

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Graduating High School - FINALLY!

+mK - May 18, 2012, 5:23 am

After about a month of thinking that there is no way I'm graduating, and after 5 days of for SURE thinking I won't graduate because of a single half a credit in the dumbest class ever, I am now going to graduate. My counselors all got together, called all my schools, and recounted my credits and it came up as two different classes that I took, so I got all the credits I need.

Why did I almost fail? I am going to be joining the US Army, and I realized I REALLY didn't need school.

I was sweating so bad yesterday when they told me I didn't have enough, but it came out to be I do.

Thank god, no more school! Graduating in a few days!

Ruins - May 18, 2012, 5:24 am

Congratulations man, just take care in U.S Army ! <33

Luxurious - May 18, 2012, 10:02 am

Congratulations man i was literally in the EXACT same spot you were but hey i made it in my case however im going to be doing 1 year in community college then i wil transfer over to a University.

Mahdy - May 18, 2012, 12:01 pm

I'll be graduating in 7 school days to be exact! Congratulations! Good luck in the ARMY.

Great Prosperity - May 18, 2012, 2:24 pm

Just make sure they don't mention Justin Biebers name during your ceremony.

(?°?°)? ERM?HGeRD - May 18, 2012, 2:26 pm

I'm not graduating on time this year either. My school requires a massive project to be done independently encompassing all four years you've been there... Four years I've been in HS, 6 months to work on this, missed the deadline by one day -.- now i don't graduate until August.