Thread: [??\[Tool\]Preview-UnSp0k3n Admin Page Finder-\[Alot of Features\]\[NoobFriendly\]??](#)

BeggFoMercy - April 4, 2012, 4:32 pm

Hello HF

Some days ago , I have decided to Code an Admin page finder With some features ... Still adding some though This one has a diff system , Because it doesnt look for Dir's As what Havij Does and checks the response

Features:

- 1-This one doesnt check for responses as havij's , Cus that will flood you with forbidden and shit , This one Searches on the web server for Specific Part That contain username/password boxes And leads you to it By showing you the link :)
- 2-Ability to Ping the web site to check if its up or down or Doesnt exist
- 3-Commands system ;)
- 4-This one is purely coded in python

Needed Programs:

- 1-Python 2.7 Will add the link when i release it , And the mediafire downloading link of the tool , And a "how to use it"

Pictures :

This is how it fetch the Login pages .

This is how the pinging tab looks like

At last i would like to give some shout outs :

- 1-Team Intra, Inj3ctors
 - 2-Rhynorater
 - 3-The Hydra
- Thanks for viewing my thread ?

joomlafkr - April 4, 2012, 5:15 pm

Nicely done ,maybe you can add the bruteforce check (as you said havij-like) with a big admin list ! so if your method doesn't give results it can start bruteforcing with many threads.

so it would be the best admin page fetcher so far !

BeggFoMercy - April 4, 2012, 5:16 pm

Great Idea dude , I also was thinking of SQLi vulnerability checker , :D

Im expanding it to look for more diff types of languages , Like username password boxes in germany and shit

zer0pwn - April 4, 2012, 5:31 pm

Nice.

Try something like an SQLi finder, there's too many of these around.

But don't get me wrong, it looks very good :)

Hooded Robin - April 4, 2012, 5:56 pm

love that its python based, looks nice from start. As joomlafkr has mentioned I would use both methods to find panels as i don't think your form finding method will work on all sites (just have this nagging suspicion, but you could be on to something). Also suggest you add a sub-domain checker as well, occasionally you can find mail logins and the occasionally moved admin login (i.e. mail.site.com or admin.site.com). Possibly a reverse IP lookup to check shared hosting quickly...if you asking for additional ideas which would keep aligned with general theme. that's my 02...
