You should only need to do it once per person you want to get. I'll probably lower the price once the site gets bigger. The good thing about that is that if I lower the price later, people with an existing balance will get more lookups as well as new users.

Failedattempt - May 18, 2012, 10:50 pm

You should make it $10 lifetime on it. (:

It's just an IP grabber tbh

I don't wanna waste $5 D;

Naween - May 18, 2012, 11:07 pm

hmm, u can grab their ip's with the resource monitor on your task manager....

but yeah i mean its a bit harder when ur not in a call and u cant grab when their offline

but i mean $.25 is a bit much per ip, i have like a few hundred contacts

246 contacts

and i got a list of like 200 of them that i want their ip's

$50 for that, ill pass LOL

0.25$ for a IP lookup is too much. I use a public posted tut on HF and get any IP for free. You must reconsider the pricing.

I will. However, this method is 100% reliable with no false positives, doesn't risk getting your skype banned, and takes about 3 seconds.

I don't mean to trash, but you can do this via Command Prompt.

Set your Skype port to something you can remember, for example, 69.

Start a chat with the person who you want to get the IP from.

Open Command Prompt and type netstat -n and the IP with 69 next to it is their IP.

No you don't need to be in a call with them, but I guess what you said does make this method much better. I don't see how it could work if they are offline though unless it exploits the DB and they have some sort of "last logged in from" thing going on.

Suggestions;

1. Give 2 free credits for people to test
2. Lower the price down a little bit, even if it is just 5 cent, as 0.25$ is a bit hefty.

Looking good though!

He fixed it, and I take back my comment about it.

It gives multiple (I believe the two latest IP's used.) IP's every time, almost instantly. Worth the money.

To anyone who says it's too pricey; It's twenty five cents. I think that's cheap. It's the persons address, complete will to dox/boot them, for the price of a gumball.

edit

It should work or not work. There is no reason for it to find something NEAR the person unless you geolocated it, which isn't perfectly accurate.

I'm adding a few more detections for known VPN hosts tonight as well as several known paid proxy networks (ProxyBonanza, HideIP)

Mullvad, NFOServers, sh3lls.net, Anonymous VPN, HideMyAss (yes, all their net blocks. ALL OF THEM.)

There will also be a very limited portscan in place to check if your target is possibly using an SSH tunnel.

You can't hide from zSnag.

Inalienable - November 22, 2012, 5:07 pm

Would it be possible to add a feature where you enter a IP and all skype accounts on that IP come up?

(Nov 22, 2012 06:07 PM)#Chad Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Would it be possible to add a feature where you enter a IP and all skype accounts on that IP come up?

Not really. It would require keeping a very large logfile and randomly contacting the entire Skype network. I guess this could be done with known information, but it would have a very limited dataset compared to what you're looking for.

UPDATE: Port scanner is now functional and SSH tunnel detection is working.

We don't use our own servers to perform this scan. It's all done by external servers, so if any "smart" people are trying to get our server IP, you're gonna have to try harder.

(Nov 23, 2012 05:44 AM)Peaceful Monk Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How well does the steam resolver work?

Steam Resolver works based on a public ban list, the admin of the server chooses whether or not to display the IP. It's really useful if there are griefers on a server chances are they've been hit on this list and you can have a good knock laugh. You aren't gonna get to many hits on average players so don't purchase it based on the steam resolver because you won't have a high parse rate.

It would be possible however it's a whole lot of work for something you could easily do manually :3
I also wouldn't suggest buying zsnag only for the steam resolver considering it's sheer luck that any user even has been banned by a server owner that displays ip's
If anyone ever hard coded that it would be pretty cool but a lot of time and effort for something that again the end user would have to agree to the acceptance of the friend request.

It uses the usual dns resolution. If you need a domain name resolved, I can try manually if you'd like. I have other methods but they're not automatic.

Just purchased my third month of zsnag and must say I've had no issues with downtime. I have to use the service to report scam services such as @system.help.scv companies© etc. It is really useful when used for reporting and I'm sure the method could work just as well for blackcat activities if zsnag even condones for this activity. As a dedicated user of zsnag I must say I enjoy the wealth of information the service offers alongside with all of its features.

This resolver is reliable and doesn't blacklist names. We've been hit with some pretty insane ddos and the site is still up. We only suffered minimal downtime. We don't blacklist names like other APIs do. If the user is on Skype, this will get their ip.

I seem to be unable to resolve ANY Skype names, even ones which I could resolve yesterday.

Can you check your self?

Note, it seems to be since your website has been updated.

Thanks

That's been fixed. The new update caused some code instability which I hadn't foreseen. Should be fine now.

Vouch for this! I bought the 2 day trial. It works fine. It shows all IPs that have been logged. It also shows the provider of the internet connection.

The resolver is currently working. I can't quite understand the rest of your message.

Sadly, we'll only be able to except Bitcoin and Liberty Reserver for a while now. I need to sort out some details with PayPal.

Hi,

for new searches it is fine, but for ones i have searched befor it says

could not find IP

i even tested on myself and didnt work.

is there anyway to reset this?

You need to wait 5 seconds before you resolve the same person again. It's a security measure to prevent people from accidentally submitting multiple requests.

Skype API Back to work.

Very good api. ?

ajvpot - April 27, 2013, 6:57 pm

Thanks for the vouches. We've had to suspend paypal sales for a while. LR and Bitcoin only for now.

We're still open for sales. Everything is working normally.

Alert Host - April 29, 2013, 2:51 pm

thanks, services seem to be running again

ajvpot - April 29, 2013, 9:34 pm

It's all good at the moment. I've just updated the OP with some graphs to help you get an idea of what we're offering.

Sib3r - May 1, 2013, 11:35 pm

The api seems to be down can you restart the server please.

ajvpot - May 11, 2013, 9:54 pm

We can take PayPal sales again. I've updated the website accordingly.
