

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: E-Whoring Problems... Big problems...

chriswhitehair - March 19, 2012, 9:06 pm

Alright so I hauled a pretty good amount of money one night while e-whoring. I got around $160 in my pay-pal account under a "Fake Name Generator" name. I had to add my own debit card in order to send the money to my real paypal. After getting the money in my real paypal, I promptly spent it all on goods on amazon.com. Two days later the e-whoring paypal has all of it's funds held and put to a negative $-141.04 balance. Because the money I spent in my real paypal, (the one used to buy the goods from amazon), got the funds from the ewhoring paypal, it was set to $-160.00. Sooo.... my basic question from ALL of this is... am I fucked?

1. How can I get these balances back to $0.00
2. How can I prevent things like this from happening in the future? I.E: Funds being held. (A paypal specialists told me the funds were held because the accounts that sent me the money were logging in from suspicious loggins.)
3. How is it that I see people with unvarified paypals able to send payments and money earned from ewhoring to other accounts?
4. Should I be worried about paypal tracking me down and getting their money... Because now I owe DOUBLE what I earned...
5. Are there any guides that I am missing as to how to properly set up your paypals to prevent ALL of this from happening??

I can't explain my frustration with this situation... I spent hours getting this money and now I have lost and owe double it. I hope some of your experienced members can shed some light on this situation as I am very confused as to the outcome....

Thanks in advance

Chris

Is there anyone that can provide insight on the situation?

sexmonsterone - March 20, 2012, 8:07 am

(Mar 19, 2012 09:06 PM)chriswhitehair Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I had to add my own debit card in order to send the money to my real paypal. There's your problem. You didn't have to add a debit card to send to another account.

Your debit card will be charged the amount you owe (depending on the card's TOS).

'suspicious logins' were probably from the same IPs.

So - next time use Canadian paypal for the ewhoring account, and only verify the main one (your real).

rockonruup1 - March 20, 2012, 10:31 am wow, ok that sucks might want to just use an unverified paypal only, i mean im new to this so sorry if im wrong please dont flame on me for saying this but unferyfied paypal can buy stuff too right?

Vincenzo? - March 20, 2012, 10:35 am

(Mar 19, 2012 09:06 PM)chriswhitehair Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Alright so I hauled a pretty good amount of money one night while e-whoring. I got around $160 in my pay-pal account under a "Fake Name Generator" name. I had to add my own debit card in order to send the money to my real paypal. After getting the money in my real paypal, I promptly spent it all on goods on amazon.com. Two days later the e-whoring paypal has all of it's funds held and put to a negative $-141.04 balance. Because the money I spent in my real paypal, (the one used to buy the goods from amazon), got the funds from the ewhoring paypal, it was set to $-160.00. Sooo.... my basic question from ALL of this is... am I fucked?

1. How can I get these balances back to $0.00
2. How can I prevent things like this from happening in the future? I.E: Funds being held. (A paypal specialists told me the funds were held because the accounts that sent me the money were logging in from suspicious loggins.)
3. How is it that I see people with unvarified paypals able to send payments and money earned from ewhoring to other accounts?
4. Should I be worried about paypal tracking me down and getting their money... Because now I owe DOUBLE what I earned...
5. Are there any guides that I am missing as to how to properly set up your paypals to prevent ALL of this from happening??

I can't explain my frustration with this situation... I spent hours getting this money and now I have lost and owe double it. I hope some of your experienced members can shed some light on this situation as I am very confused as to the outcome....

Thanks in advance

Chris

Is there anyone that can provide insight on the situation?

Happend to be before and I got in -£2000 balance.

I just called up my bank and said I lost my card and got another one through with different numbers, put it on a new paypal, sorted.