Thread: Need a keylogger that runs in background, and automatically starts on startup\(SCHOOL\)

Hey,

I need a keylogger that automatically starts at startup in background. Cuz the thing is, i know a guy's school password login, but it is different from his Hotmail and face pass, and sometimes he log into facebook, and hotmail, in the school time.

My plan is to log into his account, and put a keylogger on his user acc...And when he log into his school user, the keylogger should start automatically... Then when he types something it will be saved in a txt file on the computer. And i log back into his school account...and get is pass..

Is there any keylogger like this?

It probably won't work, most schools block the download of exe files and have antivirus and firewalls.

Well...it allows me to install browsers..on my school...once a time i installed Minecraft, it worked...but the computer didnt have a good video card to run it...the school computers are running win vista...yoy have to type your username and pass to login.

Someone? Please? Please? Please? Please?
