If it's blackshades open a chat client with them, make sure to dox them before you do though and just drop a BM through there also send a few evidence files to their desktop.

I have them on a botnet which I can open a chat with them, what should I tell them though? And what do you mean by "evidence files"

I suggest you get a RAT then and install it on them, will make life a lot easier.

This

It has all of the RAT features, I just want to know what I should tell them to actually make them send me anything.

Tailor it how you see fit.
