Thread: Feedback for the Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption section

ajjt - May 18, 2012, 11:33 am

If you have visited the Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption section you will realize that it's overfilled with new members giving out crypters which don't even work and some are even infected. Some of the crypters are also leaked.

I would love to learn something from that section but it's filled with a lot of junk.

The purpose of the section is to discuss keys, ciphers, and algorithms not giving out crypters that does not work.

There's got to be something done about this.

I would love to learn something from the Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption section.

I would love to hear your opinion about the Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption section.

Thank you for reading this.

Daddy. - May 18, 2012, 11:36 am

You might want to add that it is filled with "Can you crypt my server?!" posters...

Devote - May 18, 2012, 11:37 am

I totally agree with this post! Honestly this is a great feedback, I believe that there should be a "request" subforum in cryptography for people who are looking for crypts.

Most of these threads are in the R.A.T section.

Daddy. - May 18, 2012, 11:39 am

Agreed with Depth... I think there should be a "request" section in general, and from there it could branch off to categories redpois0n - May 18, 2012, 11:40 am

Is that section active? Most sections down in hacking far down is slow...

The section is active, but I believe that it would be a lot more active if people stopped posting their crypters.

I am happy that people actually agree with me.

Devote - May 18, 2012, 11:51 am

Agree with Ajjt once again, there will be more tutorials in that section if they could stay alive long enough to be seen.

?Reath - May 18, 2012, 12:15 pm

I agree, it's a good section, but it's filled with junk. A important category of hacking, filled with stupid posts ...

Devote - May 18, 2012, 1:21 pm

Really would like a reply from a Staff or Admin about this. Thank you!

Guess Who Is Back - May 18, 2012, 2:24 pm

Most of the crypters i have tried there they have worked fine for me?

Yes i know we have alot of "Can you crypt my server pleaseeee".

Barneyyz™ - May 18, 2012, 2:27 pm

The majority of them work, they're not 100% FUD though.

Candyshop - May 18, 2012, 2:30 pm

I definitely agree with the first poster on here, about having a subforum for the crypter requests and give aways.

I doubt that will ever transpire. That is the reason as to why the section was created, to have all discussions on Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption. Crypters are one of the main aspects to why that section is active to it is now.

The only thing that should be changed is the way the Crypters are posted. This is for most cases, in which infected Crypters are being posted. Although, that shouldn't be a problem since you are in a "infection" term section. If your going to infect others, then be cautious about getting yourself infected.

It's not much of an issue, if this was to be managed then there should be a solution to where no infected programs are relinquished, which will never transpire as there are always members striving to get infections throughout the members on Hackforums. The only thing we can do is obviate them.

True. Those threads are not even supposed to be there. The majority of the bans come from that section as well since a lot do not realise marketplace-related threads do not belong there.

A lot of these threads are originally posted in the Remote Administration Tools forum but F8 told me to move them in the CE&D forum.

Omniscient once said those should not be posted there (via PM). Well, if we get a general section for free requests, we would have no problem. I believe the forums here are all for discussions and requests are not contributing to any at all. This case is not exclusive to just both forums.

I agree. Here is what F8 answered a few weeks ago (also via PM):

Quote:* If the member is Ub3r only, move it to Gay Fucking Requests

* For HF LEET/Normal members, let it remain the Crypto section (for free crypts) or RAT section (for free installs) or botnets section. It's a clusterfuck till a new section is made by Omni.

But shouldn't the Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption section be about discussion on keys, ciphers, and algorithms as the description says?

I am pretty sure Omini didn't start the section to post your crypters.

In fact you shouldn't even give away programs there, they should be in the Free Services and Giveaways section.

And some of the programs you need to buy, which should be in the Marketplace.

As stated in the help document,

Quote:Any marketplace type threads must be in the Marketplace area. A one month ban is the penalty for wrong forum posting marketplace threads. No warning will be given.

Yes but there is nothing against posting free crypter in this section.

Should be in the Hacking Tools and Programs forum in my opinion.

There should be a subsection for all that fucking gay shit that new fags post.

OT: I have made a thread about this previously, and it was closed without any discussion. I am on the verge of flaming every new member which does post there for not what the section is actually intended to be used for...

Stewie™ - May 19, 2012, 10:15 am

Yeah I totally agree about this, there's barely anything useful about Cryptography in this section anymore.

I don't think reporting the thread will actually help because Omni actually stickied three threads in the Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption which actually belongs to the Marketplace.

h-boy - May 19, 2012, 10:39 am

I suggested this sometime in the past but my post was ignored. It's a shame because Cryptography is a fascinating topic.

I wrote a thread a while ago in attempt to refresh the section.

From what Factor8™ told me, it should be done soon.

I probably misunderstood. Well, do not report these threads, owners actually paid for that. Omniscient allows it because, if I am not wrong, it is considered as advertising.

Positive - May 19, 2012, 2:34 pm

What are you trying to get at?

If Omniscient thinks there needs to be a moderator to clear the section of junk, then he will appoint one.

Who talked about adding a moderator in this forum?

Paid stickies are exempt from the requirement of being in the Marketplace. Usually, such stuck threads will be created in the Marketplace as normal threads, then moved to another section and stuck, then unstuck and moved back to the Marketplace at the end of the paid sticky term.

I know that since I junked a thread of 43 pages in the Hacking Tools and Programs forum because it was unstuck, I did not know it. I thought the user posted it in the wrong forum.

BTW: This thread has been restored. ?

This has nothing to do with that it need an extra mod, I actually think that it's enough mods already. I am just saying my own opinion on how the section is.

I am just saying that the intention of the section was not to post crypters and "Can you crypt my server?" threads, it should be about discussion on keys, ciphers, and algorithms.

ven0m - May 20, 2012, 4:57 am

I agree with this. Hope we will have an official response soon.

I agree. From what Factor8™ told me this should be "fixed" soon enough.

ajjt - May 24, 2012, 11:25 am

I would like a reply from an Admin about this issue.

?ndromeda - May 24, 2012, 11:45 am

Leaked/Cracked/Infected crypter threads which are being posted over "Cryptography, Encryption, and Decryption" are being deleted usually 5 minutes after they are being created.

The "not working" issue is yours and only yours. It's nobody's fault if you don't know how to crypt properly.

If you have any idea regarding this or any other section to be modified feel free to open a thread in the Suggestions and Ideas Section.

Thank you.
