Thread: Suspicious activity on my account, someone changed my avatar!

Big Baller Shot Caller - May 25, 2012, 4:54 pm

I am 99% sure I am not ratted or anything, which doesn't make sense. No other IP logins except mines but someone changed my avatar to sushi, but anyways it matches my name and I am keeping it ^.^

I am assuming a mod or admin did it as a joke ?

If there is no IP change in <https://hackforums.net/usercp.php>

Most likely you changed it and forgot.

Or someone that had access to your computer did.

Haha , pretty funny to be honest but to make sure your not ratted , i would suggest checking in the whitehat section just for advice if you feel you need it.

ViN - May 25, 2012, 4:55 pm

Did you leave your computer logged in and probably somebody else changed it? I would change my password if I where you just to make sure.

Or, the site your hosting that image on, the link changed and is now a new image...

VanquishingAle - May 25, 2012, 4:56 pm

I don't know, but there is defiantly something fishy going on!!!

Oh thats probably it, but kinda weird considering

Fish = Sushi

oh well ?

Check the IP's in your IP history, are there any new ones?

Barneyyz™ - May 25, 2012, 4:59 pm

I'd first head over to the White Hat Help section to make sure you've not been infected in some way, if you are secure all your passwords and then sort it out.

I would guess an admin / mod saw your name and thought that sushi would look good. <3 I <3 Admins lol

That's a good sign then.

As for the avatar, staff wouldn't have changed it. Maybe you forgot, or a family member changed it.
