Racism is against rules. You can report his post and wait for staff to take action.

If your offended by what he said simply report it. No need for a thread.

Your thread is misleading Yahya, you should change the title and thread content.

cyberdog - April 26, 2012, 9:04 am

You can't report his post, they don't break the rules.

So then report it for being low quality.

Report it as "Other" and ignore him. He didn't mean anything bad, I just talked to him.

It is, actually, and it comes under Flame, Threat, or Harrassment. Although, OP, the post in question was not actually racist, therefore staff won't take action upon it.

Simply report the thread / posts, and ignore the user.
