

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: [Joshikousei \[Girl's High\]](#)

DoubleRainbow - April 26, 2012, 7:51 pm

Well just got finished watching this 12 episode series yesterday and decided why not create a thread about it.

<http://www.anime-planet.com/anime/joshikousei>

Well I started this series probably about 6 months ago and only watched up to episode 3 I believe until stalling it until 4 days ago. Most of it was watched via the Crunchyroll iPod app, but at about episode 8 I moved over to the website to finish it up.

When I started it I was looking for an ecchi series seeing as I don't watch that genre as much I though I'd change it up some. To my surprise there wasn't as much ecchi as some series I've seen, but I liked it nonetheless. The series overall was really funny, yet had some serious parts mixed into the comedy. The only thing I didn't really like about the series though was how slow it seem to take off (The reason it took me 6 months to finish).

Overall, I'd recommend it and has anyone seen this?

sneekybasterd - April 26, 2012, 9:48 pm

This is one that STILL need to finish, along with Hanaukyo Maid Team: La Verite, it just didn't seem to do it for me and it's just lying in my bookmarks. I think i watched to the second episode, i will finish it one day.

Prox - April 27, 2012, 12:34 am

This and chu-bra are honestly the only ones I cba to finish.. It's just.... No.

Its not even ecchi.. it's just D: to me. Dont really plan on coming back to it either...

Devote - April 27, 2012, 12:36 am

In your own personal opinion, what was the most ecchi'st series you've ever seen?

lol

DoubleRainbow - April 27, 2012, 11:16 am

Yea I admit this wasn't in the realm of "ecchi" for most AA members, and I pretty much stated it wasn't. I still finished it though because I've never dropped a series in my live.

@Depth, KissXSis probably.