Thread: [Chuck Name Leecher \[Best alternative for Phaze/Warez NameLeecher\]](#)

Chuck Norris - June 21, 2012, 1:48 pm

I made an alternative to PhazeNameLeecher, WarezNameLeecher and all kind of these applications, since they are not working anymore.

It is multithreaded, so it will gather names extremely fast!
Do not use "Get EVERYTHING" if your PC is not good enough.

Notes: Do not select items from the end of the Listview. The app will throw some weird errors.
Sometimes, the app may crash, the reason is still unknown. Probably it's because of the multiple threads.

This generates only the list! Use PhazeNameLeecher or any other soft to generate multiple .exes with the names!

Eternal Five - June 21, 2012, 1:54 pm

Was that so hard to make? well i should leave you alone, the amount of time it took to make this probably took a long time, so you should check on your social life.

I heard you were pretty busy with that.

Cyahnidde - June 21, 2012, 1:56 pm

My name leecher doesn't work anymore so it would be great to have this.

Coiner - June 21, 2012, 2:21 pm

Threading doesn't make it fast it just keeps the UI from freezing/crashing, unless you are queing multiple threads by using for example a ThreadPool.

Bahh - June 21, 2012, 2:23 pm

Looks awesome I could really use this thank you for your work!

tweety - June 21, 2012, 2:56 pm

Sir. All you did was grab the names. The 3 lines of code that I provided for you can easily be implemented into your application to do the name changing. Also multi threading does not make it faster. Another note, most people already have a huge list of names they use with applications like PhazeNameLeecher.

As a programmer, if you cannot find the errors and fix them, you are not a very good programmer at all. I mean how can you release something that you know crashes and has tons of errors and yet not know how to fix them? Debugging, yes. That is a key word. Also post and PM for a simple application like this is just.. Jesus ???

Release the source, if you do, then your thread will have a purpose that is meaningful.

Oh and the GUI looks nice. Good job! Give credits for the theme if required.

Coleak - June 21, 2012, 3:46 pm

To be honest, this is no better than posting a spammer, or something similar, granted its got a dent UI, the code isn't sufficient. And why releases something with known errors/bugs?

.?cb. - June 21, 2012, 3:48 pm

Can I have this tool ? Thanks you bro

+Bourbon - June 21, 2012, 4:02 pm

No idea what this does, a description would be nice. I can only speculate that it's a scraper of some sort.

The MammoTh - June 21, 2012, 4:03 pm

Can you tell us what the application is actually doing, maybe in a .gif or video?

tweety - June 21, 2012, 4:11 pm

It basically grabs a list of application/movies/sound/file names and puts them into a list. I don't know where he is actually grabbing them from anyway.

Well, I already said it's something like PhazeNameLeecher.

It leeches names of warez and all kind of that stuff, so you can use the list to spread your malware.

Because they cannot be fixed. .net language have some flaws which cannot be fixed by the coder.

There are workarounds, but that would be useless to implement for a simple app like this.

And the ListView error comes from nowhere.

Stop being a smart-ass because you aren't going anywhere with that attitude.

It leeches names from a place. Names will be randomly leeched, depending on the option you choose.

It gathers the names from a torrent website.
You'll get only names of new stuff and names that are searched by people a lot. This makes your job easier, since you'll get faster downloads.

Anyway, I think I found out what's wrong.

The maximum number of threads in a thread pool in .net is 1023.

I think I'm adding more than 1023 threads to the pool, and that's why the application is crashing.

```

io.file.copy(original filepath, application.startuppath & "\" & item & ".exe")

Because I think this would be useless.

You can use any other software to do that. This only gets you a list of names. This is what I intended to do, a name leecher.

Hmmm.. I dont know, I'd think it'd be better to use one software with all the functions in it, instead of using multiple programs to achieve the same result.

But what do I know. Hope you are not angry.

I vouch for this guy. I got the link almost a day ago and it works well. Even though it creates only a list with names of files, you still can you a bulk renamer (like this one: <http://www.bulkrenameutility.co.uk/Download.php>) and use the list to rename your server, which you have to have prepared in advance as many times as you need.

NYWAYS, im pretty new to Visual basic and im creating an application for a cheating client @ this voting thing i use. And I'm not really interested in learning visual basic at the moment, and I was wondering if someone could give me some code to open a file, and sort the file on new line. Its a list of proxies, and then a statement that when my buttons clicked it performs this function, and updates it with the amount of clicked (the index) of the array of proxies. I'd be extremely grateful, and if this was python or php this is a no brainer, but I for the life of me dont understand this programming languag
