Suggestions - Denied compilation

Introudction

I do notice that numerous threads like this have been created, and almost all of them have died out. Yes; this one may do to, but if this can somehow reduce the amount of threads posted for a day; I guess it's done it's duty. So what is it, you ask? This thread is mainly for those whom are unable to use the search function. Every day a couple dozen threads are posted suggesting "new" ideas / schemes. On the rare occurance; let's say every 1 in 200, a good suggestion/idea is made. However, on most occasions, the suggestion to which the OP suggested, would have already been posted, let's say about a week back. So what's the aim;Quicker effective way of finding denied suggestions

Reduce the amount of threads

And prevent the mentors / staff having to do more work, which could easily be done by using this thread or the search tool

If spoiler is present under a suggestion; it means the reasons for it being declined

The Layout

Well. For those whom are not looking for a certain suggestion, I'll be putting each denied thread / idea under different sections. Examples of a couple of sections;General User Suggestions

New Forum Suggestions

Rule Suggestions

This would be reported as 'Profile Violation.'

wondering if HF could use some user tagging plugin inorder to get someone's attention to a specific thread

Your idea has been suggested before. Denied.

Subscribe to a user [Suggestion]

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Show Contact Details in User Profile?

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

That is done for security reasons. Same reasons that prevent other members from using the EMAIL button on member profiles.

If you need their Skype/Aim, they can use their signature or you can PM them.

I thought it would be pretty cool if you could goto people's profiles and it said how many threads they have viewed

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

This isn't viable. It would require resources and simply for a some non-vital stat.

Very nice layout, I'll use this when suggesting things.

Mag1c-Pot - May 14, 2012, 9:50 am

You should have included accepted suggestions too.

You could try making it look a little nicer, and constantly updating. I wouldn't use a thread layout because you'd have to keep editing the .PSD and editing the post with the new image, unless you're up for updates weekly.

I'll just keep with the original design; and make sure to update, let's say every other day?

Yeah! Although, you could at least make it a bit easier to look at with some `[.color][.align]` tags.

I, as-well as 4 other members have tried creating a thread like this.

Rightfully as it should of.

This thread is spam and unnecessary.

Making these threads do not make you high quality. They make you look like a try hard.

I suggest including the links to each thread. No one here is sure of the validity of the content unless the latter is done.

I actually suggested this and It wasn't denied. I'm still waiting for an official statement so you might need to get it out of the Denied list. ?
