL Shorteners, perhaps to some music video or a GIF.

Pay for a twitch ad that targets to a strong area of interest for them. Part of Twitch.TVs primary revenue stream is advertising. They will provide you the IP as part of the purchase, and allow you to do targeted marketing. Not sure why you want the IP though.
