Name - Pandora Internet Radio

Info -

Pandora is an Internet Radio program that creates playlists based on an artist of your choosing. Breaking down that artist's music into over 400 different attributes and using a complicated mathematical formula, Pandora finds similar artists and streams a seemingly endless playlist.

Opinion -

Pandora is an amazing website, where you can listen to your favorite songs! Pandora was founded in the year 2000, in Oakland, California.

Pandora has over 10 Million Users since July 2011. In December, 2011 it became number 347, on Alexa.

As you open Pandora you're asked whether or not you're already a registered user. If so, perfect; sign in, and you'll find all of your radio stations saved and ready to go. If you haven't registered before no worries, the process is super-simple and takes about 2 minutes.

Pandora has many Radio Stations to the users delight.

When you arrive at Pandora.com, the first thing you see is the player, which is pretty sweet. It's Web-based (no download), minimalist and seamless.

It's a project that began in January 2000 and took 30 experts in music theory five years to complete. The Genome is based on an intricate analysis by actual humans (about 20 to 30 minutes per four-minute song) of the music of 10,000 artists from the past 100 years. The analysis of new music continues every day since Pandora's online launch in August 2005. As of May 2006, the Genome's music library contains 400,000 analyzed songs from 20,000 contemporary artists.

Similar websites are groveshark and vevo. Pandora tries to play the songs that you want the most, they allow you to like and dislike songs, depending on how you like them. Pandora can make you listen to the songs, that you want to listen to.

Pandora is also great on your phone! And perfect when you need to listen to music and all the songs on your iPod are boring...

Pandora is once again a very useful site.

Pandora has no concept of genre, user connections or ratings. It doesn't care what other people who like Gomez also like. When you create a radio station on Pandora, it uses a pretty radical approach to delivering your personalized selections: Having analyzed the musical structures present in the songs you like, it plays other songs that possess similar musical traits.

The cons of it are Ads. Pandora gets ruined by ads.

But if you purchase Pandora One, which is a better version Of Pandora Internet Radio, it gives you higher quality audio and no or almost no ads.

Pandora gets paid by ads, that's why they put ads. Pandora is perfect for all kinds of people, young, old and perfect for teens!!! And when your at work, its perfect when you listen to something that you love right?

So Overall, Pandora Internet Radio, is an amazing piece of creation, which people worked hard to accomplish.

Other notes: Pandora has grown so much, it has become very Popular in the year 2011, and continuing in 2012. Pandora works on web, phone, and even car!! Pandora has become very popular since the start, which was in 2000. So overall I would say that Pandora is such an amazing piece of creation, which people should appreciate.

The limitation of skips is pretty annoying lol, I'd rate it a 3.5 but great review.

Well if you use this on a Jailbroken Ipod you can bypass the skip limit. So for me, I would give it a 5! Good review Burn! :D

Sadly, the app does not work for me in Canada. Seems like a good review though.
