Thread: A separate section of HF for comic books? Yes or No?

Skyking - June 10, 2012, 6:23 pm

Sorry if something like this has been posted before, but the idea just occurred to me, that Hack Forums should have a section for comic books. I mean we have one for video games and anime. So why not? I know there must be some comic book fans on the sight, i can't be the only one. So it would be nice to have a place to discuss major events in comic books, monthly issues etc. What do you guys think?

There probably isn't enough comic book fans to make a section dedicated towards it.

If anything there should be a book section because as Levi stated, there probably aren't enough fans.

That is actually an amazing idea, I hope there's enough book fans to have that section created.

Even if there were enough, you didn't post in the right section to begin with, which really lowers the chances of us having one.

oops i didn't realize i was in the wrong section. Could someone move this for me please?

Because some sort of writing/books section? You need to make the suggestion more broad because I don't think there are enough comic fans for a forum to be added.

Please search this section, before making a new one.

It has been suggested before. The answer is No.
